"FAREWELL TO SCOTLAND"

"Farewell to the land of the mountain and wood,
Farewell to the home of the brave and the good,
My bark is afloat on the blue-rolling main,
And I ne'er shall behold thee, dear Scotland again!

Adieu to the scenes of my life's early morn,
From the place of my birth I am cruelly torn;
The tyrant oppresses the land of the free;
And leaves but the name of my sires unto me.

Oh! home of my fathers, I bid thee adieu,
For soon will thy hill-tops retreat from my view,
With sad drooping heart I depart from thy shore,
To behold thy fair valleys and mountains no more.

'Twas there that I woo'd thee, young Flora, my wife,
When my bosom was warm in the morning of life.
I courted thy love 'mong the heather so brown,
And heaven did I bless when it made thee my own.

The friends of my early years, where are they now?
Each kind honest heart, and each brave manly brow;
Some sleep in the churchyard from tyranny free,
And others are crossing the ocean with me.

Lo! now on the boundless Atlantic I stray,
To a strange foreign realm I am wafted away,
Before me as far as my vision can glance,
I see but the wave rolling wat'ry expanse.

So farewell my country and all that is dear,
The hour is arrived and the bark is asteer,
I go and forever, oh! Scotland adieu!
The land of my fathers no more I shall view."

—Peter Crerar.

This poem originally, published in "Celtic Magazine", Vol.I,p143, I think represents the feelings of the people from Scotland after they had boarded one of the ships headed for America. The Carmichaels were among those who left Scotland during the eighteenth century. C.C.

A MOTHER'S REQUEST

I just got word my son is hurt,
A fighting for you and I;
Sometimes when we stop and think,
It makes us wonder why.

Democracy, they say it is,
Where each and all are free;
Just worry, trouble, and sacrifice,
Is what it seems to me.

I had but one, I gladly gave
Him for this justly cause;
To give his life if it need be,
To crush the two outlaws.

And when the word may come someday,
When they regret to say,
My son is lost on the battle front;
The price for freedom paid.

My heart will ache, I'll cease to live,
My life will empty be;
For all I'll have was lost in war,
My son, the world to me.

Now God is just, I know he is,
He loves and guides his own;
Dear God, a favor may I ask?
Please bring him safe back home.

The above was written by Lily Marie Stewart Anderson Ellis, a second great grand-daughter of Alexander Carmichael. It was written after she had received word that her son, Burdette, had been wounded in action in fighting on the Anzio beachhead in Italy. Her son after an operation at an army base hospital recovered, married, and is the father of a son (David Burdette) and two daughters (Janet Marie, and Judy Ann) Page 68.

Acknowledgements

It is impossible to acknowledge all those who have helped compile the Alexander Carmichael Tree, but I'll name a few. The problem is that they are scattered in space and in time over a period of seventeen years. Also, the family trees are so inter-mingled that some have contributed to several "family trees".

First, I must acknowledge Wanda Marie Carter Taylor and her family. Wanda Marie is a descendant of Sarah Carmichael, daughter of Alexander, who married William V. Carter. I particularly must mention her son Burdette who passed away 31 July 1985. She and her family went the "extra mile". I hope that they will long be remembered because of their contributions to both the Carter Book and now the Alexander Carmichael Book.

At the head of the line I must also acknowledge Patricia Tomlin Patton of Paris, Illinois. She has contributed greatly through her long hours of typing, checking, re-typing and adding to the genealogy of the family. She is a descendant of Joseph B. (Archibald) and Solomon (Duncan). She is a recognized genealogist and besides adding to Alexander's information she has added valuable information on the roots of the Alexander Carmichael Tree (see Related Families). At the same time I must mention Mildred Sullivan Meredith and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sullivan who have done much research on the pioneer families of Greene and Monroe Counties of Indiana. Mildred has furnished many pictures and information. She is a Joseph B. Carmichael descendant. Two others who have researched the Carmichael and Related Family Histories are: Elma Lee Combs Smith, a Richard Carmichael descendant of Bedford IN and John Wes Carmichael of Winston-Salem, NC. He is a descendant of Duncan Carmichael and has lived his life in the old NC neighborhood. He was so willing to help, show me around and add to the Carmichael family history when I did research there in 1981.

Some of those I must list besides the above are: Marie Stewart Ellis of Nipomo, CA; Artie Kitterman of St. David, AZ; Carol Latham of Bethany, MO; Ruby Weaver, Diller NE, Ralph Carmichael, Bedford, IN; Elsie White Sparks, Omaha, NE; Polly Yockel, Wymore, NE; Vivian Bayle Latimer, Pueblo, Co; Phyllis Horton Kelley, DeKalb, IL; Forest D. Carmichael, Bloomfield, IN; Edward Burch of Bloomfield who researched the BURCH FAMILY; Marcella Davis McDaniel of Bloomfield who published the McDANIEL FAMILY; Nancy Jo Hawlick Stein of Wilmette, IL who published the OLIPHANT FAMILY; AND Mary Lou Ulmer Sharr of Maryville, MO who published the SHARR FAMILY HISTORY and many, many others who have helped.

In closing I must add the names of Mary Lou Combs Wiles who published the CENSUS RECORDS OF GREENE COUNTY, IN; and the Greene County Historical Society who have published the CEMETERY RECORDS OF EASTERN GREENE COUNTY. These publications surely aid in any genealogical research now and in the future.

Last, I must acknowlege the love, help, and cooperation by my wife Joan and our three younger children who were initiated into genealogy by walking cemeteries to find stones of lost ancestors and cousins. I also must mention the sharing of family history with my mother Ellen McCawley Carter, my brothers, sisters, nephews, neices and cousins at the annual James W. Carter Picnic at Lincoln, NE and through correspondence otherwise. We love you all and know that you have been an inspiration to me as you have contributed information and pictures and have recalled the days gone by. We thank you all.

* SOME HISTORY OF NORTH CAROLINA

In 1663 Charles II gave Carolina to 8 English Lords; two years later he added from Virginia to half way down the Florida peninsula and "as far west as the continent doth extend itself." The king expected development; again he was disappointed. He asked that the grants be returned to him, but Sir John Carteret, Earl of Granville refused. His strip was 50 miles wide and extended from the Atlantic Ocean westward to the end of the continent, (2/3 of the present state).

Granville had a land office at Edenton; he took cash payment and then an annual quit rent that was to continue forever.....Originally Gladen Co. included virtually all of western North Carolina. The counties along the eastern seaboard were settled first. Rowan County was made from the western most area of Bladen. Orange County was created in 1752 in that part of the area of Bladen County that would be just to the east of Rowan, formed in 1753 also from Bladen County. Parts of Orange County later formed part of Guilford County and all of Caswell, Person, Alamance, Chatham and Durham Counties. In 1770 Guilford Co. was formed from western Orange County and eastern Rowan County. Parts of Guilford later became Randolph and Rockingham Counties. Also, in 1770 Surry County was formed from Rowan County just to the west of the newly formed Guilford County. Parts of Surry County later formed Stokes, Forsyth and Yadkin Counties.

Surry County was named for Lord Surry, an active member of the British Board of Trade who had charge of administering all colonial affairs. Surry means South River in old Saxon. It is a healthy, piedmont area that had a record of little sickness and of good water. A man in early North Carolina history could have settled in Rowan County, spent the Revolutionary War in Surry County and the War of 1812 in Stokes County and never have moved from his original land. The outstanding topographical feature of Surry Co. is Pilot Mountain, (Araret). It rises gradually to a height of 2,440 feet, terminating in a flat surface, giving noble views of surrounding countrysides. It can be seen for 60-70 miles. It was called Pilot Mountain by the Indians and, of course, it was near Pilot Mt. that Archibald Carmichael settled prior to 1800. To the south and east of Pilot mountain was the almost 100,000 acre tract called Wachovia that the Moravians purchased from the Earl of Granville in 1753. The tract was in the original Rowan County and was approximately 12 x 13 miles. The Moravians were a thrifty, industrious, and skilled people and quickly developed their area. This brought many Scotch, Scotch Irish, Germans and others into the area surrounding the Moravian tract particularly during the French and Indian War of 1759. The city of Winston-Salem N.C. is now in the area that was Waachovia (Meadowland along the creek).

Preface

I have taken the advice of Mrs. Oren Counts as published in Virginia Appalachian Notes of August 1986. She has written, "Do not wait until you have completed all you want to know about your family before you put your records into permanent form and thereby make them available to others. If you do wait until such time, you will die with a mass of records in your files, many of which will have meaning only to you. You owe it to yourself, your family and to your hobby to put what you have in such form that others will not have to retrace the ground you have covered, freeing them to further the research you have begun. This does not mean that you should put your records in permanent form before you feel they are historically correct."

Therefore this book represents my sixteen years of research on my Alexander Carmichael Family and Related Families. I must hasten to say that the book also includes research and information, pictures, etc. from many other individuals whereby I have only been the compiler. Yes, many letters have been written, many received, and many answered besides the courthouses and cemeteries that have been visited. I believe the information included is quite accurate and except for the recent information, the information can be proven through the various records available at this time. Three trips were made to Indiana, one to North Carolina and Virginia, one to Washington D.C. and one to the L.D.S. Library at Salt Lake City. At Washington D.C. time was spent at the National Archives, the D.A.R. Library and the Library of Congress. Several visits were made to the Branch Archives at Kansas City, the State Historical Society Library at Topeka, Kansas and others.

Before going further I must state that Patricia Tomlin Patton a descendant of both Archibald Carmichael I, through his son Joseph, and Duncan Carmichael, through his son Solomon, did most of the typing of the genealogical information. Mrs. Patton is certainly a recognized genealogist and because of extensive research she added considerable to my information.

It must be recognized that records don't always agree, names are oftentimes spelled differently and handwriting may be difficult to read. It also must be recognized that "the tree" isn't complete. As much of the present generations as possible have been included, but the tree continues to grow. Obituaries, pictures, and some write-ups have been added as they add interest and proof to the genealogical information. Many census records have been checked and recorded but have not been added to the book as they can be made available at many libraries. The particular location for marriages, land records, and cemeteries have generally been given if known.

Further research needs to be done on the roots of the Alexander Carmichael tree but Archibald's will dated 17 Mar. 1827 and recorded in 1829 in Surry County, proves the eight children of Archibald I, the Revolutionary War Veteran. So it is hoped that this book will help every Alexander Carmichael descendant prove his or her ancestory when and if they care to belong to the S.A.R. or D.A.R. A copy of Alexander's will and final settlement has been included to help prove the line of descent. Also Patricia Tomlin Paton has done an excellent job of tracing the roots of the Holder, Krause, Volweiler, and Volk family trees. In addition I have added some information on the William Carter-Lucy Edwards Tree including a copy of their marriage bond dated 14 Nov. 1804 and filed in the courthouse in Patrick County, Virginia. for further information on the William Carter-Lucy Edwards Tree see the book so titled and published last year.

It seems that the only published account of some Carmichael Family history was written and published by Constant Joseph Carmichael in his autobiography of 1919 and so part of his autobiography is included in this book. He states that Archibald I (his grandfather) served seven years in the War of the Revolution. From the available records it seems that Archibald I spent only one year in the service of his country, however most of the information correlates with other available information. The Carmichaels were originally members of the Primitive Baptist Church and Alexander's death was reported in the Minutes of the White River Association 1857-1878. It is assumed that Alexander and his family were members of the Hebron Church established in 1822 nearby in Greene County with Elder George Burch presiding. The church was moved into the edge of Monroe County in 1834 five years after the Carmichaels came to Indiana. The church still stands near the original site in the edge of Monroe County. Alexander's descendants are now members of many churches and no attempt was made to record the various church affiliations.

A mental attempt was made to not dig up any "family skeletons" even if some had been found. The book for the most part was typed on 11 x 14-inch paper and then reduced in order to keep the cost down. The book is dedicated to my daughter, Loeva, as was the Carter Book, since it was a small amount of insurance money from her estate that funded much of the activity. The book will be given to a number of libraries throughout the country. It is hoped that it will be a starting point for further research by branches of the tree far into the future.

Lastly, the whole book has been an effort of love. Love of our ancestors and our many cousins known and unknown scattered throughout the United States. One must try to realize the hardships and primitive conditions in the early days of North Carolina and Indiana. Alexander and Mary moved to Indiana in the fall of 1829 with a family of six children. They then had two more in Indiana before Mary died in 1834 after Thomas, the one year old baby, had died in 1832. It was over five years after Mary's death that Alexander married Jane Petty Evans in 1839. Jane, a widow, had a family of five children and then she and Alexander had three children although Andrew only lived 11 days. Later Joseph Jasper with two boys of his own would die while serving in the Civil War. He died 4 Feb. 1863 and then his mother died 4 Aug. 1863. Alexander then lived two more years. The Carmichael Cemetery started out as a family cemetery and is certainly a valuable asset in the study of Carmichael genealogy. It represents a considerable amount of Carmichael family history since so many of the family have been buried there. It is hoped that all descendants of Archibald Carmichael I can pass on the loyalty to the family that our ancestors have exhibited. It is also hoped that knowledge of our ancestors will be an inspiration for all of us.

LOEVA ANN CARTER

This book is dedicated to Loeva who died Monday, April 9, 1973, at the Kansas Medical Center from injuries sustained in an automobile accident the evening before eight miles south of Atchison, Kansas. She taught third grade in the Atchison Public Schools and was a member of the Atchison Teachers' Association and the Kansas and National Education Associations. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Chanute. Loeva's Ford Mustang was hit on the left side by a station wagon which crossed the center line at a curve. She died from head injuries which she sustained.

Born 13 August 1946 she was reared in Chanute, graduating from Chanute High School in 1966 and from the local Junior College in 1968. She received a degree from Kansas State University in 1970. She had taught school two years in Stockton before moving to Atchison.

Survivors included her father, Charles O. Carter, Jr. of Chanute; her mother, Mrs. Helen F. Carter, Parsons; a brother, Phillip Carter, Pittsburg; a sister, Charlotte Carter, Parsons; two half-sisters, Ruth Ellen Carter and Carolyn Carter; and a half brother, Paul T. Carter. Two grandmothers also survived. They were Mrs. Charles O. Carter, Sr. of Washington, Kansas and Mrs. Eva Bryant of Oswego, Kansas. Loeva is buried in Memorial Park Cemetery in Chanute.

Loeva in her third year of teaching has been greatly missed by her relatives and many friends. She was a talented musician and was making plans to be married. She and her boy friend were returning from a shopping trip to Kansas City to buy candied Easter eggs for her students when the accident happened. A couple of notes which follow express some of the feelings expressed at the time:

"I know that I don't have to say how special Loeva was, because I am sure that she was special to many more people besides just me.

I believe that I knew Loeva's feelings very well -- and believe me -- she had deep, loving feelings for all her family. In fact, this loving feeling carried over to the whole world-- she didn't know the meaning of anything except those ideas which brought kindness and happiness to everybody.

For the past four and a half years, I have been the happiest young man in the world. My life changed when Loeva walked into it. I only wish that I could have been lucky enough to share more -- as we had many plans. We lived and dreamed every thought together.

Loeva touched everyone's life and set an example for all of us to follow. If everyone in the world lived their lives half as generously and lovingly as Loeva did, this would be heaven."

With love, Terry

To the family of Miss Loeva Carter:

"Loeva was a mighty sweet person as well as a natural-born teacher whose main interest was reaching all her students. Although we will miss her, she has left behind many pleasant memories that will last forever. No words can express our feelings for having lost such a great teacher and wonderful cooperative co-worker. Her sparkling eyes and sweet smile will always remain as a precious memory to the 3rd grade students and all the teachers and personnel of Martin East. Her position has to be filled, but no one will ever take her place in our eyes."

THE CARMICHAEL CEMETERY

Alexander Carmichael purchased the east half of the southeast quarter of Section 24 Center Township, Greene County, Indiana on 12 November 1829. This was soon after the family had made a long trip from their home in North Carolina. This had been United States Government land but apparently there were scattered log cabins in the area and a cemetery had already been started on the quarter claimed by Alexander. In fact, there is a stone for a baby named William Carmichael born 23 December 1811 and died 12 January 1815 as well as a baby girl named Nancy M. Carmichael born and died January 12 1815. The relationship between these two early burials and Alexander Carmichael is not understood. The first burial after Alexander claimed the land seems to be that of Thomas Carmichael son of Alexander and Mary. He died 2 February 1832 (age 10 months and 29 days). Another early burial was that of Mary Ann Holder Carmichael who died in 1834 (age 39 years, 4 months, 29 days). Also, her father Charles Holder died between 1830 and 1840 according to the census records. His stone is located in the cemetery with only the name C. Holder on the stone.

Other burials in the Carmichael Cemetery have continued from that time on until the present date in 1983. Out of the twelve children of Alexander Carmichael we know that eight are buried there. The fact that so many Carmichaels and their relatives are buried there has greatly aided in the Carmichael research for all the descendants of Archibald Carmichael I and Duncan Carmichael I.

From the early maps there was no public road that led directly past the cemetery, but Curtis Martindale a long time resident of the area has indicated that ca 1918 the Carmichael Road went through near the south end of the cemetery. At the same time a chapel built out of native oak was moved to the south end. After the chapel was moved it was in great need of repairs such as window panes, roof, siding, etc. and it was Elberry Martindale a great grandson of Starling Carmichael I who paid for the repair of the chapel. Elberry, son of Ralph Martindale and Elizabeth Langford, born 20 June 1865 and died in 1932 is buried in the Carmichael Cemetery. He went to Oklahoma and struck oil, but he too wanted to be buried in the Carmichael Cemetery with his Carmichael ancestors.

By 1971 the chapel in the Carmichael Cemetery had become too small for services which were usually performed in the funeral homes and so the Board of Directors of the Carmichael Cemetery decided that the chapel was to be torn down. Goldie Thacker and Curtis Martindale were two of the Board of Directors who had to make that decision. From the records the Articles of Incorporation for the Carmichael Cemetery was filed in the office of the Secretary of State on 19 November 1959 for the organization of the Carmichael Cemetery, Inc. The names and addresses of the first Board of Directors were: Curtis Martindale Rte. 4, Bloomfield, Greene County; Burgess Snow, Rte. 9, Bloomington; and Jacob Teague Rte 9, Bloomington, Indiana.

From older available records dated and recorded 28 October 1885: The citizens of the community of the grave yard known as the Carmichael Grave Yard met at the grave yard at 10 P.M. and recorded the following business:

1. Chose Thomas J. Carmichael Chairman and Jas. H. Oliphant Secretary.
2. Chose the following as trustees: William V. Carter, Henry Sparks, F. T. Carmichael.
3. Agreed that the trustees be instructed to build a plank fence around the Grave Yard.
4. To survey the two acres and fix corners for "paid" grave yard and fence 1¼ acres of same.

Signed Thomas J. Carmichael, chairman
J. H. Oliphant, Secretary

From these records it seemsthat the Carmichael graveyard became a public cemetery at the time of the public meeting in 1885. This meeting indicated purchase and survey of the two acres. Then in 1959 the cemetery was incorporated and filed with the Secretary of State. This further action surely insures that the cemetery will be recognized and maintained properly over the ages.

The fact that the burials in the cemetery have greatly aided Carmichael genealogical research has already been pointed out, but it also indicates the pride of having a Carmichael ancestory. On the Carmichael Coat of Arms there is the motto "Tou Jours Prest" in French. It means "Always Ready". The first coat of arms was given to Sir John Carmichael who broke his spear on the Duke of Clarence in Anjou at the Battle of Bengue on 3 April 1421. It was later that D. A. Carmichael wrote a poem entitled, "Always Ready". The first stanza of the poem seems to indicate the Carmichael Spirit. It is:

Ready for the toils of an humble life,
Ready to climb the ladder of fame,
Ready to meet the world of strife,
And honor our family name.

*HISTORICAL BACKGROUND OF GUILFORD COUNTY

Guilford County had a great scarcity of salt. It had to be carried from Petersburg, VA over rough trails. Even after some years, it took a bushel of wheat to get a bushel of salt. ...for a long time wheat was in a limited supply and was served just once a week, on Sunday mornings. A large green log would be dragged to the hearth by hand spikes and seasoned wood burned against it. If a fire went out, it was necessary instead of making sparks by friction to go to a neighbors with an iron skillet where ashes were placed in it, then real live coals and another cover of ashes.

Large spotted snakes were numerous along the creeks. There were copperheads, a sort of spreading adder and some rattlesnakes. Wolves were a menace. On one night a minister was pursued by a pack of them as he travelled on horseback.

Gunshot wounds were treated by application of poultices made of slippery elm bark or flaxseed. Itch cured by application of brimstone and hog lard. Large doses of onion or garlic juice were used for croup. Potatoes, slippery elm, corn meal and roasted turnips were used in poultices for burns.

The Rev. S. M. Rankin wrote regarding period prior to 1776. "The Sheriff and his deputies would go out to collect the taxes and if a man did not have the money at hand to pay, his horse or some article of value to him was put up for sale on the spot with no one present but the sheriff and his deputies. One of the deputies would bid it off at his own figure and take the man's property away from him. The sheriff would sometimes, in this same manner, actually sell the clothes from the backs of the family concerned."

"When a man objected to such treatment he would be arrested and to obtain release he would have to agree never to give his opinion of the laws, nor to object to the extraordinary amount of the fees. The judges themselves used the word 'extraordinary'. The people petitioned repeatedly to the Governor..... in the meantime the men appointed by him were becoming increasingly wealthy. They flaunted their wealth with fine clothes, new houses and furniture."

"Secret organizations planned ways to bring about reasonable taxes and fees to bring things to a true and proper regulation. For this they were called Regulators.... They forcibly liberated some of their number who had been imprisoned. Some refused to pay more taxes until they were reimbursed for the fraudulent taxes already forced on them. This action brought matters to a climax. During court week in 1770 the harrassed settlers gathered in large numbers at Hillsboro, County seat of Orange Co., east of Guilford Co".

During the war Guilford County was the scene of several skirmishes; Cornwallis camped in area several times. When the battle of Guilford Court House started most of the men of the area were in the army, in hiding from the British troops or recuperating from an epidemic of smallpox brought by a boy who had escaped from British capture. The British were without food for 2 days after the battle, then on ¼ ration. The inhabitants of the area suffered greatly from the army foraging and then wantonly destroying.

* Above material from MITCHELL-DOAK Family History and published in The OLIPHANT Family. Guilford Co. was in the general area where the Carmichaels lived during the Revolution and from which they enlisted for the War.

*LAND

Many men did not register land in Granville District of N. C. because (1) the surveys had been poorly done and there were many disputes with both crown and Granville claiming quit rent for the same area (2) the land office was closed from Lord Granville's death in 1763 for ten years so no title could be secured (3) when the office was open the agents often sold the same land to 2 or 3 different men and/or claimed defective title when the signature did not say The Right Honorable Earl of Granville by his attorneys, hence could charge another pistole (one English pound). The fees were already twice or three times as high as registering crown lands.

Granville's district was the most fertile land of North Carolina and by 1771 had "almost if not all of the valuable lands in this province at this day ungranted." The problem was --- Carteret did not use any of the the money to help govern or administrate the area, hence the colony was always in arrears. The assembly repeatly called the district "nuisance and a hindrance to the well being of the colony. The Assembly wished the crown to buy Granville's claim; he asked 60,000 pounds sterling; the people of the area did not want the purchase because many were in arrears in quit rent and knew the new government would collect. But the Revolution intervened and following the war the state took the land. The heirs brought suit, but Francis Scott Key, their chosen counsel, died before he could appeal before the Supreme Court. If the suit had been heard consensus agrees that the Supreme Court would have ruled that North Carolina lost and had to return the land.

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM

There is a part or all of a chapter for each of Alexander's children who have known descendents. The family groups are renumbered at the beginning of each chapter and each child is numbered in the order of his birth when known. The name of each child is followed by a number in parentheses that indicates the family group number for his or her children. The genealogical information is given for each child of a family and not repeated when the child is listed as a parent. There is a number in parentheses following the parent's name. This smaller number refers to the family group number where the parent is listed as a child. Thus these numbers in parentheses allows one to follow the lines of descent forward or backward. An alphabetical index will also prove valuable in rapidly locating particular individuals of the tree. This method of numbering allows each branch of the family to be kept together and hopefully will be easily understood. This method also allows families to be added to each branch as the tree grows.

ARCHIBALD CARMICHAEL I

Archibald CARMICHAEL was born before 1755 in Lanark, Lanarkshire, Scotland and married in America Elizabeth NIX, who was born in Scotland 1755-1765 and living in 1814, when she was a buyer at the estate sale of her son-in-law, Peter GRAVES.

Archibald CARMICHAEL served seven years in the American Revolution. In 1777 he is listed on the Lawrence District, Caswell County, NC, state tax list. In 1779 his name appears in the North Carolina Revolutionary Accounts, Volume LV, page 90, folio 2. In 1782, his name appears on the Caswell County, NC, list of clothing for twelve-month recruits, though in the same year he was listed on the Halifax County, VA, tax list with 5 white people in his household. In 1784 he was in the Richmond District and in 1786 in the Glocester District, Caswell County, NC, tax lists. The 1790 census for both Halifax County, VA and bordering Caswell County, NC, is lost. In 1792 Asher REAVES deeded 72 acres in Halifax County, VA, to Archibald CARMICHAEL, who deeded the acreage to David HICKS in 1794. In 1797 David and Thomas HICKS deeded 100 acres in Stokes County, NC, to Archibald CARMICHAEL, who bought an additional 33 3/4 acres in 1799. He appears in Surry County, NC, on the 1800 and 1810 censuses and in 1814 deeded 80 acres in Surry County, NC, to his son, Alexander, but there is no record of his purchase of land in Surry County. He is still in Surry County, NC, on the 1820 census, with his widowed daughter, Sarah, and his two GRAVES grandchildren in his household. His will, dated 17 Mar 1827, is recorded 1829 in Surry County, NC, Will Book 4 pages 15 and 16, and probated in Stokes County, NC, because 1829 deeds describe his plantation of 237½ acres as lying in both Surry and Stokes Counties.

Archibald CARMICHAEL's will proves his second marriage, the names of his eight surviving children and the number of children his daughter, Sarah GRAVES, bore by her deceased husband, Peter.

The will states:

In the name of God, Amen,
I, Archibald CARMICHAEL, Sr., being in a declining state of health, but of sound mind, do constitute and make this, my last will and testament.
First, I give and bequeath to my beloved wife, Sally CARMICHAEL, two beds, the ar-- furniture and all the kitchen furniture that belongs to her and three head of cattle, viz: two milk cows and one steer.
Second, I give unto my daughter, Sarah GRAVES, all my tract of land that I now live on together with all the farming utensils, the above land to belong to the said Sarah GRAVES and her two children, Thomas GRAVES and Jain GRAVES, and that my wife, Sally CARMICHAEL is to live on it her life time.
Third, I have notes now due and want them all collected and the fourth part of my wagon sold to the highest bidder and after paying all my just debts, the balance of the money to be equally divided between my six children, Richard, Sterling, Sandy, Joseph, Jain MILLER and Elizabeth FULK. I gave to each of my daughters, Jane and Elizabeth, one red heifer apiece.
Fourth, I want my young mare that I now own to stay on the plantation until she is seven years old, if should live, and then be sold her alone to the highest bidder and the money to be equally divided as aforesaid amongst my six children.
Fifth, I have given unto my son, Archibald CARMICHAEL, his full share amounting to seventy dollars or upwards, in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 17 of March 1827.

The autobiography of Constant Joseph CARMICHAEL, son of Archibald, Jr., gives the name of his grandmother, Elizabeth NIX, though no record of NIX/NICKS in VA or NC can be found. Constant would not have known his grandparents, having been born long after their deaths, so perhaps he misunderstood the name HIX/HICKS as NIX or perhaps his handwriting was mis-read when set in type. His autobiography gives the birth places of his grandparents and the names of their children, but no dates, which are the same as those in the above will.

In 1829 Joseph and Alexander CARMICHAEL and Sally GRAVES, now MARTINDALE, heirs of Archibald CARMICHAEL, deeded 237½ acres to Thomas KING, representing Archibald CARMICHAEL's plantation, which lay in both Surry and Stokes Counties on both sides of Grassy Creek and was bounded by William GILLIAM's corner on the north and bounded by an agreed line with Charles HOLDER on the south and including the plantation whereon "the said Joseph and Alexander CARMICHAEL now live".

Appended to the deed is a statement by the presiding justices of Surry County, NC, that they had questioned Sarah MARTINDALE, who was formerly Sarah GRAVES and is one of the heirs of Archibald CARMICHAEL, separately from her present husband, William MARTINDALE, and that she stated she is perfectly willing and agreed to the conveyance of the land mentioned within the deed. James LOVELL and Tobias LONG attested both documents. The deed is dated 10 Mar 1829 and was recorded in May, 1835, Book V, page 47, deed number 22.

These land transactions indicate that Archibald CARMICHAEL had died by 1829, though he may have died any time between the date of his will, 17 Mar 1827, and the deed of 10 Mar 1829. North Carolina law did not require the recording of deeds until very recently and then only when the land is sold outside the direct line of descent, so there are still tracts of land, held for generations by a succession of heirs, who may have purchased or inherited the property, that have not yet been recorded. This transaction is the only record yet found of the second marriage of Sarah CARMICHAEL to William MARTINDALE. The original marriage bond may be lost or they may have married by banns.

RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA, Volume 8, page 3893, in the Bethania diary, dated 7 Aug 1829, state: "Rode to Charles HOLDER's at Pilot Mountain and at their request, preached the funeral sermon of a grandchild that died four months ago. With their children and grandchildren, they are going to move to Indiana." Volume 8, p 3895, Bethania diary, 24 Sep 1829, repeats: "Drove in company with Nancy, Brother Daniel WELFARE and Lucinda BAGGE to Charles HOLDER's at the foot of Pilot Mountain in order to hold a service at his request. He is about to move with his children and grandchildren to Indiana." Nancy was the diarist's wife and Lucinda BAGGE was the daughter of Charles HOLDER's first cousin, Christine HOLDER BAGGE.

TOBIAS LONG OF SURRY COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA AND GREENE COUNTY, INDIANA, a genealogy compiled by his grandson, John Faulk, in 1931, states that Tobias LONG planned to move to Indiana in the fall of 1829 with Richard, Archibald, Sandy and Peter CARMICHAEL, Adam FULK, Peter FULK, Henry FULK, and Jacob FULK, but because of his wife's pregnancy, he delayed departure until September, 1830. The name Peter CARMICHAEL may be a misnomer for Joseph or is a reference to the Peter CARMICHAEL who witnessed the sale of land from Joseph CARMICHAEL to John EVANS in 1831 in Monroe County, IN, and had bought land in Section 20, Indian Creek township, Monroe County, IN, 14 Sep 1830. He may be the same as Peter H. CARMICHAEL, died 24 May 1834, age 25 years, 8 months, 15 days, buried in Carmichael Cemetery, Center township, Greene County, IN, bordering Indian Creek township, Monroe County, IN, which indicates a man born about 9 Oct 1808, whose father is undetermined.

In 1830 all the heirs of Archibald CARMICHAEL appear on the federal census in Monroe and Greene Counties, IN, except for Joseph and Starling, where they settled in adjoining townships, Center township in Greene County and Indian Creek township in Monroe County. Starling CARMICHAEL is on 1830 census of Surry County, NC, and perhaps came to IN with his brother-in-law, Tobias LONG. Joseph CARMICHAEL is listed as a resident of the county when he entered 99 acres E-NW-Section 19, R2W, T7N, Indian Creek township, Monroe County, IN, 18 Dec 1830 and again 12 Dec 1836 SW-NE-Section 19, R2W T7N, and from deeds was obviously in Monroe County, IN, by 1830, so was missed by the census-taker.

The children of Archibald CARMICHAEL and Elizabeth NIX, not necessarily listed in order of their births were:

Starling; died November, age 70, born VA, as shown on the 1850 mortality schedule, which conflicts with a lawsuit filed against his estate by his daughter, Nancy, who attested he died 20 May 1850. His estate was inventoried June 1850 in Monroe County, IN, which confirms the May date of death. He married 12 May 1801, Stokes County, NC, Martha LONG, who was born 1780, NC, daughter of Revolutionary soldier, Israel LONG and Rachel JACKSON. He served from the Morgan District as a resident of Lincoln County, NC and bought the first of three tracts of land in Stokes County, NC, on Belews Creek in 1793. His will dated 11 May 1821, Surry County, NC, names his sons Reuben and Tobias and his daughter, Martha CARMICHAEL. Reuben LONG was bondsman for the marriage of Starling CARMICHAEL and Martha LONG. Martha LONG was living in 1850 census in Indian Creek township, Monroe County, IN, and in 1860 census in Beech Creek township, #216, Greene County, IN and is probably the Martha CARMICHAEL listed in the 1864 deaths of the White River Association of Primitive Baptists' records. Starling CARMICHAEL's children were: Nancy, b 1801 NC, m 186-, Greene co, IN, her sister's widower, William MINKS and was a widow in 1870 in Cold Spring township, Shelby co, IL in the household of Ambrose CARMICHAEL, relationship not determined and not in Starling CARMICHAEL household 1840, though with the widow 1850 and 1860; Elizabeth, b 1803 NC, m 2 Dec 1822, Surry co, NC, John MARTINDALE, a widow in 1850 and 1860 Greene co, IN, living 1870 census Center twp, Greene co, IN, #204, with her widowed daughter; Phebe, m 10 May 1832, Monroe co, IN, Jackson J. Sarah m 2d, after her father's will dated 17 Mar 1827 and before 10 Mar 1829, William MARTINDALE, b 1787, VA, who m 24 Sep 1846, Greene co, IN, a widow, Elizabeth ANTHON. The tombstone for a Sarah GRAVES with no dates in Carmichael Cem, Greene co, IN, has been cited as the burial place of Sarah CARMICHAEL with no recognition of her second marriage. This stone may be hers, of course, but it may also be the marker for the wife listed in 1850 census Monroe co, IN, Indian Creek twp, #716: Peter GRAVES, 66, MW, farmer , NC with Sarah, 66, FW, NC. This may be the same couple listed page 266, 1840 census Monroe co, IN, with 1 male b 1810-1820, 1 male b 1780-1790 and 1 female b 1790-1800, but does not fit the couple listed as Peter GRAVES on p 162, 1830 census, Monroe co, IN, the same page as the CARMICHAELs and Adam FULK: 1 male b 1760-1770 and 1 female b 1740-1750. Certainly none of these is the son-in-law of Archibald CARMICHAEL. There is a Surry co, NC, marriage bond, 21 Dec 1809 for a Peter GRAVES and Sarah MERION with bondsman, Daniel MERION, who may be the couple recorded 1820 census, Surry co, NC, in Capt. Daniel MARRIAN's District with 3 males b 1810-1820, 1 m b 1775-1794, 1 female b 1794-1804. The CARMICHAELs are recorded in Daves's District, Surry co, NC, in 1820. The children of Peter GRAVES and Sarah CARMICHAEL, married only three years, are named in their grandfather CARMICHAEL's will: Jane, b 3 Feb 1812, d 17 Apr 1889, bur Newark Cem, Beech Creek twp, Greene co, IN, m 5 Mar 1840, Greene co, IN, Jackson MARTINDALE, b 1821, KY, d 1893, bur Newark Cem; Thomas Peter, b 11 Feb 1814, d 2 Sep 1887, bur Miriam Cem, Maryville, Nodaway co, MO, m 12 Jan 1834, Monroe co, IN, Mary Ann TEAGUE, b 30 May 1816, d/o Michael TEAGUE and Catharine HOLDER, d 10 Oct 1902, bur Harrodsburg, Monroe co, IN. It is not known if Sarah CARMICHAEL had any children by William MARTINDALE, who has no MARTINDALE children in his household, 1850 census, Greene co, IN. In 1830 he had 1 male born 1825-1830, 2 males born 1820-1825, 1 male b 1815-1820, 2 males b 1810-1815, 1 m b 1780-1790, 1 f b 1820-1825, 1 f 1815-1820, 3 f 1810-1815, 1 f 1790-1800. Of course, the household included his GRAVES step-children and apparently some children of his own earlier marriage.

CARMICHAEL, m 1 Apr 1824, Surry co, NC, John MILLER, b 1787, NC, probably his second marriage. He seems to be the same John MILLER recorded 1820 census, Surry co, NC, with 2 males b 1810-1820, 1 male b 1776-1796, 3 females b 1810-1820, 1 female b 1776-1796. In 1830, p 176, Greene co, IN, he has 2 males born 1825-1830, 1 male born 1820-1825, 1 male born 1780-1790, 2 females born 1820-1825, and 1 female born 1780-1790. He is thought to be the father of John MILLER, b 1810, NC, recorded in 1850 census, Greene co, IN, Center twp #88, near the senior John MILLER and Jane CARMICHAEL, who are recorded at #81, and of a Lucy MILLER who m 6 Dec 1838, Greene co, IN, William MARTINDALE, b 7 Sep 1820, Patrick co, VA, as a BROWN, but reared as a MARTINDALE by John B. MARTINDALE and Elizabeth CARMICHAEL, d/o Starling. They are not found 1850 census in Greene or Monroe co, IN, recorded as MARTINDALE. There is a William BROWN in Wright twp, Greene co, IN, #212, age 38 born VA with wife Elizabeth 25 NC and ch: Fanny 15 IN, Jacob 14 IN, Sarah 8 IN, Isaac 6, William H. 4, Joseph 2, Nancy 3/12. and there is a marriage 21 Oct 1847, Greene co, IN, for William R. BROWN and Elizabeth RAPER. If Lucy were the daughter of Jane CARMICHAEL, married only 14 years when Lucy married in 1838 she was hardly old enough to marry. In 1850 census, John MILLER, age 63, born NC, had wife Jane, 60, VA, and Joseph age 20, born NC, who is surely the son of Jane CARMICHAEL.

Alexander, b 21 Dec 1791, VA, whose descendants are traced in this record, d 15 Apr 1865, Monroe co, IN, bur Carmichael Cem, Greene co, IN. His will is recorded 29 Apr 1865, Monroe co, IN, Will Book 3, pages 266,267,268, dated 17 Feb 1865. She probably died 5 Mar 1834. Alexander m 2d, 24 Apr 1839, Monroe co, IN, Jane PETTY, b 1800, NC, d 4 Aug 1863, widow of Alvis EVANS, whom she married 18 Jul 1820, Stokes co, NC. Alvis EVANS is listed 1820 census Stokes co, NC, p 341 with 1 male 16-26 and 1 female 16-26. He is not found 1830 census Greene or Monroe co, IN. His name is not on the index to probate records in Monroe co, IN, though deeds and guardian accounts for his minor children have not been checked. Perhaps Jane came to IN as a widow. Her children of the first marriage are thought to be: William B., age 26 in 1850 census, 39 in 1860 and 49 in 1870, who m 2 Mar 1843, Greene co, IN, Sarah CARMICHAEL, b 31 Jul 1823, d/o Solomon CARMICHAEL and Sarah GRUBBS gr-d/o Duncan CARMICHAEL and Charity WITT, Thomas and Patsy GRUBBS; Mary, b 8 Nov 1824, d 4 Mar 1900, whose death certificate names her parents as Alves EVANS and Jane PETTY, m 29 Oct 1839, Monroe co, IN, Charles CARMICHAEL, s/o Alexander CARMICHAEL and Mary Ann HOLDER; John W., b 14 Aug 1827, d 22 Dec 1905, bur Sparks Cem, Greene co, IN, m 30 Jul 1849, Greene co, IN, Martha C. The minor children of the deceased Joseph CARMICHAEL are proved by guardian accounts in Monroe co, IN, where Richard CARMICHAEL surrendered the guardianship of Joseph's children, because he was too old, and the duty was assumed by John W. CARMICHAEL, Joseph's son-in-law. Joseph's widow's heirs are named in Monroe co, IN, Deed Bk 10, pp 519, 520. NORTH CAROLINA
AT THE BEGINNING OF

ROOTS OF THE ALEXANDER CARMICHAEL TREE

We are told that originally all Carmichaels came from the place named Carmichael in Lanarkshire in Scotland, they then spread out from there in the 14th and 15th century to Galloway and other places. There is some controversy about the origin of some of the families and whether we owe allegience to the Highlander Carmichaels or the Lanarkshire Branch, but we believe that Archibald was from Lanarkshire.

From the Carmichael Clan Westbrook and Allied Families published 1963, I quote, "The Carmichaels came to America mainly between 1747 and 1800 but some came as early as 1700. Some settled in New York, some Pennsylvania and some in Virginia. They then came on to North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida. Now they can be found in every state of the United States ----.

Most of these Carmichaels were Presbyterians and the Church of England was Episcopal or Catholic. England passed laws with penalties for those not conforming with their church. The enforcing of these laws resulted in emigration to America and the Revolutionary War."

The first Carmichael on record in the area of Caswell County NC was that of Thomas Carmichael. On record is the map of 593 acres on Town Fork Creek in Orange County in St. Mathew Parish; surveyed for Thomas Carmichael on 23 May 1758. Orange County was formed in 1752. The Northern part of Orange County then became Caswell County in 1777. It was in 1777 that both Archibald and Duncan Carmichael (believed to be brothers) as well as Jeremiah Carmichael appeared on the St. Laurinces District, Caswell County's tax list. This was one of the districts in the east half that became Person County in 1791.

During the period following 1777 Archibald and Duncan Carmichael both served in the Revolutionary War from Caswell County. Then in 1784 Duncan's name appeared on the tax list again in the St. Laurinces District but Archibald's name appears in the Richmond District which remained in Caswell County after 1791. In 1786 both Archibald and Jeremiah Carmichael's names appear in the Glocester District of Caswell County (a district that remained in Caswell County). During the meantime Archibald Carmichael's name as well as a John and a Rhoderick Carmichael had appeared on the 1782 tax list of Halifax County, VA (Halifax Co. is mainly adjacent to the part of Caswell County which later became Person County NC). Then in 1785 the name of John Carmichael again appeared in the tax list of Halifax County VA. Archibald was listed with a family of 5, Rhoderick 4, and John 7 in 1782 and 8 in 1785. By 1782 it appears that Archibald and Elizabeth Nix Carmichael had had their three older children. Archibald must have moved back over the line into NC for the 1784 tax list and the 1786 NC Census. In 1786 he was listed with a family of 7 but by 1791 he surely had moved over the line into Virginia again in Halifax County where Alexander was born (Alexander's 1850 and 1860 census records indicate Virginia as place of birth). Also, in 1792 Asher Reaves deeded 72 Acres in Halifax County to Archibald Carmichael who deeded the same land to David Hicks on 27 January 1794. This land was at the head of Deep Bottom Creek.

From census records it is indicated that by 3 April 1796 (birth of Joseph) Archibald and Elizabeth had moved to the Surry-Stokes County area and they purchased 100 Acres in Stokes County, NC from David and Thomas Hicks in 1797 and an additional 33 3/4 Acres 13 Nov 1799. On 26 Dec 1808 Archibald bought 80 Acres on Grassy Creek in Surry County from Michael Teague. This he sold to his son, Alexander on 11 June 1814. (This was apparently part of the Carmichael Plantation sold after Archibald's death to Thomas King). Archibald Carmichael and his family continued to be listed in the Surry County NC census records of 1800, 1810, and 1820. From family information Elizabeth Nix (Hicks) Carmichael died in 1814 and Archibald married Sally (Sarah)________. Archibald filed a will 17 march 1827 in Surry County , will book 4 pages 15 & 16, and 1827-29 he died and it is presumed he was buried in the general area of his plantation. His will was probated in Stokes County. Archibald willed all of his tract of the Carmichael Plantation to his daughter, Sarah Graves Martindale. It is not certain how much land that was but it must have been 157 3/4 Acres although there seems to be no record of how Archibald secured 20 Acres. The 237 3/4 Acres sold apparently included the 80 Acres that he had sold to his son, Alexander in 1814. His second wife, Sarah, must have died by the time the land was sold 10 March 1829 since the terms of the will gave her the right to live on it for her lifetime. Joseph (his son) was named executor of the estate and may have owned 20 Acres of the land not accounted for otherwise. It was in the fall of 1829 that most of the family moved to Indiana. Duncan Carmichael (believed to be a brother of Archibald I) b 11 May 1755 continued to live in North Carolina and died there 3 July 1834.

Archibald is listed in the D.A.R. Patriot Index having furnished Army Contingencies (Sundries) dated May 1779 and having served in the Revolution as did Duncan. From Duncan's pension records he enlisted 29 May 1781 in the Second Regiment of the North Carolina Line of the Continental Establishment commanded by Col. Henry Dixon and the company commanded by Tillman Dixon. He served until June of 1782. He was in the battle of Eutaw Springs, and at the Siege of Ninety Six in South Carolina. Although no pension records for Archibald Carmichael are available, from page 619 of the Colonial and State Records from Caswell County Vol. 16 (see copy) it is believed that both served for the same period in the same Regiment commanded by Col. H. Dixon. (Continued on next page)

General Cornwallis, the British Commander, surrendered to General Washington at the Battle of Yorktown on Oct. 19, 1781. This was the last major battle of the Revolution which ended in the Treaty of Paris in 1783.

From family information and the Patriots Index it is stated that Archibald Carmichael married Elizabeth Nix. However from my observation and that of some others it is believed that Elizabeth's maiden name may have been Hix or Hicks. At the time that Archibald's name appears in the tax list of Halifax County in 1782 with a family of 5 there is a Joseph Hix nearby with a family of 6 and in 1785 a John Hix is listed in Halifax County. It is believed that the name Hix (Hicks) should be researched in that area as possible parents or brothers of Elizabeth. The fact that Archibald had land transfers with David and Thomas Hicks (Hix) leads one to believe that there was a possible relationship.

SOME CARMICHAEL FAMILY HISTORY

(From the Autobiography of Constant Joseph Carmichael, 1919)

My grandfather, Archibald Carmichael, was born in Scotland and came to America in the early days. He settled in North Carolina, Surry County. My grandmother, Elizabeth Nix, was also born in Scotland and came across the great ocean in a sail ship and located in Surry County. North Carolina, where she and grandfather became acquainted and were united in marriage. To this union was born eight children, five sons and three daughers, to-wit: Starling, Richard, Alexander, Joseph and Archibald; the daughters were Sarah, Elizabeth and Jane. All lived to an old age. Grandfather served seven years in the war of the Revolution. None but God and the men who walked and fell by his side knew the suffering endured. In recounting the sad events of the long war, he would often repeat the incident of the Indian that took seventeen deliberate shots at close range at General Washington and then said that he could not be killed with a bullet........

Our family settled in Indiana in the early days when it was but little improved. It was a heavily timbered country, including tall oak, black walnut, yellow poplar, hickory, beech and sugar tree. These had to be cleared away to give place to build a cabin, plant corn, sow wheat and other crops. Plenty of deer, wild turkey, some bears, wild cats and large gray wolves. I have often heard my mother tell of driving the deer out of the wheat field and the wild turkeys out of the garden. Many times, especially in autumn, would my father take his trusty rifle at early twilight or coming day, get in the thick timber where the turkeys were accustomed to roost, then take from his pocket what he called a "turkey caller" which he shaped from the large bone in a turkey's leg, place to his mouth and call. It would so completely imitate the turkey's voice that the large bird would answer at once, then with the unerring aim of the hunter, the large gobbler would fall. Plenty of meat for twenty-four hours. In like manner when he wanted venison, his steady aim never missed the mark. Sometimes the deer was so large that he would have to carry one-half at a time to get it home. Although poor in the world's goods, we lived happily.

There were no schools to speak of in those days. I was compelled to work hard, cut down the tall trees, then cut them into logs fourteen to fifteen feet in length and roll them into heaps or piles to burn. I selected the best splitting logs, oak, hickory, walnut and poplar and split them into rails for fence building. I grubbed the small underbrush and green briars, and thus paved the way for crops, so I obtained but little knowledge of books. My first schooling or lessons was by subscription. By this I mean we had no public school system. Anyone who could teach spelling, reaading, writing and arithmetic (and was so disposed) could circulate a subscription paper; that is, he would go to his neighbors and say: "If you will give me 2.00 per scholar, I will teach a three months term at a certain place." There were few schoolhouses in those days. I well remember my first teacher, also I remember the schoolhouse. It was built of logs. At the proper height for a window they left out one log on one side of the house and inserted narrow slats of boards at intervals, say about two feet apart, and then pasted thin white paper on these. There was no glass. Seats were made by splitting slabs from logs, ten inches or a foot wide. Holes were bored in these and pins for legs were inserted. There were no backs to the seats; they did not sit the "easiest", but the world moved on just the same. We had elementary spelling books. McGuffey's reader, sometimes the Life of Washington and Marion for readers. They were not bad books and would be good for some people to read now. Later on the state adopted the public school system, but my school privileges were very limited.

In those days we sowed flax seed. When it grew up and ripened we pulled it up by the roots and spread in swathes. When dry we bound it into bundles, removed the seed and spread it on the ground. When bleached so the lint would leave the stalk, it was broken and swingle dressed ready for use. It was then spun and woven into cloth for pants, shirts, dresses and grain sacks. That and the wool from the lamb's back, spun and woven at home, comprised the wearing apparel those days. The good old mothers and their obedient and loving daughters all seemed happy when sitting by the spinning wheel drawing out beautiful, fine thread, or walking back and forth by the big spinning wheel reducing the soft rolls of wool to long threads of yarn which went into the loom and finest flannels and coverlets were mae for the use of the beds and coverings for the body.

And may I not forget the beautiful little fields of golden grain. We saw the fathers and sometimes the mothers, with reaphooks or sickles in hand, march into the field and side by side remove the wheat and put into the shocks and, when thoroughly dry, bring to a clean place or into the barn, if any. It was sometimes laid in circles and the horses driven over it, thus crushing out the grain. Then two strong men or women with large sheets would winnow the chaff from the wheat. In later years fanning mills and machinery were invented. I have cut acres with the scythe and cradle. Now the binder and header do the work......

C. J. and Mary A. Carmichael*

* Constant Joseph Carmichael was son of Archibald II (Archibald I). Constant Joseph was born 22 Aug. 1833 in Greene County, Indiana and died 15 Apr. 1927 at almost 94 years of age. He married Mary Ann Hostetter 18 Oct. 1855 in Indiana and then moved to Nodaway County, MO in 1865. His Autobiography published in 1919 at least gives some interesting insight into the Carmicahel Family Life as passed on by him and his parents who died in 1876 and 1886. All are buried in the cemetery at Pickering, MO.

ALEXANDER (SANDY) CARMICHAEL

Alexander was born 20 June 1791 in Halifax County, Virginia to Archibald Carmichael I and Elizabeth Nix (or Hicks). Alexander was the sixth child, having two older brothers (Starling and Richard) and three older sisters (Elizabeth, Jane, and Sarah). Alexander's father was born in Scotland in 1754 and had settled in Caswell County, North Carolina where he married Elizabeth in 1774. Their first two children were born in Caswell County and he was on the 1777 tax list from the St. Lawrence District. It was from Caswell County that Archibald served as a private in the American Revolution. After serving in the war, Archibald settled on Deep Bottom Creek, Halifax County, Virginia where he was on the 1782 tax list. Halifax County is just across the state line from what is now Person County(the St. Laurinces District of Caswell Co.prior to 1791)

In 1794 Archibald sold 72 acres on Deep Bottom Creek of Halifax County to David Hicks and three years later he bought from David and Thomas Hicks 100 acres of land in Stokes County, North Carolina. Archibald may have also purchased land in Surry County, North Carolina in this period of time as he is listed on the 1800 census of Surry County where he continued to be listed the rest of his life. Archibald did buy 80 acres of land on Grassy Creek, Surry County from Michael Teague on 26 December 1808 and then on 11 June 1814 he sold this land to Alexander. It was about 1814 that Elizabeth Nix Carmichael died. She had had two sons born in Surry County. They were Joseph and Archibald II. Archibald and family were on the 1810 and 1820 Surry County, North Carolina census.

Alexander married Mary Ann Holder, daughter of Charles Holder and Margaret Krause, on 28 August 1812 in Stokes County. Charles Holder lived near the Carmichaels but just over the county line of Surry - Stokes County below Pilot Mountain. Alexander and Mary were then able to buy the 80 acres of land within two years after their marriage. It was on this place on Grassy Creek where seven of their children were born. The youngest was Martin born 17 July 1828. Archibald (Sandy's father) had made out a will dated 17 March 1827 and then he died in 1829.

From a Brief History of Tobias Long compiled by John D. Faulk I quote: "About 1820 the free state of Indiana began to attract the attention of these southern mountaineers. The slave labor and the utter lack of any educational opportunities determined many of these mountain people to migrate to Indiana; to build new homes in a state that provided almost free land and free schools."

So after the crops were all in , in the fall of 1829 the Carmichaels, the Holders, the Fulks, the Longs and others planned to leave for Greene and Monroe Counties of Indiana. Besides Alexander's family (of 8 children) there were seven other children and families of Archibald Carmichael I. They all longed to have their children educated and to have at least a fair chance at making a living and making homes for themselves. This they could not have and compete with the slave labor of the south, according to the Brief History of Tobias Long.

By 1829 there was a mass movement of people from North Carolina and so the trail through the Cumberland Gap in Tennessee and on up through Kentucky was fairly well established. The Ohio River had to be crossed before they could enter Indiana but there was a ferry there that would take them across. They must have hauled everything they could in their wagons, carts and on horse-back. They left North Carolina in late September and arrived in Greene and Monroe Counties of Indiana at least by early November so they made a rather fast journey over and around mountains, hills, and streams.

On 12 November 1829 Alexander recorded his first land from the U. S. Government. It was E$\frac{1}{2}$ SE$\frac{1}{4}$ Section 24 Center Township, Greene County, Indiana. There were scattered log cabins on some of the government land, but it can be imagined that they had to really go to work in preparations for winter, especially in a climate that was somewhat colder than their native North Carolina. Alexander Carmichael continued to live in Greene County through the 1840 census. He and Mary Ann had two children born in Indiana, however, Thomas born 4 March 1831 died 2 February 1832 and then Mary Ann died 4 March 1834. Alexander then married Jane Evans 24 April 1839 in Monroe County.Alexander and Jane then had three children but the second son, Andrew J., only lived 11 days having died 18 August 1841.

Alexander continued to buy more U. S. land in both Greene and Monroe Counties and he moved over the line into Monroe County sometime between 1840 and 1850. On 5 August 1858 his youngest son Joseph J. married Mary M. Nellinger of Greene County leaving only Bethana the youngest daughter at home. Then on 4 August 1863 Jane Evans Carmichael, his second wife, died leaving Alex as a widower at 72 years of age. On 17 February 1865 Alex made out and recorded his will. Six days after Lee had surrendered to Grant at Appomattox to end the Civil War, Alexander died on 15 April. His will was probated in Monroe County on 29 April 1865 and the final settlement was dated 7 December 1865 -- Book 3, pages 119-120. Each of the living children received one-ninth of $4,750.24. (See will and final probate record.)

Seven of Alexander's living children were married and living in Greene or Monroe Counties of Indiana. They were: Charles, Margaret Burch, Archibald, Priscilla Shelton, Sarah Jane Carter, Martin Sr. and Mary Ann Burch. Bethana the youngest daughter had stayed at home and had kept house for her father and took care of him after the death of her mother. Solomon Ensley the third oldest son had gone to Lucas County, Iowa in 1855. He had enlisted in Company K of the 34th Iowa Infantry on 4 August 1862 but had been discharged on 23 May 1863 and had continued to live in Iowa where he had six children at that time. Joseph Jasper his youngest son, who had married Mary Nellinger and had two sons, mustered into Co. C 97th Indiana Infantry on 20 September 1862 in Captain John W. Carmichael's Company. However, Joseph J. died of disease 5 February 1863 at LaGrange, Tennessee. His two sons were mentioned in the will.

Alexander Carmichael was buried with his two wives in the Carmichael Cemetery which is located on his original land claim in Center Township, Greene County, Indiana. (See picture of his stone.) Besides his nine living children, Alexander was survived by two brothers: Richard of Indiana and Archibald II of Nodaway County, Missouri and one sister Jane Miller, wife of John Miller, of Indiana. He was also survived by 67 grandchildren and an unknown number of great grandchildren.

THE MARTINDALE HOMESTEAD

On a bright Sunday afternoon in early June (1978) our excursion into the backwoods of the Martindale homeland was set to go. Our objective was to search for the old roadbed which would lead us to such places as the Martindale School, House, Spring and Cave.

Our party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Garry Heshelman and family, Burdette Taylor and his wife Phillis and their children, David and Rachel Taylor. Our neighbor's girl, Brenda Hillenburg, came along with Rachel.

The serenity of the wooded hillside going up the tractor trail would soon lead me to romantic memories. Ironic to say, my first trip was lead by an Agricultural Teacher. We soon came to a crossing roadbed about 100 feet from the field at the top of the hill. We were going north of Garry's home and chose not to follow the faded road to the west but to go on up the hill and turn at the field, to follow that a ways. After going west about 200 feet or so we climbed the fence on the left, after which we would now go south for about fifty feet headed back toward Garry's house. While I was observing the shell-bark hickory trees Garry called out to me. He had located the foundation stones and what we concluded to be a front porch facing the road to the south. While standing there at the location site, thoughts were running through my mind.. This same feeling had swept over my great aunts, Edna Davis and Ora Carmichael, who had welcomed this site many years ago. And now the feeling of solitude and the absence of life had now lingered over this hillside. Upon departing one of the party had spotted a snake near the porch of the school. This site had served its community and now was given back to a place where wild life could exist again. The snakes would crawl over the stones and the birds over its sky, but my schooling will continue with nature best and the with the keeness of the eye..

We walked back into the field by the woods going east to a place where the tractor road entered the field. Now we are close to the log house that John Martindale had built shortly after he purchased the land from the U.S. in 1831. Curtis Martindale would be the only one who might know its exact location. I've been told that the log house was half-way between the school and spring and that this very field is where the Indians were camping when the United States deeded him the land. Almost the same distance eastward and to the south we descended down the hill into the wood-land growth about fifty feet and we saw a cave. This is the cave that some people had told Curtis about many years ago. Perhaps his father, George Martindale, for this had been their home-place on down a little piece below the cave. Old man John Martindale had a girl who was idiotic that wandered off one day and never returned. Her name was Barbara and they feared that she went into that cave. They sealed the cave to prevent other children from going into it.

Below the cave stood the remains of the second Martindale (George Martindale) home. It had been a large frame house for the Martindales and I would suppose built by old John's son, Ralph Martindale, who was among Center Township's first school teachers. Many broken dishes and old pots and pans lie around the place. The cellar was in a bank behind the house and had been poured with concrete by Curtis and brothers and their father George with much work several years ago.

David found a door lock and Phyllis a cooking pot by the flue while I stood amongst the flowers at the front of the house. My golden daybreak from those bygone days is to go forward into the past and to know that earth had concealed, not the life thy lived for Thee.. Awakened from my thoughts, I walked over to see what Garry had wanted.

He had found the spring! It was just like Curtis had told me, right in the middle of the two home sites. The spring was laid up with fieldstones and I reckon that over the course of years as farmers they would clear the stones from their fields. Well anyway my trip to the past must come to an end but I must return, perhaps to spend the day where the road has faded and the cabins have fallen, to clear the spring and unseal the cave under that God-given sky in those Greene County hills of my ancestors.

Standing there from infancy of an open field,
The birds and bees our flowers and trees,
Time has travailed and brought forth a school,
A day-time home for me so young and free.

Born into beauty born to bloom,
All that heaven beckons to bring,
Birds, animals and trees,
Awaits the birth of a morning spring.

Throughout the smoldering irons of timeless travel,
Now fallen there among the leaves,
In autumn solemn refining,
Earth had concealed not the love they had for Thee!

Burdette Taylor, June, 1978
Fourth great nephew to George
A. Martindale who married
Bethanie Carmichael (Alex).

Small town warmth

Greene County's Cincinnati has own appeal

Monday special

By Annysa Corcoran

CINCINNATI — I have a special affection for a certain "wide spot in the road" in Greene County. There's not much there, really — the Christian Church, a few homes. But there is something about this tiny community called Cincinnati that makes me feel at home.

Cincinnati — there is comfort in the name. Perhaps because Cincinnati (Ohio) is home for me.

There is nothing in this small town that would remind one of Ohio's Queen City. No powerful river, no tall buildings, no Pete Rose. But this Cincinnati was not always as sleepy as it is today. Word has it the town took its name in the 1800s when a drunken traveler, wandering through this once bustling community, thought he had arrived in Cincinnati, Ohio.

At 94 years old, Curt Martindale is one of Cincinnati's most respected citizens. Though his eyesight and hearing just aren't what they used to be, his memory — not to mention his wit — is as sharp as ever. As if it were yesterday, Curt can remember a time when Cincinnati had three grocery stores, two blacksmiths, a post office, and a flour mill. Before the Christian Church was built in 1919, most denominations shared a Union church building. There was a spoke factory, where laborers made spokes for wagons and buggies; an inn where, in the 1920s, a traveler could land a room and a meal for 75 cents, and there was a barber shop.

"Well, we called it a barber shop," Curt remembers with a grin. "It was 10-by-10 and made out of rough lumber. Algon Sarver run that, and you could get a shave for a quarter.

"We had a sidewalk too in those days. It was made out of native lumber and went from the store building to the old church. Boy, I could remember people just gettin' up there and clickin' their heels."

Cincinnati's children attended classes at the Old School House, where perhaps 20 youngsters studied in grades one through eight. All of the town's drinking water was carried from a spring on Curt's property, and each day, the students would take turns carrying the water needed at the school.

Telephone service in the 1920s and '30s was provided in Cincinnati through a switchboard that changed hands almost yearly. "Every year, people would bid on it, and whoever had the lowest bid got to have it in their home," Curt said. My wife, Ethel, had it here several years in the '30s. People paid about 17 cents a month for service."

At the general store in town, families purchased everything from food to clothes, and the men sold animal skins to buyers who fashioned them into coats. "There was a lot of trade at that time," Curt said. "There were times when wagons'd be hitched up so much at the general store you couldn't even get around."

Curt held a variety of jobs over the years — as a mechanic at the Crane Weapon Support Depot for six years until the end of World War I. With two small children, he was never called to service himself. After the war, he spent two years as the Greene County fire warden and another three on the county highway department.

In the 1920s, Curt traveled to Cincinnati, Ohio, to study mechanics and be certified at McSweeney's Auto School. Back home, he constructed a garage adjacent to his house.

"I'll never forget the time, when I had that garage, when Wayne and Kiefh, my boys, rigged up a shock 'em machine to the seat where all the men would sit," Kurt starts to laugh and shake his head. "My uncle, Callahan Martindale, and Henry Shirrel were sittin' on that seat. Well, the boys went and turned that thing on, and Henry stood up and said, 'Callahan, I think I done had a stroke.' Why, we never laughed so hard."

Of Kurt's six children, only his second youngest, Maxine Hedden, is living. His wife, Ethel, died six years ago after 67 years of marriage. Since that time, Maxine and husband, Frank, look after Curt from their home just across the road.

Frank and Maxine are the exception, rather than the rule in this community where children, as they became adults, raised their own children here. "It used to be people that lived here would get married, then raise their families here. But now that there's no industry here, the men, as they grown up, have had to leave to get work," Maxine said.

Still, not all has changed so dramatically in Cincinnati. It is today a community where neighbors watch after one another and where the church is a central part of many families' lives. And though Curt's garage no longer stands as a gathering spot for the townsmen, the bull can get pretty thick when the retired gentlemen congregate at Dan's service station.

But more than anything, what has not been spoiled in this little Cincinnati is a small-town good feeling — a warmth in the people, an openness or friendliness that puts even a stranger at ease. And as cities go, that's worth 10 skyscrapers, two rivers and all the Pete Roses you can fit in a ball park.

ETHEL MARTINDALE

LITTLE CINCINNATI — Services for Ethel Martindale, 86, Little Cincinnati, who died Tuesday at her residence, will be 2 p.m. Friday at Little Cincinnati Christian Church, with the Rev. Claude Casada officiating. Burial will be in Carmichael Cemetery.

Born Sept. 2, 1893, in Monroe County, she was the daughter of John and Louisa (Koontz) May.

She was a member of the Little Cincinnati Christian Church, and the Ladies Aid.

Surviving are her husband, Curt Martindale; one daughter, Maxine Hedden, Bloomfield; one son, Wayne, Coalmont; eight grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons, two daughters, six sisters, and three brothers.

Friends may call at Jenkins Funeral Home, Bloomfield, until 9 p.m. this evening. The body will be taken to the church at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Nearing 96: 'Nothing that I've done'

You won't find his name in the Guinness Book of World Records but Curtis Martindale is some kind of champion anyway. Right after the recent snowfall he armed himself with a shovel and cleared the walkways around his home.

Mr. Martindale is 95. On March 11 he will be 96.

"Always do," he said from the comfort of his living room in a small white bungalow in (little) Cincinnati. "I always get out and shovel snow."

He's probably in the running for another record; he never saw the inside of a hospital until he was 85.

Unfortunately it was not to visit a sick friend but to receive emergency treatment for painful, dangerous bee stings. He was an innocent bystander watching the removal of tin roofing from where it lay on the ground when he was ferociously attacked by a maddened swarm.

He survived and continues to do so, and when asked the way and the what-for of his good fortune and his exceptional longevity his reply was a smiling, "It ain't nothing that I've done."

"The boys I was raised up with were big, and I was a kind of runt," he said. "I always wanted to be big like them. I guess every boy wants to be like the big fellers. But they're all gone now, and I'm still here," he said.

Mr. Martindale was reared on a farm not more than two miles from his present home and, except for five years he spent working elsewhere, he spent his entire life in Center Township. He and his wife, Ethel, had three sons and three daughters. Ethel and five of the children have all passed on. A daughter, Mrs. Frank Heddon lives across the road (Ind. 54) from his home.

He once operated an auto repair garage in Cincinnati. He also worked on a traveling bridge gang, was a county fire warden, worked for the Greene County Highway Department and spent several years at Crane.

His first job was as a farmhand. With his first pay he went to Bloomington and bought a suit of clothes.

"I rode in a wagon from here to Bloomington," he said, "and the suit of clothes cost me $12.50; one month's wages. Those were the 'good ole days' they talk about so much today."

Another episode from those good old days concerns Mr. Martindale's desire to take his first train ride. Since there was no railway through Cincinnati he and Roy Tigg walked from there to Ketcham Station near Harrodsburg. There they boarded a Monon passenger for the short trip to Bloomington. That was in 1910. Their walk was in excess of a dozen miles.

Except for the most impressive occurrences, a man is apt to forget much of what happens to him on the long road to 95, Mr. Martindale said. In his case the death of his wife and the deaths of five of their children stand out from all else.

"You never forget those things," he said. "And you always think, 'Why the children? Why not me instead of them?' But there are no answers."

He has one other vivid memory. It rises from a revival meeting at a church in Cincinnati in 1956.

"Harvey Hawkins and me went to see who was there," Mr. Martindale began. "When they gave the invitation one or two people went up to the altar. That was something I never did do. I never had much time for church anyway. On Sunday I played baseball around. But that night something took a-hold of me. I turned to Harvey and I said, 'Want to go?' And he said, 'No.' I said, 'Well I do.' And he said, 'Go, then!'

"Something had a-hold of me," Mr. Martindale repeated, his aging eyes sparkling with moisture at the recollection. "There was never a feeling like that before. I can't explain it. But something had a-hold of me. I never killed anyone, and I was probably never as mean as a lot of fellers. I was never arrested and I never paid but one fine, and that was for a meter in Bloomfield. But I went up and made my confession.

"It was just a wonderful feeling," he said. "And I've never regretted it. And I've been going to that church ever since."

The church, The Cincinnati Christian Church, is a short walk from Mr. Martindale's home. He walks there every Sunday morning and, weather permitting, he walks there again on Sunday nights.

One of the many adjustments a 95-year-old man must make in deference to his age is that of allowing others to do for him.

"The little things I used to do for people, now they're doing for me," Mr. Martindale explained. "I've got some mighty good neighbors. Amos Abrams comes twice a day to check on me. And Dick Drobnob comes. Ron Kitchner and Lexie Carmichael, they come over too. And Amos takes me to Whitehall to get my hair cut, and to Sharkey on 'Bean Day.' Bill Workman goes with us."

But when it comes to keeping his walkways free of snow, Mr. Martindale does his own shoveling.

"I like to work," he said. Then smiling he added, "But not too hard."

Millard Weaver, 81, Stanford, died at 12:45 p.m. Thursday at the Hospitality House in Bloomington.

He was born April 16, 1892 1882 in Greene County, the son of James and Martha Ellen Carmichael Weaver. m 22 Mar 1887

He was a member of the Stanford Baptist Church. He was retired from the Showers Brothers Furniture Company.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Mary Crohn of Route 9, Bloomington, Betty Guilliams of Indianapolis and Mrs. Martha Campbell of Lawrence; five sons, James Weaver of Indianapolis, Maurice Weaver of Denver, Colo., Robert Weaver of Indianapolis, Earl Weaver of Silver City, N.M. and Donald Weaver of Route 1, Bloomington; 20 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his widow, Pearl Weaver on May 29, 1968. He also was preceded in death by two daughters, a son, a brother, three half-brothers and a sister.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Greene and Harrell Mortuary in Bloomington with the Rev. Harley Skirvin officiating. Burial will be in the Carmichael Cemetery in Greene County. Friends may call at the mortuary from 7-9 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. till 9 p.m. on Saturday and from 10 a.m. until time of service on Sunday.

John W. Carmichael, Heroic Color Bearer In Civil War, Dies At His Home Here

WAS LAST OF OUR CIVIL WAR VETERANS LIVING IN TOWN

Drum taps and retreat have sounded the last time for John Carmichael, the last civil war veteran in town, who died Sunday.

Carmichael marched with Sherman to the sea. He was 86 years old at the time of his death. He had lived in Allerton for forty-nine years.

There have been few veterans who lived to these days who had such colorful and valiant war records as those of Carmichael. He served with Company E, 97th Regiment.

He distinguished himself heroically in the assault of Kenesaw mountain June 27, 1864. It was a red letter day in the history of his regiment. Many soldiers were killed and wounded.

Walcutt's brigade had made a charge on the mountain a few days before and by reason of its brilliant success on that occasion, was selected by General Logan to form part of the assaulting column on June 27. As Carmichael and his regiment went into the fight the 46th Ohio regiment was in front of the skirmishers.

In an accompanying group was John D. Alexander, who was wounded in his right hip. He was carried to the rear and heard little more of the battle at the time, but later, in the hospital he was told of the conflict. He was particularly impressed with the account of the part played by the color bearers, a group of which Carmichael was a member. In later years he wrote of Carmichael's heroism, telling in full details the facts of the battle.

In part of his account he said "the colonel told me how the color bearers had suffered in the battle. Carmichael's clothes were torn by the shots and all of the other color bearers were either killed or wounded. It was a grim sight. A shell had struck one of the captains, and his blood had splashed on the flag which Carmichael carried. The staff had been shattered by the gunfire but Carmichael went on through, the only color bearer to come out not gravely injured, although he suffered four severe wounds."

He was born June 29, 1844, in Cincinnati, Ind. He was united in marriage to Sarah E. Carmichael Dec. 25 1865, who preceded him in death Dec. 27, 1929. To this union seven children were born. Mary Ettalawson. Belle M. Bracewell, Eva Ferrell, Noah, Ora, Everett and Lottie Wilson.

He united with the Baptist church when a lad and when they moved to Allerton he transferred his membership to the Baptist church here where he ever remained, faithful and interested member.

He leaves to miss him one daughter Mrs. Belle Bracewell of Allerton two sons, Ora and Everett of Kansas City, Mo., two brothers and two sisters, thirteen grandchildren and many friends.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Alta Nichols officiating. Interment was made in the Allerton cemetery. 7 May 1931

John W. Carmichael served with the 97 Regiment, Indiana Infantry. He was a color bearer at Kenesaw Mt. and he marched with General Sherman to the sea.

Lloyd J. Carmichael, 52, R. 1, Greenfield and a native of Monroe County, died Wednesday at Hancock County Memorial Hospital, Greenfield, after a two-year illness.

Born March 19, 1926, in Monroe County, he was the son of Bant and Nellie (Graves) Carmichael.

AGED CITIZEN OF ALLERTON IS DEAD

Mrs. John W. Carmichael, a resident of Allerton for almost half a century, passed away at her home there, Thursday. Funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. W. [illegible]eyman of the Baptist church. Interment was in the Allerton cemetery.

The following obituary was read at the services:

Sarah E. Carmichael was born September 22, 1844 and died December 27, 1928 at the age of 84 years, 3 months and 6 days. She was united in marriage to John W. Carmichael, December 25, 1865 in Green county, Indiana. They moved to Allerton in the fall of 18[illegible]1 and have been residents of that place since that time.

To this union were born seven children, three of whom are living, Mrs. Belle Bracewell and E. E. Car-Carmichael of Allerton and O. T. Carmichael of Kansas City. There are thirteen grandchildren and thirteen great-granchildren living.

Mrs. Emma Burch, 92, Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Emma Burch, 92-year-old resident of Bloomfield route four, died at 10:00 p.m. Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Carmichael, on route four.

The deceased was born on October 25, 1880 in the Center Township, the daughter of Thomus and Alice Carmichael Burch. She was a member of the Buena Vista Primitive Baptist Church. She was preceeded in death by her husband, Homer Burch, in 1955 and a son, Rossie Burch, in 1969.

Surviving in addition to the daughter at whose home she died are two half-sisters, Mrs. Edna Davis, Bloomfield route four, and Mrs. Ora Carmichael of Stanford; five grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Jenkins & Sons Funeral Home here with Rev. Raymond Adkins and Rev. Claude Casada officiating. Interment will be in Carmichael Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:00 p.m. today.

MEMORIES BY RUBY CARMICHAEL WEAVER
(Upon seeing the picture of the Ensley Carrmichael Farmstead)

The Ensley Carmichael farm was one mile west and one quarter mile south of Diller, NE. I was born there and lived there until I was eleven years old. There is nothing there now but memories. Vance, Alfred, and Bud are in the barn door. As I look at this picture, the memories come to me----beautiful, wonderful, happy, sad and all of them. How many times I jumped out of that hay mow door, helped Dad 'mow back' the hay up there in the heat. It looks a long way from the house to the barn but really it wasn't. This picture doesn't show the beautiful drive-way and front yard with swings and in the lane, a hedge with a stile (is that what they called it?) to go over. It reminds me of the back porch where grandpa Gerard mended my toe that I cut on a broken bottle. I could go on for a long time. For instance the corn crib where the carriage set, and when Cecil, my older sister, and I ground feed for the chickens. Dad had told us so often, don't ever, put your hand in there. Well Cecil wanted to see how it worked so she stuck her hand in and cut off or pulled off the end of her finger. She told me to keep old "Hecky" going and she ran off to the stock tank to stop her finger from bleeding. So I did for awhile. Finally I couldn,t stand it any longer so I went to find out what had happened. The grinder was just in front of the wagon setting there.(This referred to one of those old burr grinders powered by a horse hitched to a long tongue where the horse traveled in a large circle around the grinder).

Will of Wesley Carmichael (s/o Archibald, Alex.)
Will Bk. 5 pg. 559

In the name of God, Amen.

I, Wesley Carmichael, being of sound mind and knowing the uncertainly of life and the certainty of death, do make and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills by me heretofore made.

Item 1.

I will, request and direct that all my just debts, including my funeral expenses and expenses of my last sickness be paid out of my estate.

Item 2.

I, will bequeath and devise to my beloved wife Mary J. Carmichael, all my property, both real and personal of which I may die seized and possessed and all personal property of whatsoever kind, after paying all my debts as provided in item 1, in this will, for her sole use and benefit, so long as she remains my widow, with full power to hold same, or if she so desires to sell or convey and dispose of any or all of said property, either real or personal as she may deem best at any time so long as she remains my widow.

Item 3.

I will and direct that in the event of my widow's remarriage that all of my property remaining in her hands at the time of such remarriage shall after my widow retained her five hundred dollars and one third of my real estate remaining in her hands, shall be equally divided among my children; F. O. Carmichael, Wesley E. Carmichael, Sherlie E. Carmichael, William H. Carmichael, Hershel Carmichael, Clayton Carmichael-
In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this the 5th day of May, 1904.

17 Sept 1981

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Carmichael, 1322 W. 8th Street, Bloomington, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 27, with an Open House at the Salvation Army gymnasium from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Hosting the special event will be their children, Kenneth J. of Bloomington; Mrs. James (Marjorie) Thomas of New Whiteland and Mrs. Charles (Helen Jean) Hawkins of Ellettsville, their spouses and nine grandchildren.

The Carmichaels were married September 26, 1931 in Greene County. She was the former Grace B. Abrams.

Ralph Carmichael, 81, long-active in the lumber company business in Bedford and a local Democrat leader for many years, died at 3:38 p.m. Monday at Dunn Memorial Hospital.

Carmichael, who resided at 1314 Fifteenth St., had been ill four years.

He was a retired building contractor and a co-owner of Black-Carmichael-Klein Lumber Company, with which he had been associated since 1943. Early in his career he had worked a short time for H. L. Conly Building Construction, then established his own business, Carmichael Building Company, at 1320 Stalker Ave., which he and his wife, Millie, operated for 16 years.

Carmichael was honored by local Democrats in 1978 after he retired as treasurer of the Lawrence County Democrat Central Committee, a post he held for 25 years. He had been a delegate to many Democratic state conventions and had also attended the 1968 Democrat National Convention in Chicago as an alternate delegate.

He served eight years on the board of Bedford City Schools in the 1940s, and in the 1950s served a term on the joint boards of Ball State University and Indiana State Normal College.

He was a member of the board of directors at Citizens National Bank from 1946 until about a year ago, when he was named a director emeritus of the board. He was a member of Bedford Kiwanis Club, serving as club president in 1963. He received the Kiwanis Club's Senior Citizen Award for outstanding community service in 1968.

Carmichael was also a member and past trustee of First United Methodist Church, member of Bedford Masonic Lodge No. 14, Scottish Rite Valley of Indianapolis, and La-Or-Ma Shrine Club. He was formerly active in the Bedford Chamber of Commerce, and was named a Sagamore of the Wabash in 1968 by Gov. Roger D. Branigin.

Born May 9, 1902, at Stanford, Ind., Carmichael was the son of William Wesley and Luna Edwards Carmichael. He married Millie Marsey Nov. 29, 1927, and she survives.

Also surviving are one son, William Carmichael, Indianapolis; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, and one sister, Evelyn White, Tulsa, Okla.

A son, Robert Carmichael, and two brothers, Wayne and Bret Carmichael, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Day & Carter Mortuary, with the Rev. Ronald Mercer and the Rev. Robert Williams officiating. Burial will be in Green Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the mortuary from 2-9 p.m. Wednesday. Friends are asked to consider memorials to the First United Methodist Church.

Masonic rites will be given at the mortuary Wednesday evening.

RECOLLECTIONS: Family Stories told by Charles Shelton (s/o John C. born 23 April 1908).

Aunt Mary Jane (Shelton Weaver who married Mathias Weaver) had never seen a stove except a cook stove. On the way to Iowa (covered wagon?) she and Uncle Si(must be referring to Mathias) stayed one night at a place where the travelers all bedded down in a room heated by a pot bellied stove. Waking up in the night, Aunt Mary saw the hot stove glowing in the dark. Shaking Uncle Si, She yelled,"Si, Si, get up and do something! That stove will bust and kill everyone of us!"

When talking of putting electricity in their house, Aunt Mary would have no part of it. She was afraid the "juice" would run out and spoil her carpets.

Aunt Mary cut out all the obituaries from the newspapers and pasted them in a note book.

The Weavers came to Iowa when Louisa (their only child born in 1876) was six years old.(That would have been in 1882).

Mary Weaver spent her last years in the Wayne County Old People's Home. I,Majory Shelton,(born 1928, d/o George s/o William S.) remember Grandfather Shelton taking my folks and me to the County Home on a Sunday afternoon to visit Aunt Mary. She would sing (old ballads) and dance for us and Grandpa Shelton would give her a quarter.

Note-- Louisa Allen's(daughter of Aunt Mary) Obituary mentions an uncle, Ensley Weaver as a survivor in 1939. (Ensley born 12 Sept 1860 in Greene County IN, was a brother to Mathias, both sons of David Weaver Sr. Ensley died 3 Oct 1944 at the age of 84 years, Louisa died in 1939).

This was recopied and some information added by Charles Carter Jr.(a descendant of Sarah Carmichael,a sister to Priscilla Carmichael who married Sandford Shelton).

JAMES MONROE SHELTON SON OF SANDFORD ALLEN SHELTON: RECOLLECTIONS

From Marjory Shelton Jackson - Grandfather J. M. Shelton was a staunch Baptist known for his long prayers. He was a generous supporter of the Allerton Baptist Church often paying the preacher himself when funds were low. 'Grandma Nora' taught Sunday School Classes for many years at the Baptist Church in Allerton. Of his children, his daughter Marie married a Baptist Evangelist; daughter Eva was a Baptist; sons Ernest, George, Charles,and Roy all joined the Methodist Church; Oliver was a Baptist.

Grandfather Shelton farmed until after the death of his first wife, Dorcas. She died suddenly at night before the doctor could get there. She had not felt well for several days but not ill enough to see a doctor. Grandpa Shelton owned a couple of farms southwest of Allerton. Later, he was elected President of the Allerton Farmer's National Bank and moved into town.

Grandpa Shelton had a brand new "Essex" which was the envy of every young person in Allerton. The rest of us rode in Fords or Chevrolets.

Grandfather Shelton had stomach 'trouble' and all his bread had to be toasted. When we went there for a meal, we children felt we had a big treat to have a piece of toast from an electric toaster. Our toast at home was made on top of the cook stove or by holding the bread on a fork above the coals.

"Grandma Nora" and Grandpa lived in a large house at the end of a dead-end street that ended at the railroad tracks near the depot. Broughton Bracewell, who had been a neighbor when they both farmed, and who was a bank official with Grandpa Shelton lived in the same block. Grandpa Shelton's house burned in the late 20's. He then bought the "Grimes Home" (probably the finest house in Allerton) on Main Street about two blocks south of the business district. There he lived until his death. Nora continued to live there until that home burned. Nora then went to live with a sister in Mason City, Iowa. There she died.

From Roy Shelton b 1886 - Later J. M. worked for George Wright. J. M. was fixing fence the day the James Brothers robbed the Corydon Bank. They came along the railroad and told J. M. "We got more money than a mule could carry" ($5000). Later the posse came by asking the direction the robbers were going. Father (J. M. Shelton) worked on a farm near Allerton five years for a man named Foster of Peoria, Illinois. This man owned 1200 acres of land. This was before the railroad was built. J. M. lived in a log house one half mile from Greenridge graveyard. J. M. married for the second time Nora Hutchison on June 1, 1908 at Allerton, Iowa. Nora was a former school teacher.

J. M. (Shelton) took Nora back to Indiana to visit his sister. Nora (a former school teacher) was a little shocked. The relatives in Indiana went barefoot - wore sunbonnets - used the creek bed for a road way. They had a spring house built over a running spring where they kept their milk and butter. We had a horse named "Easter" which the Shelton boys drove to visit their girl friends. J. M. also drove "Easter" to court his second wife.

From Roscoe Morgan b 1893, son of Lydia Shelton Morgan - Great Grandfather Shelton (S. A.) in Hobbieville, Indiana 'farmed-out' Grandfather Shelton (J. M.) to the Baptist preacher to pay his church dues. J. M. did not like working for the preacher so he ran away to Iowa.

JAMES MONROE SHELTON FAMILY

James M. Shelton was born in Green County, Indiana the son of Sanford Allen Shelton and Priscilla Cormichael. At an early age he left home to work for a man named Foster who owned 1,200 acres of land near Peoria, Illinois. When his son Jim was 21, he also went to Peoria, Illinois to work for the same Mr. Foster. Jim married Foster's daughter Alma.

Later, J. M. Shelton worked on a farm near Allerton for George Wright. About 1869 he purchased a farm three miles southwest of Allerton known as the "Shelton Farm". This farm remained in the Shelton family for about 80 years. When J. M. Shelton moved to Allerton his son Ollie rented then purchased the farm from his father. Mr. J. M. Shelton also owned 160 acres of land across the road from the original farm and west of the John Wright farm, After World War I he built a new house on this land which was rented to his son Dale. Mr. J. M. Shelton owned this land until his death in 1928.

Mr. J. M. Shelton was a stockholder and director of the Farmer's National Bank and served as President of the Bank for a period. This bank closed in the fall of 1925, one of the first National Banks that closed in the 20's and early 30's.

Mr. J. M. Shelton married Dorcas Malinda Casey (1854-1905) daughter of George W. Casey and Catharine Breakiron of Pennsylvania. The Casey family moved to Wayne County in 1870.

Originally the Shelton family were members of the country church called Highland but by the early 1900's had become members of the First Baptist Church in Allerton.

There were twelve children born to J. M. and Dorcas Shelton. These children and their families are:

Mary Lydia (1872-1945) married Daniel W. Morgan (1866-1940) in 1892. Their sons are Roscoe C. Morgan 1893 and Harold A. Morgan (1904-1918).

After Dorcas Shelton died February 13, 1905, J. M. Shelton married Nora Hutchinson (1868-1948) in 1908. They later moved to a large home in Allerton located on the lot where Mrs. Lora Dougherty now lives. In 1925 a group of young people of the First Baptist Church had a Halloween Party in this home. A lot of newspapers were used in games played and the next morning Mrs. Shelton was burning these papers in the furnace when the house caught fire and burned to the ground. J. M. and Nora Shelton then purchased a large home on South Main Street and J. M. Shelton was living there at the time of his death on March 9, 1928. Mrs. Shelton continued to live there until this home burned in the middle 1930's. She later left Allerton making her home with two sisters until her death January 4, 1948.

One son of J. M. and Dorcas Shelton is still living (1973); James Allen Shelton of Goldendale, Washington.

WILLIAM L. AND BARBARA J. (HIBBS) SHELTON

He is an attorney in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Their children are: John Richard, Jr., born 1961, and Mark Steven, born 1963.

John Carl Shelton was born November 18, 1884, in Liberty Township, in Lucas County, Iowa, and died in Ottercreek Township on October 24, 1941. He was the eldest son of John Martin and Nancy Pennington Shelton. He was married to Therrissa May James, who was born May 24, 1883, and died January 3, 1950. She was the daughter of Amos Manford and Julia Larkin James, both of Lucas County. John and Therrissa had six children, they being John E., Charles A., William Martin, Robert L., Avis M., and Hazel L. He farmed most of his life in Ottercreek Township near the community of Norwood.

John Martin Shelton was born July 9, 1851, in Green County, Indiana, and died in Liberty Township, Lucas County, Iowa, on December 27, 1930. He married Nancy Pennington of Ottercreek Township, born September 29, 1856, died December 20, 1929. They farmed in Liberty Township during most of their lives and had born to them children encluding John Carl, born 1884; William Sanford, born 1875; James A. born 1880; Lillie Ethel, born 1883; Ray H. born 1892; and Minnie Fay, born 1898.

Nancy Pennington, born 1856 was the daughter of William O. and Eleanor Lamb Pennington of Ottercreek Township. John Martin Shelton was the son of Sanford Allen Shelton, born December 31, 1817, died May 10, 1894, and Priscilla Carmichael Shelton, born March 6, 1822, died August 18, 1888 (and who are buried in the Carmichael Cemetery), of near Hobbieville, Green County, Indiana. Lucas County Recorder's records show the John M. Shelton received a Warranty Deed dated October 29, 1883 and filed January 20, 1887, in Book 5, page 583 to 80 acres in Liberty Township described as the East ½ of the NW¼ of Section 19, Township 73 North, Range 22 West of the 5th P.M. Granters of the deed were W. D. Penniington and Elearnor Pennington, and the recited consideration was $1.00. The Penningtons had purchased that 80 acres along with their land November 6, 1874, said deed being recorded in Book T, page 352.

John M. Shelton purchased an additional 40 acres across the road from the above property by deed dated February 20, 1886, filed March 13, 1886 in book 5, page 406 with a recited consideration of $900. The land is described as the NW¼ of the SE¼ of Section 19, Township 73 North, Range 22. West of the 5th P.M. All of this land was owned by John M. and his son Ray until Ray retired and sold the same in 1967.

William L. Shelton was born in his parents' home at 1116 Court Avenue, Chariton, Iowa on April 16, 1938, where he lived until 1955 when the family moved to a 87 acre tract of ground on the west side of the city limits of Chariton on Court Avenue. His father was John E. Shelton and his mother was Stella M. Coons Shelton. Upon graduation from Chariton High School, he attended Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, where he obtained his B.A. degree in 1959, then attended law school at the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Iowa, and received his J.D. degree in 1962. Upon admission to the Iowa Bar in May 1962, he moved to Los Angeles, California, having received employment with the trust department of United California Bank in Los Angeles, gained admission in 1963 to the California Bar Association and practiced law in Beverly Hills and Los Angeles, California until 1966 when the family returned to Chariton, Iowa, where he and his wife, Barbara, purchased an interest in the Shelton family furniture business, opened a private law office, and purchased a farm. In January of 1967 he formed a partnership for the practice of law, the same being known as Morr and Shelton, P.C., which remains in operation to the date of this publication. In 1967 he was appointed Lucas County Attorney and has since been elected to that position and continues to hold that office in addition to his private practice of law ad other interests, which include K-Bar Packaging Company, which is a hospital supply partnership he operates with his brother, Larry E. Shelton and their respective wives and families.

He married Barbara J. Hibbs, who was born at Osceola, Clarke County, Iowa, November 26, 1937, the daughter of Phaene G. and Orva Fjelland Hibbs. At the age of approximately three years her family moved to Chariton, Iowa, residing in Chariton therafter. Barbara has been active in the family furniture business and in the operation of K-Bar Packaging Company. Six children have been born to the marriage of Barbara and William, they being: Douglas J., born July 31, 1956; Karen S., born June 13, 1958; Margo A., born January 3, 1962; Rebecca L., born October 29, 1968; Melissa L. born July 23, 1973; and Kyle B., born May 19, 1975.

The family attends the United Presbyterian Church in Chariton, Iowa, and William is a Mason, Shrine member, Rotary, and other organizations. Barbara is a member of T.T.T., Chariton Women's Club, and various other organizations.

John M. Shelton

John M. Shelton, son of Sanford Allen and Priscilla Shelton, was born in Greene county, Indiana, on July 9, 1851, and died at his home near Norwood, Iowa, on December 27, 1930, aged 79 years, 6 months and 18 days. He was one of eleven children, only three of whom survive.

He was united in marriage to Nancy A. Pennington on January 3, 1875, who departed this life just one year ago

To this union six children were born, William S., James A., John Carl, Ray H., Mrs. Faye Keeney and Lillie Ethel, who preceded him in death in July, 1891. Besides these children he leaves sixteen grandchildren and six great grandchildren, and a host of other relatives and friends. He was always ready and willing to help others whenever he was physically able. He has been in failing health for years and the last year, since the death of his beloved wife, has been anxiously awaiting the Master's call and has often expressed a desire to go,

He was a member of the Primitive Baptist church and has lived a devoted christian life.

Funeral services were held at the Norwood M. E. church at 11 o'clock on Monday forenoon, Dec. 29 conducted by Rev. Young, assisted by Rev. C. W. Huffman, and burial took place in the Norwood cemetery.

WILLIAM V. CARTER

William V. Carter was born in Center Township, Greene County, Indiana 7 October 1823 under pioneer conditions. James Monroe was president and Indiana had only been admitted into the Union as a state for seven years after General William Henry Harrison had defeated several Indian tribes in the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811. William Carter's parents had come to Indiana in 1811 from Virginia. They were William (Billy) Carter and Lucy Edwards, daughter of Thomas Edwards and Winefred McDaniel. They had seven older children, the oldest being Naoma who was eighteen years old and married to Abraham Young. Besides Naomi, William had three older brothers and three older sisters. The family attended the newly-formed Hebron Baptist Church nearby in Greene County. The minister of the church was Elder George Burch and William's father had been selected as a messenger for the church for 1822.

William's grandfather, Thomas B. Edwards (and his second wife Nancy) had come with William's parents from Virginia. Thomas was now 69 years old and not in the best of health so he and Nancy lived in a small cabin on land owned by Billy Carter. Thomas enjoyed his grandchildren and helped around the place as much as he could. In turn, Billy and Lucy shared any of their earthly possessions with Lucy's father and step-mother. There was still plenty of wild game in the woods for a steady meat supply and the family was clearing out the dense forest along Little Indian Creek so that they might have more land for gardens and crops. They had begun an orchard on the hill to the west of the log cabin. The three older boys were of school age and so they had been attending some school in the winter time.

William would later have two younger brothers (Joel born 22 December 1826 and Harrison born 12 January 1829). At least all the boys were to have enough education so they could read and write and figure basic math.

During the years William had become well acquainted with the children of Alexander Carmichael, who lived nearby. The Carmichaels had moved to Greene County when William was six years old. When Mrs. Carmichael died they had nine children from the ages of 2 to 18 years. They attended the Hebron Church and the same school as the Carters. Alexander Carmichael's second oldest daughter (Sarah Jane) was about six months younger than William and through a period of time William and Sarah Jane became fond of each other. This resulted in their marriage on 23 January 1844. This was when William was twenty years of age and Sarah Jane was nineteen.

It is not quite clear when William and Sarah Jane purchased their first land in Greene County, but they continued to live in Greene County for the first eight years of their married life. James Washington Carter, their oldest child, was born 18 November 1844 and by the 1850 census of Greene County they had two other children: Lucy Jane born in 1846 and William Riley born 20 June 1848. Mary A. was then born 26 December 1850.

On 23 August 1852 William Carter purchased 92.23 acres of land in section 18, Indian Creek Township, Monroe County from his brother-in-law, Abraham Young, and it was on this place that William and Sarah Jane spent the rest of their lives with seven more children having been born to them.

Yours truly has had the privilege of visiting this "home place" and has visited with three people who remembered William Carter. The first was Ollie Carter Sullivan, a granddaughter. She was born 26 July 1891 to Thomas J. Carter (a son of William Carter) and Sarah E. Burch the daughter-in-law who took care of William after the death of Sarah Jane (1897). Ollie was over ten years old when William died and since he lived with her parents, she said she remembered grandpa very well. She said that he was fairly tall and skinny with long white hair. She remembered sitting on his lap and that he kept some pennies, etc. in a can. "He would dig into the can and give out some of the money on certain occasions. he was badly bothered with rheumatism during his last years."

Ralph Carter, a great grandson of William's older brother Thomas, also remembered William. Ralph was born 14 April 1894. Therefore he would have been almost nine years of age when William died. Ralph's folks lived just across the section to the east. Ralph described William similarly as Ollie did and said that he was an industrious man that worked very hard. He said that he and Tommy (Thomas James) worked together. He remembered them raising broome corn and making brooms for sale.

The third person to remember William Carter was Claude Martindale, a grandson (son of Martha Carter, 'Will's' youngest daughter). Claude remembered his grandfather and their home place very well as he had stayed with his grandparents. Claude was born 31 May 1887 so he would have been almost fourteen years old when his grandfather died. However, Claude had left to live in Owen County in July, 1895 so he would have been less than seven years of age when he lived with his grandparents. (See article by Burdette Taylor on ,"A Visit to the William V. Carter Place"). In any case, Claude Martindale, a beloved cousin, 94 years of age remembers his grandfather Carter with much love and emotion. Claude remembered granddad as a good carpenter. Actually one can see that by observing the summer kitchen which was still standing. He must also have been a good stone mason, too, as one observes the rock in the foundation for the summer kitchen and the rock for the vegetable and fruit cellar dug into the hillside near the spring.

William V. Carter's oldest son (my grandfather) was a good gardener and I can imagine that he learned it from his father as they stored fruits and vegetables in the cellar for winter. I noticed the cellar and area of the spring was one of the first places where Claude Martindale re-visited to bring back the childhood memories. Claude mentioned the hogs that William V. raised along with the making of sorghum... the house, the barn, the orchard on the hill. One can see that life was much different than present day standards, but William V. Carter and Sarah Jane Carmichael Carter raised 11 children on this farm. They were not rich in monetary measurements, but they seemed to be rich in the qualities that exemplify the best of Christian living. Those were the qualities exemplified in the children.

Yours truly was just thinking that it must have been a sad day in the spring of 1890 when the oldest son, James W. Carter, and his wife Eliza Jane Uland Carter and family of seven children boarded the emigrant train which took them from Indiana to Gage County, Nebraska. William and Sarah Jane had already bid good-bye to their second oldest son, William Riley, and his family who had gone to Gage County in 1879. James W. (Wash) had been teaching school and farming part-time but he was 45 years of age and he had decided that with his family, ranging from 2 to 20 years, there would be more opportunities for them in Nebraska. Therefore, no matter how painful it was "Wash" and Eliza Jane decided that it was time to make the move and with their faith in the Lord they knew they would all join each other anyway in Heaven. The smallest of the family was Charles Otis (Sr.), age two. He was just beginning to talk and listen to what others had to say. On the morning of departure, it has been passed down through the years that two year old Charles Otis said, "Good-bye, grandpa, good-bye grandma, we'll never see you again!" It seems that he had a pretty clear understanding of the future. Yes, they communicated by letter at least until after the death of William and Sarah Jane and Tommy (Thomas James) in 1904. But actually no single member of Wash's family or their descendants had ever gotten back to Indiana until one warm August day in 1971 when yours truly and family got back to the old Indiana Hills where his ancestors had lived -- where his father was born and had said, "Good-bye, we'll never see you again." It was satisfying to visit the Carmichael Cemetery, the Carter Cemetery, and drive up the Carter Road to look down the old lane to see the area of the William Carter place, to see where the Carter School had stood -- the school that grandfather , Wash Carter, taught in 1880. It was also so satisfying to visit with relatives such as the Ralph Carters, Myrtle Cole, Ocea and Guy Carmichael, Dennie Bays, and others who could fill in some of the missing years. Yes, it was satisfying to see Little Indian Creek, the Hebron Church, the Billy Carter bible, Billy Carter's anvil, etc. It was satisfying to hear about the Old Billy Carter Mill.

Sarah Jane Carmichael Carter died 24 June 1897 and was buried in the Carmichael Cemetery. William V. died 4 January 1902 and was also buried in the Carmichael Cemetery. They were preceeded in death by three daughters and one son. They were survived by two older sons, J. Washington and Wm. Riley who had moved to Nebraska, Joseph Jasper of Dugger, Indiana and Thomas J. of Indian Creek Township. They were also survived by three daughters: Mrs. Eliza E. Pickard and Mrs. Margaret McDaniel both of Worthington and Mrs. Martha Martindale Brown of Ellettsville, Indiana. Sarah was survived by two brothers, Solomon E. of Diller, Nebraska and Archibald Carmichael of Greene County Indiana. William was survived by one sister, Mrs. Loucinda Graves of Freedom, Indiana.

Charles O. Carter Jr.

A VISIT TO THE WILLIAM V. CARTER PLACE by Burdette Taylor

It was a day of threatening rain, the first day of my vacation and the first day to meet my cousin Charles Carter from Kansas who had just come to Bloomington from a genealogical tour of Virginia and North Carolina. I had called Claude Martindale and my parents the night before and now for the first time I could see my third great gradnfather's home place about which I have heard so much family folklore. This was my mother's great, great grandfather, Charles' great grandfather and Claude Martindale's grandfather, William V. Carter, Jr.

Claude Clarence was born May 31, 1887 the son of John R. Martindale and Martha Carter who was the daughter of William V. Carter, Jr. Claude was born down the Carmichael Hill on Little Indian Creek in a little log cabin. He left the log house on the creek and moved up the creek to live with his granddad William Carter, Jr. Claude left there in July of 1895 about the time his half-brother Henry died. He went to Owen County, one mile south of Freedom. Later he moved southwest of Ellettsville on the Starnes Road. And now he soon would be returning to that quiet valley of his fondest memories to set foot on the home place of yesteryear.

On our way down Breeden Road Charles was telling Claude that they were first cousins once removed. Claude and Charley agreed that second cousins would do. We were now going west on the Carter Road and turned into the lane where Henry Grubb lived. This proved to be the wrong lane for out behind his barn there used to be the Mart Carmichael home which had burned down about five years ago. The second lane on the left, toward the Green County line, was the home of Rex and Janet Sue Smith.

I went up to the door and spoke with Rex as Charles and Claude walked up. We looked at their abstract while Janet called her grandmother. My parents chose to remain outside. The abstract showed us that this was the old Frank Mood place. Frank was Claude's grandfather's neighbor and Claude's old one-room school teacher at the Carter School back around 1894. Janet's phone call confirmed that south of here was the place we were looking for.

We walked down behind the house, passed a pond to an old road-bed that had succumbed to our times, being shaded by trees and fed by springs. The road-bed was slow walking and my parents were dropping behind, but we had come to a dog-leg to the right and thus knowing the road lay out, decided to leave it and go straight south into the open field. We went up and down a couple of rises and before us stood a hill with catalpa trees surmounting it. It stood vivid in Uncle Claude's mind. I yelled at my parents some place back in that wooded road-bed and Claude and I livened our pace while Charles was already up that rise in amongst those trees. "This is it," he said!

The three-room house had long since vanished, but the summer kitchen remained with its vine-covered walls and red blossoms that only the hummingbirds seem to visit. Claude began to talk about those golden days of yesterday. The shell of the summer kitchen fascinated him -- some of the widest poplar boards we had ever seen, weathered to perfection as old William was and Claude now is. Claude showed us a hole in the northwest corner where there was a rod to slide back and forth out of the reach of children, I suppose. The rod went through the wall to lock and unlock the west door of the smoke-house in the north end of the building. It contained a wood shed and had a built-up wood to brick chimney in the middle. The log sills rested on fieldstone rocks. Off to the west of the kitchen about 25 feet had been the three-room house. Claude said, "It had a living room on the west, a bedroom on the eastin which he had slept in a trundle bed. A lean-to kitchen went across the north end which was close to the garden and a front porch across the south end." In our possession is a picture showing William Carter in a rocking chair on the porch.

We had already looked at the house and Charley and I were at the cellar while Claude was reliving his youth down in that deep wooded gully below the cellar, perhaps looking for that 'spring of life' which had nurished him and the farm life eighty-five years ago. Claude was all over the gully and the farm. We couldn't keep up with him. I heard my parents call from up at the old house. It was beginning to rain lightly, but no one seemed to care, except for picture taking. We finally got everybody together at the summer kitchen and took pictures, one of them being a four generation shot. Down at the cellar Claude was telling everybody that the cellar had a gable roof and that he had been in it many times. The stones in it were cut out by hand with a pick, and that his grandfather had done the work. The roof on all the buildings had been clapboard which had been rived (cleaved) out with a froe.

Who was this man William Carter? We know that he was the son of old William Carter, Sr. from old Virginia who homesteaded in 1817 about two miles south of this homeplace. The 1875 Early Greene County History book tells us ...."Uncle William Carter was born in Old Virginia, and came to Greene County about fifty-seven years ago, and then built a house, entered the land, made the farm and set out the old orchard and lived out his days at the place where his son, Wm. Carter, now lives." Claude said that only once did his granddad speak of old Wm. Carter, Sr. -- that he was so ungodly strict and that he couldn't see any call for it and that we worked long hours and if there ~~were~~ any time left we might play. Wm. Carter, Sr. sold to Wm. Jr. on the 4 of March 1847 -- NW$\frac{1}{4}$ NW$\frac{1}{4}$ containing forty acres in section 31, Indian Creek Township.

In August of 1852, Wm. Jr. purchased from Abraham Young (his brother-in-law) the E$\frac{1}{2}$ SW$\frac{1}{4}$ and SW$\frac{1}{4}$ SW$\frac{1}{4}$ section 18 containing about ninety-three acres. He sold in January, 1897 the ninety-three acres to his daughter-in-law so that she might keep him the rest of his days. He passed away 4 January 1902, only seven years after Claude had left to go to Owen County, yet Claude would return eighty-five years later (while still very agile). He best summed it up by saying his granddad was a most serious person, not much foolishness. He had that far-away look in his eyes but yet he could become like a child -- playful and very entertaining.

Claude wanted to show us something over the hill south of the house down about where the spring water came out of the wooded gully into the open field. We all went down there to see what he had to tell us and he pointed to the spot where he was standing and said, "When I was a child, I stood here and told myself there wasn't any God and that God didn't make all of this, and I said, 'He did--didn't, did--didn't, but I made you!' This was the point of my conversion and I've served Him ever since." There was quietness and he pointed out from where we were standing to the low land down the spring branch saying, "There were two ponds into which the spring flowed. (We could see where the ponds used to be as green lilies were growing there now) "The sorghum cane mill laid west of the ponds and around the first pond was a hog pen. Granddad had made sorghum and left it set over the weekend. So one morning he poured the skimmings off the sorghum into the hog trough and soon the hogs got drunk. They leaned against each other, couldn't walk right and carried on something awful. They were the happiest hogs that I had ever seen as they sat back on their tails and looked up at the sky. I will never forget that as long as I live."

We went over to where the barn used to stand and we could see the undulations where the drive came in from the county-line road up the small rise to the farm. There we could see the hill to the east where Claude remembered the old orchard of his granddad. "The catalpa trees were set out by him and I guess I got my woodworking skills from him for he could build anything with wood. One day while going through the barnyard gate he had let me out to open the gate and I had been a little slow in minding him. I didn't open the gate wide enough and he caught the back wheel hub on the gate. I knew then that I was on thin ice." On the way back Claude picked up a daisy and put it in his shirt button-hole while remarking to Charles that they grew here 85 years ago. I wonder if Claude isn't the image of Wm. Carter, Jr.?

The following Saturday I made the trip again but this time I had my son David with whom I was to go berry picking later in the day. We made it quickly this time for we knew a shorter route. We were out in the field from the first bend of the old road-bed -- David, myself and the Smith coon dog. We saw Bruce Demshar mowing with the 'brush-hog'. He joined us at the cellar and I told him what we were up to and he was very helpful. Bruce stayed with us about an hour, told us that his dad had hauled some of the cellar stones away about five years ago for something. He said he didn't like to see old things destroyed. He said the roof and everything of the cellar had been intact then and that he would mail me a copy of the abstract of this place, and that someday he had hoped to buy it from Mike, his father. He said he would clean out the old spring -- and I stated I haven't seen the spring yet. Bruce then led us from the cellar down the path to the spring. Bruce, David, myself and dog found the cup and drank good water. I took several pictures, made some notes and started to leave. While telling David that this would be a great place to have a picnic, he was telling me, "a great place to live".....

"I DON'T WANT TO GO TO HEAVEN
IF THERE ARE NO HORSES THERE"

The horse is just an animal
   So proud and kind, so fair
He will treat you as his equal
   He'll stand up so firm and square;
He will be just what you make him
   I hope that you don't error
I don't want to go to Heaven
   If there are no horses there.

He will give you joy and happiness
   And do you the best he can
If only you have patience
   And treat him like a man.
And when the time comes for parting
   The answer's already there,
I don't want to go to Heaven
   If there are no horses there.

You'll find no better companion
   And yes, no better friend;
He will pack you through the storms
   The rain, the snow until the end
So be kind to your pony
   And give him the best of care;
I don't want to go to Heaven
   If there are no horses there.

by William Glenn (Bill) Stewart

A rather queer thing, Glenn bred and raised purebred Quarter Horses. The last day he went down to the barn to see his horses before he died, his favorite Stallion dropped dead in the barn door, before him.

Land of James W. and Eliza Jane Uland Carter, Greene County, Indiana

(1) Sold 1 Nov.1872 40 A. to Hiram P. Burch

(2) Sold 16 May 1885 to Anderson Cornelius 103 A.
Originally awardedto Nancy Uland from John Uland's Estate
(Anderson Cornelius married Carey Uland, an older sister to Eliza Jane).

(3) Purchased by Eliza Jane Carter 15 June 1886 from John R. Martindale and Martha.
This must have been the place where Charles O. Carter Sr. was born
This included the Martinale School and was in the same section as the Carmichael Cemetery. 'Wash' Carter probably taught school at the Martindale School.
On 16 Oct. 1888 a mortgage was signed for $125.00 due in 5 years for the Common School Fund at 6%interest due annually. This was less than 2 years before the family moved to Nebraska. On 20 July 1899 the land was sold for taxes to George A. Martindale and Bethanie Carmichael Martindale the father of Curtis Martindale. George was son of Ralph (John B., Daniel, Daniel), and Bethanie(Delia) who was daughter of Charles(Alexander, Arch). This was part of John B. Martindale's original land (patented 9 Feb 1837). Abraham Young, Uncle to James W. owned 40 A. adjoining the south side in 1879.

JAMES WASHINGTON CARTER

"Wash" Carter was born November 18, 1844 in Center Township, Greene County, Indiana. He was the oldest child of William (Will) Carter and Sarah Jane Carmichael. From the old "Wash" Carter family bible he married Eliza Jane Uland on November 12, 1868 at Millie Bays Burch's, near Solsberry in Greene County. "Wash" had moved with his parents to Indian Creek Township, Monroe County, Indiana when he was eight years old and it was there on his parents' farm that he grew up and received most of his education. From the time of his marriage in 1868 to 1890 (when the family left for Nebrasha) "Wash" Carter taught at various schools in Greene and Monroe Counties and owned land in section 5, 9 and 24 in Center Township of Greene County (see land of James W. Carter and Eliza Jane Uland Carter). In the 1884 History of Monroe County Indiana J. W. Carter is listed as teacher of school district No. 9 This was the new Carter school built on section 17, Indian Creek Township, Monroe County.

From the time of their marriage to 1890, "Wash" and Eliza Jane had eight children, however Sarah E. born August 20, 1872 died January 12, 1873. This left four girls and three boys from two to twenty years of age at the time the family left for Nebraska. "Wash" and Eliza Jane Uland Carter had both been born in Greene County and had spent their lives so far with many relatives and friends of the area, but they had now decided that it was time to move to Nebraska to take advantage of what appeared greater opportunities for themselves and their family. It can be imagined that "Wash" at 46 years-of-age was becoming tired of teaching school at rather low salaries. It had been a struggle to feed and clothe a family of nine even though they had farmed part-time and had been raising a garden and some livestock. An added reason for moving was the fear that "Wash" would get consumption(now known as T.B.) in the moist climate of Indiana. He had been told that he would have to leave for a drier climate. "Consumption" was prevalent in the area of Greene and Monroe Counties at that time. (In any case he never got consumption and lived a full and rewarding life with his Liza Jane in Nebraska).

So it was in the fall of 1890 the family loaded the household goods, the machinery, the horses, the chickens, and the other livestock into a railroad car. It is not certain but it is very probable that a farm south of Beatrice, Nebraska had already been rented through relatives and friends who had already gone to Nebraska in previous years. With a sad and sentimental departure with Grandma and Grandpa Carter and other relatives and friends the "Wash" Carter family boarded the train for Gage County. On the train was a "walking" plow that is now in possession of Charles Carter, Jr. a grandson who lives at Chanute, Kansas. Also, the "Wash" Carter family bible which contained the family birth, marriage and death records was carefully packed with some of the family personal possessions. The bible is now in possession of a grandson, Homer Carter, who lives at Missouri Valley, Iowa.

Upon arriving in Nebraska they were not completely strangers and so they renewed acquaintances with some that had come before them. The children were old enough to help on the farm and so everyone pitched in as they made a new start. Conditions were different in Nebraska and so life was not easy on a rented farm. Lilly Belle the oldest child of the family then 20 years-of-age accepted a school teaching job at Blue Valley School. There she met John Ridgley of Jefferson County. So after completing almost two years of teaching they were married March 14, 1892 in Gage County, Nebraska. Charles Carter, Sr. born January 23, 1888 remembered starting to school at the Lower Scicly School, District 77. This was in 1894. The school now abandoned was four miles west and one mile south of Wymore, Nebraska. It was September 7, 1895 that the second oldest daughter, Marie, married Ephriham Pelton. After living south of Beatrice (southwest of Wymore) the family moved to Hoag, Nebraska, which is northwest of Beatrice. It was near Hoag where William Riley, a younger brother, had worked before he had claimed land in Perkins County, Nebraska in 1887. After living at Hoag "Wash" and Eliza Jane longed for a closer relationship with members of the Primitive Baptist Church (see letters of "Wash" and Eliza Jane to the elder parents). A Primitive Baptist Church was located in the area of Cheyney, Nebraska southeast of Lincoln, Lancaster County. From Primitive Baptist friends the family secured a farm and moved in the area of Cheyney before the 1900 census. Charles Sr. has said that they moved so often for a few years that on March 1 (moving day) the chickens would lay down with their legs crossed so they could be tied up for another move.

It was near Cheyney that three more children were married. Edgar in 1899, Rose in 1901, and Dell in 1902. During this period of time "Wash" and Eliza Jane longed for the securing of a farm of their own and so in the spring of 1904 when the U. S. Government opened 640 acres of land to each homesteader in Thomas County the decision was easily made to pack and go. From the records it seems that Oscar an unmarried son was the first member of the family to arrive in the "Sand Hills". His date of entry was May 14, 1904. However, Lilly and her husband, John Ridgely, "Wash" and Edgar followed quickly as they made their entries on June 26 and June 30, 1904. Rose and her husband Claude Dill then finally made an entry on December 22, 1908. It was Claude and Rose's homestead that was finally purchased by "Wash" and then 1917 by Charles Sr. after "Wash's" death. (See land map of Thomas County, Nebraska). This land was approximately five miles west and four miles north of Thedford, Nebraska. It laid northeast of Norway and almost straight east of Seneca, Nebraska. The third so-in-law, William Stewart, was apparently the last of the "family" to make a homestead entry, 4 April 1911, in Sections 19, 25, and 30 located east of the Wash Carter homestead.

"Wash" Carter lived his final eleven and one-half years in the "Sand Hills". Here he, as well as his three sons and two son-inlaws, "proved up" on their homesteads. So they achieved their goal of land ownership. However conditions in the sand hills were different than Indiana or Gage County, and so there was again a big adjustment. In 1904 many families from many areas of the country made land claims. Some were ready and capable of surviving and others were not. The "Wash" Carter family was capable of surviving but the ranch life, some distance from town, wasn't just what they had hoped for. The settlers were composed of many fine hard-working people and the joys of fellowship in a new county were great. The land had a good tall grass prairie with wonderful water that could be secured almost any place by punching down a pipe through the sand into a "bed of water". However many of the settlers had come from various farming areas and so they plowed up considerable prairie to plant corn, rye, and other farm crops. Most of these didn't do very well in the sandy soil. They did find that potatoes, watermelons and some other garden crops grew large. However, where the prairie was destroyed the hard-blowing wind made "blow-outs". During the fall and spring there was danger of a prairie fire in the dry grasses. The settlers had to plow a fire break around their buildings to prevent them from being destroyed. That was a fear that seemed to be ever present. Also, the winds blew hard in the winter time during snow storms and on the almost treeless prairie the wind and snow caused blizzards that were dangerous to any living creature that was exposed. The cyotes howled loudly at night and the sandburrs grew tall and vicious. Although Kansas is the Sunflower State the sand hills of Nebraska were beautiful with their fall color of sunflowers in August and September and the tall grasses are beautiful in the spring and summer especially when they feed herds of plump, satisfied Hereford and Angus cattle.

Oscar Carter the second son married Pearl Wyatt in 1907 which meant that all the children were on their own except for the youngest, Charles Sr. He continued to live with his parents except for a time that he proved his claim between 1909 and 1913. "Wash" and Eliza Jane had sent Charles Sr. to a business college at Beatrice, Nebraska, but he quit as he decided that kind of business wasn't for him. Instead he wanted to farm (and ranch). Claude Dill, "Wash's" son-in-law had patented his claim December 16, 1912, but he decided he would sell his claim even though he had an almost new house and other improvements. It was at this time that "Wash" and his youngest son Charley decided to go into partnership. Charley was able to do most of the work but it was on November 27, 1915 while driving some cattle that Grandpa "Wash" Carter collapsed and died from an apparent hear attack at 71 years-of-age.

During the school year 1913-14, the Dill Valley School teacher had come north and west from Washington County, Kansas. Her name was Ellen Agnes McCawley, daughter of William McCawley and Mary Jane Cain. Her uncle, George Cain, had written to her of an opening at the Dill Valley School and she had promised her mother that she would not accept the job unless she could stay at the nearest house. The nearest house was the Claude Dill place but occupied by Dell and William Stewart, "Wash" and Eliza Jane's youngest daughter and son-in-law. They had three children attending school. They were Harold, Glen, and Marie. The "Wash" Carters lived to the south on "Wash's" homestead. With "Wash" there lived three of his grandsons, Willard, Cecil and Homer sons of "Ed" Carter whose wife was sick. Also with "Wash" and Eliza Jane was their youngest son Charley who was 25 years-of-age and on the school board even though he was still single.

For the school year of 1914-15 Ellen McCawley was again hired to teach the Dill Valley School, but in the meantime the Bill Stewarts had moved to another place nearby and the "Wash" Carter family (including the grandsons) had secured and moved into the Claude Dill place. It was this year that Ellen and Charley became "better acquainted". The dining room was made into a bedroom to make room for boarding the teacher.

For the school year of 1915-16 Ellen accepted another school in the area near where she stayed, but it was this fall that "Wash" died and so it was an easy decision for Ellen and Charley to go to Grand Island, Nebraska and get married on December 28, 1915 during her Christmas vacation. She then resigned her teaching job after six and one-half years of teaching (4 years in Kansas). Charley who was in partnership with his parents settled up with his mother on everything except the real estate and Eliza Jane soon went to live with her daughter Marie and granddaughter Evangeline. Marie and her husband had been divorced. It was then in 1917 that Charley and Ellen borrowed the money to purchase the 800-acre ranch from his mother. Eliza Jane then purchased a house in Wymore, Nebraska where she lived for several years before going to live with her daughter, Marie, whose daughter, Evangeline, had died of the flu and pneumonia October 8, 1918 while she was a senior at Nebraska University. Eliza Jane loaned her daughter some money with the promise that she would be taken care of the rest of her life.

"Wash" had been buried in the cemetery at Thedford, Nebraska where the family erected a beautiful stone memorial. Ellen Carter the daughter-in-law has described "Wash" as a gentle, loving man, not easy to excite with many friends (see obituary from the front page of the Thomas County Herald).

Eliza Jane Uland Carter died May 30, 1932 while visiting her daughter, Dell, who lived at Hickman, Nebraska. Her body was not sent back to Thedford, but is buried with Evangeline, a granddaughter in Plot 267 Section 17 in the Wyuka Cemetery at Lincoln Nebraska. Marie Stewart Anderson Ellis, a daughter of William and Dell Stewart, born 3 Nov.1906 remembers her grandparents very well when they lived with them in 1913-14 and otherwise. I quote her,"I do not have a picture of grandpa Carter, but I Can see him in my mind as he came down the stairs with his ear-tabs down and his cap on top of his head with his gray mustache. Grandma would ask him how he felt. He would reply in his sympathetic voice, NOT VERY GOOD LIZA JANE,and grandma would reply that she got so tired of hearing that every morning. I remember grandma carding and working with wool. Grandpa made sorghum mollasses(as did his father).I remember grandpa's body was placed in the coffin and left in the living room(on the Claude Dill Place). After grandpa died grandma left the sandhills but then she came back in 1918 to sell the land that she still owned. She lived in a DUG OUT for awhile. After selling the place she bought the place in Wymore, Nebraska".

Charles Jr. was born October 23, 1916 almost a year after the death of his grandfather, "Wash" Carter. Charles Jr. however remembers the sand hills of Thomas County Nebraska very well and also remembers well his grandmother Eliza Jane Uland Carter. Charles remembers visiting the"home place" at Thedford which was not sold until 31 March 1947 (see land record). He also remembers visiting and visits by grandma Carter from 1921 to 1932. Whereas "Wash" is described as the soft-spoken gentle man

Charles remembers his grandmother as a more nervous individual that was excitable under certain conditions. Her visit to Morrowville, Kansas is particularly remembered sometime in the late 1920's. She came in on the evening Burlington train. It was a coal-fired steamer. The whole family came to greet grandma after the train had churned its way to the station and after the clanging of the bell and the release of excess steam. Grandma was quite a talker as was her baby (Charley) and so they did lots of talking during the visit. It can only be wished that she could have been asked more questions and the answers recorded for prosterity. She did describe the fact that her mother had died while she was small and then later after re-marrying her father had died. She told how the younger children had to live with relatives and friends until they too were married. I know from her talk how much she loved her family. She would tell about their successes and their hardships. She had twenty-four grandchildren at the time of her death with several great grandchildren and one great, great grandchild. (See picture under Lilly Belle, the oldest daughter) (Also see History and genealogy of the Jonas Uland Family)

THOMAS COUNTY HEROLD, VOLUME XVIII

THEDFORD, THOMAS COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1915

GOOD CITIZEN GONE

J. W. Carter Died Suddenly Saturday Evening.

James W. Carter for the past several years a resident of Thomas county passed away very suddenly Saturday afternoon. He was choring about the place and apparently as well as usual when Mrs. Carter saw him fall. She sent the little grandson to see what the trouble was, which proved to be death.

Dr. Overmass was called but it was of no avail. The funeral service was conducted by E. D. Gideon Monday at the Congregational church. A large congregation assembled to pay their last respects to one whom all held in high esteem. The body was interred in the Thedford cemetery.

The following historical sketch tells of his life here and his hopes of the beyond.

All the children were in attendance at the funeral except J. O. Carter of Minature who was detained by sickness in his home.

James W. Carter was born in Monroe Co. Ind., Nov. 18th, 1844, died Nov. 27th, 1915 being 71 years 9 days old

He grew to manhood in this part of the state and received a hope in Christ early in life and believed in salvation by grace and grace alone.

He was married to Eliza J. Uland Nov. 12, 1868, and moved to Nebr. in 1890, and united with the Old School Baptist Church at Cheney, Nebraska, in 1899 and remained a true and faithful member of that church till the Lord saw fit to call him home. Always believing in the Gospel as set up by Christ and the Apostles without adding anything or taking anything away from it.

Besides the widow the deceased leaves 7 children to mourn their loss. Mrs. Lilly B. Ridgley of Odell, Mrs. Marie Pelton, of Lincoln, W. E. Carter, of Nebraska City, J. O. Carter, of Minitaro, Mrs. Rose Dill, of Broken Bow, Mrs. Della M. Stewart, of Thedford, all in Nebraska.

He was a kind and indulgent husband and father respected and loved by all who knew him.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dill who were in attendanc at the funeral of J. W. Carter, returned to Broken Bow the first of the week where they are spending the winter. Edgar Carter also returned to his home at Nebraska City, Tuesday. Mrs. Riegley and Mrs. Pelton will remain for sometime with their mother.

Ellen A. M^c^Cawley was the first teacher in the new Dill Valley School. Charley Carter was the Director. The land was donated by Claude and Rose Carter Dill.

CLAIR CARTER(JACK) DILL

Jack and Violet Swenson were married on September 19th, 1931, and to them two children, Jackie and Jim, were born. And to them have come six wonderful grandchildren - Alan and Dianne, Jackie's children, and Beth, James, Jr., Bob, and Billy, Jim's children.

Jack and Vi enjoyed bowling, and loved to dance. They were very active in square dancing for many years, and never missed a chance to attend the square dance festivities at Halsey National Park, where as a youth of 17 or 18 years Jack had helped build the concrete road that runs through the forest. They worshiped together regularly at Southeast Presbyterian Church. Jack was a forty-year member of the Masonic Order.

Jack loved Lincoln. He had come here as a boy from the Nebraska Sand Hills, and had attended school in Bethany and at the State Farm. After stydying accounting at the Nebraska Business College, he took his first job at the Nebraska State Bank.

Having lived in Omaha for a while, and having worked at the Mead Ordinance Plant during World War II, Jack brought his family back to Lincoln, his old hometown, where he could walk down the streets and never fail to run into someone he knew. It was then he began his thirty-year association with the Lincoln Terminal Company.

It is with deep gratitude to God that we remember now that He gave Jack to us all on the 25th day of May, 1906, in the little town of Norway, Nebraska ...
And when all was said and done, Jack had lived the life God had given him to the fullest. Some people, as you know, hold life in the palms of their hands and ponder it, wondering what in the world to do with it. Not Jack! There was never any question in his mind; he knew precisely what to do with it - live it! And with evergy and enthusiasm he plunged into all he did ...

I'm told that at many a square dance the callers would announce as Jack and Vi came in: "Well, folks, the Dills are here; we can get started now!" As if to say the necessary people are here to bring life to this party ...

And when it came to his work, Jack gave more than his share ... But more than that, he delighted in giving more than his share. He use to say: "If I didn't have something to do when I get up in the morning, what would be the use of getting up at all?"

And I know personally how much we relied on him at the church. Without being disrespectful, many of us felt Jack was the guru of Southeast Presbyterian Church ... When we needed our questions answered about some area of the church's practical life, Jack was one of the persons we would turn to because we knew that if he didn't know the answers himself, he wouldn't rest until he found them ...
But Jack's greatest enthusiasm was for his family ... How refreshing it is in today's world of broken family relationships to find a man who openly rejoiced in his family! An acquaintance of the family has observed that Jack was one of the few fathers she knew who honestly cared about what his kids were doing ... And toward his grandchildren, he had an over-flowing love. A plaque I saw on a wall not long ago read: "Grandchildren are God's way of compensating us for old age." I don't think Jack would have seen it that way; he probably would have changed the wording to read: "Grandchildren are God's way of keeping us young!"

Jack really loved life, and when it ended for him, he was as busy as ever putting forth his hand to take it by the tail ... His sharp mind and keen wit were as busily involved as they had ever been, and he died, to borrow a phrase from the Sand Hills where he began his life, " ... with his boots on ... " And old Irish blessing ends with this phrase: " ... and may you be in heaven a half hour before the devil knows you're dead!" I like to think that on the average day it would take the devil an hour and a half just to catch up to Jack, let alone to find out what he was doing!

There's a parable in Jack's life for us all, I think ... Someome has said: "Life is God's gift to us. What we do with it is our gift to God." Can you think of anything better to do with a life than to fill it with industry and fun and love for others? What greater way is there to say thanks to God for the precious experience of existing? When life begins to get a little out of focus for us, and the day's drudgery begins to get us down, it might help us all to remember the man who " ... put forth his hand and took it by the tail ... "

Evangeline Pelton

Evangeline Pelton died at the University Woman's Building in Lincoln Tuesday noon, October 8, 1918, of pneumonia. She was born at Pickerell, Nebraska, August 27, 1897. Her high school course was completed at Broken Bow in 1915 and at the time of her death she was a senior at the State University.

She had become unusually prominent in many social activities being secretary of the senior advisory board and an active member of the Y. W. C. A. and W. S. G. A. and Student Guild of the Presbyterian church.

Her life was a beautiful unfolding of a noble christian character consistent in every detail from babyhood. Her last few hours seemed to be accompanied by a strange, but wonderful happiness. Her departure as well as her whole life was an inspiration to all for as the end drew near, she repeated many lines from the 14th chapter of St. John and said, "God is Love." Her cheerful and amiable disposition won her many friends and she will be sadly missed by all.

JOHN OSCAR CARTER

Son of James W. and Eliza Jane Carter, was born in Green Co., Ind., on Jan. 8, 1880. When eleven years of age he moved with his parents to Nebraska, where he made his home until in 1921.

On April 8, 1907 he was married to Miss Pearl M. Wyatt, also of Nebraska. To this union were born two daughters, Martha and Catherine. He together with his wife joined the Primitive Baptist church at York, Neb., in 1916. In 1921 he moved with his family to Andrew Co., Mo., residing on a farm just north of Savannah until his health failed, when he moved to Savannah, where he has since resided. He placed his membership in the First Nodaway church in Savannah.

After a lingering illness of several years he passed away at his home Saturday morning, June 25, 1932, aged 52 years, 5 months and 17 days.

His mother preceded him in death about three weeks which was a severs shock to him in his weakened condition. Besides his wife and daughters he leaves to mourn his departure, three sisters, Lillie Ridgley and Marie Berg, both of Wymore, Neb., and Della Stewart, of Hickman, Neb.; and two brothers, Charles, of Morrowville, Kans., and Edward, of LaPort, Colo.

Mrs. Mary Antram Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Mary Antram passed away at her home in Wymore quite suddenly last Friday night. She had been ill but it was not thought that her condition was serious.

The daughter of John and Lily Ridgley, she was born in Gage county, Nebr., on March 23, 1898. With the exception of a few years spent in Beatrice and Lincoln, Mae (as she was called by her friends) spent all her life in the Wymore community.

She was married to Fred Yockel in young womanhood and to this union were born five children.

In 1936 she was married to Lester Antram, who preceded her in death in November, 1948.

Children surviving are: three sons, Dick of Wymore, Bob of Liberty and Paul of Englewood, Colo.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Trumble of Enid, Okla. There are six grandsons, nine granddaughters and one great granddaughter. One sister, Mrs. Faye Jimerson lives in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Antram was baptized at the Wymore Church of Christ on October 9, 1949 and had been as faithful as her health allowed until the time of her death.

Funeral services were held from the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Kenneth Hoschouer officiating. Burial was in the Wymore cemetery. Laughlin Funeral Home was in charge of the services.

Nick Antram Passed Away

Lester George (Nick) Antram passed away Tuesday evening at the age of 63 years. An employee of the Burlington for the past 48 years, he has made his home in Wymore for 38 years. Illness made it necessary for him to leave his work a couple months ago.

Mr. Antram is survived by his wife, May; one son, Floyd, of Whittier, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Helen Fredericks, Glendale, Calif., Mrs. Fern Kreclon, Atchison, Kans., Mrs. Hazel Fulton, El Monte, Calif.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 from the Miller Funeral Home with burial in the Wymore cemetery.

Wyola M. Blasing succumbs to illness

Mrs. Wyola Marie Balsing, 24, who had recently moved to Palo Alto with her husband and two sons, died this morning in the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital Center after a recent illness.

She and her husband, Richard E. Blasing, had moved to 736 Florales Drive, Palo Alto, three months ago, after Mr. Blasing was graduated from Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo. He is employed as an electrical engineer at Dymec, a division of Hewlett-Packard.

MRS. BLASING was a member of Grace Lutheran Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons, Robert E. and Raymond R. Blasing of Palo Alto; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold I. Stewart of Colorado Springs, Colo.; and two brothers, Harley Stewart of Colorado Springs and Bill Stewart of Denver.

She was a native of Estes Park, Colo.

Funeral services will be Friday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of Roller and Hapgood, 980 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto. Interment will be in Alta Mesa Memorial Park. The Rev. Ray Farness of the Grace Lutheran Church will officiate.

Mrs. Blasing Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Wyola Blasing, wife of Richard Blasing, who was graduated in electrical engineering from Colorado State University in August. She died in the Stanford Hospital at Palo Al[illegible] Calif., Tuesday after a three-[illegible]h illness.

Mrs. Blasing was a niece of Mrs. Marie Ellis and Glenn Stewart of Fort Collins. She is survived also by two sons, aged 5 and 2; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart of Colorado Springs; two brothers, and her grandmother, Mrs. Della Stewart of this city.

She was born in Estes Park in 1936 and attended Fort Collins schools at various times.

Soldier is Lost By Drowning

Pfc. Joseph W. Stewart, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Stewart of 430 Garfield street, was drowned late yesterday while swimming near West Yarmouth, Mass. It is presumed that Private Stewart, who was stationed at Camp Edwards as a member of the Engineer Amphibian command, was with a group of fellow soldiers on a week-end outing.

Prior to entering the service, Private Stewart had been employed at the Fort Collins High school for six years. He was active in young people's work in the churches and took a prominent part in Christian Endeavor society activities at the Christian church.

He was born Nov. 6, 1911, at Seneca, Neb., and attended school in Lincoln and Hickman, Neb., being graduated from the latter high school. He enlisted in the Army last July 7 and reported almost immediately at Camp Edwards, his station at the time of his death.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Harold I. Stewart of Denver and Glen Stewart of Fort Collins, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Anderson of Fort Collins.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Balmer-Collins mortuary. Tentative plans are for a military service at the Christian church.

HAS ELEVEN GRANDPARENTS

Wymore Baby Competes With Small Fellow Citizen.

WYMORE—Shirley Elaine Walbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Walbridge, is only a few weeks old but already she knows what feminine rivalry is.

Shirley Elaine holds the record of being 1932's only leap year baby here and she has no less than nine grandparents. But now comes Marion Irene Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones of Wymore, and who has a grandfather and grandmother less than thirty-five years of age, is the fifth generation and has a total of eleven grandparents. Her oldest great-great-grandmother has not attained the age of eighty, and Marion's mother is barely seventeen.

Here is some of Marion's genealogy: Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, Wymore; Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jimmerson, Wymore; Mrs. Jimmerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ridgley, Wymore; Mrs. Ridgley's mother, Mrs. E. J. Carter, Wymore; Mr. Jimmerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Jimmerson, Denver.

Her father's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, Wymore; Mrs. Jones' father is Harve Ullom, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mr. Jones' mother, Mrs. Susie Jones, Pueblo.

C. O. CARTER, SR.

C. O. (Charley) was born January 27, 1888 in Center Township, Greene County, Indiana. He was the youngest of eight children born to James "Wash" Carter and Eliza Jane Uland. His father was a "Hoosier Schoolmaster". At the age of two he had moved with his family from Indiana to a farm south of Beatrice, Nebraska. It had been a sad departure from Grandparents and friends in Indiana. Charley had said, "Good-bye Grandpa, Good-bye Grandma, we'll never see you again." The older sister, Lilly, age 20 started teaching school that fall after arriving in Nebraska and then married John Ridgely in 1892. In Nebraska life wasn't easy on a rented farm. Charley started to school in the fall of 1894 at District 77, Lower Scicly School built in 1884. It was similar to the one-room rural schools all over the nation. It seems the family moved to several different farms over a period of about fourteen years. After living south of Beatrice the family moved to Hoag, Nebraska northwest of Beatrice, and then later the family moved to Cheyney, Nebraska southeast of Lincoln.

While moving around there was a longing for the ownership of a farm so the family could establish themselves in one neighborhood. Therefore, when the Kincaid Act was passed and the opportunity to homestead 640 acres of land arose, the family did not hestitate in making their claim in the sandhills of Thomas County, Nebraska. Charley was then 16 years-of-age. He wasn't old enough to establish a homestead of his own at that time, but he had completed his eighth grade education and he was ready and willing to work with his Dad on the "new ranch". It was during this period of time that Charley entered Beatrice Business College to get a business education. It was his older sister Marie who insisted that he go to the business college and he stayed with her while attending. He was a good-looking, energetic young man and he certainly could have done well in the business world. However, after attending business college for a while it was Charley's decision that that kind of business wasn't for him so he went back home and then homesteaded his own 640 acres from 1909 to 1913. (see land records)

It was in 1913 that a young lady, Ellen McCawley, from Kansas accepted the teaching job at the Dill Valley School. She had promised her mother that she would not accept the job unless she could stay in the house nearby. The Bill Stewarts lived nearby and so she stayed with them the first winter, but the "Wash" Carters moved to the place in 1914 and kept the teacher. Since Charley the youngest son was in partnership with his father, Charley and Ellen got quite well acquainted. Wash (Charley's father) now in his seventies collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack on November 27, 1915 while helping drive cattle. He was buried in the cemetery at Thedford, Nebraska about four miles south and five miles east of the "home place" originally homesteaded by Claude Dill, a brother-in-law.

After Wash's death it wasn't difficult for Charley and Ellen to make the decision to get married and on December 28, 1915 they made a trip to Grand Island, Hall County, Nebraska where they were married on their way to Hollenberg, Kansas where Ellen's family lived. After a personal property settlement with the estate of Wash Carter, Charley and Ellen took over the ranch which they then purchased in 1917.

It was on October 23, 1916 that Charles, Jr. was born to Charley and Ellen and then on December 6, 1917 a daughter, Mary Ellen, was born. Two more daughters followed: Mildred Alice born April 11, 1919 and Marcella Rosina January 10, 1921. During this period the Carter family prospered. Eliza Jane in her sixties lived with her children but decided to get a home of her own in Wymore, Nebraska back in Gage County. Despite the accumulation of more machinery and livestock Charley and Ellen were not quite satisfied with their life on a sandhill ranch of now 800 acres. She didn't like the long distance from town despite the many neighbors and friends and he longed for the ability to do more farming. The sandhills were good for grass, but not so good for the growing of various agricultural crops. Under such conditions it was decided that they should move back to southern Nebraska or Kansas. So in the fall of 1921 the Charley Carter family loaded everything into a railroad car and the family packed into a 1917 Ford touring car and moved to a farm near Steele City, Nebraska. The farm had been rented from friends of Ellen's parents who lived over the line in Washington County, Kansas.

The family lived three years near Steele City. Mark W. was born March 18, 1924. It was here that Charles, Mary Ellen and Mildred started to school. In the fall of 1924 Charley and Ellen decided it was time to get another place of their own so after looking at several places for sale it was decided that 160 acres in Coleman Township, Washington County, Kansas about 6½ miles southwest of Morrowville was about what was wanted and so it was purchased. The family moved on March 1, 1925. The household goods were moved by team and hay rack and wagon. Charles O., Jr. remembers the first day in the new house. The family had driven over in the 1921 Buick. This was to become known as the "Carter Place" and is now owned by Louis Carter and his wife Iola Myers Carter. Louis was born on the farm on May 11, 1927 after Rose Isabelle had been born August 1, 1925.

It was at Morrowville, Kansas that the children continued their elementary education at Rock School and their high school education at Morrowville Rural High School. This farm had good rich soil that produced good crops when the conditions were favorable. Charley was a good hand with livestock and so he maintained a herd of "milking cows" and a flock of chickens to help buy the groceries and pay other "every day" expenses. He then raised hogs and fed cattle to help pay off the mortgage and buy more equipment. This worked well until the big depression and the drouth of the dirty thirties. (1934 was the big drouth year, 1935 was the year of the Kansas dust storms and then 1936 was the year of the grasshoppers.) It was during this period that several farmers lost their places and many moved to the west coast but through sacrifice the Carters were able to keep the interest and taxes paid not only on the Washington County farm but also the 800-acre ranch in Thedford County, Nebraska which they continued to rent. It was not until World War II that the Thedford place was finally sold at a satisfactory price. From this sale more land was purchased in Washington County so that Charley and Ellen ended up owning 630 acres of good farm land, 110 acres of that was on Mill Creek just outside the city limits of Washington, Kansas.

The second oldest son, Mark had taken extremely ill in the fall of 1933. After a period in which he was in critical condition the doctors at Lincoln, Nebraska diagnosed his illness as osteomylitis (infection of the bone). After many surgeries Mark's health recovered but the disease left him crippled and deaf. Despite his handicaps Mark went on to the school for the deaf at Olathe and Gallaudette College at Washington D. C. where he graduated. Mark then taught school, received his Master's Degree and is now Director of Psychological Services for the Deaf for the State of North Carolina. He married in 1954 and now has nine children.

The older son Charles after graduating from high school in 1934 taught school two years before going to Kansas State University and graduating in 1940. Mary Ellen the older daughter became a school teacher and worked as an inspector in Wichita, Kansas during W. W. II before being married. Mildred, the second daughter, went to college one year to prepare for becoming a registered nurse. Marcella graduated from K. S. U. in 1944 and was a school teacher. The youngest daughter Rose taught school before being married in 1948 and Louis the youngest of the family stayed at home where his dad (Charley) needed him in the expanded farming and livestock operations. The oldest son Charles taught Vocational Agriculture for two years before he entered the service during W. W. II where he spent three and one-half years. The younger son Louis also entered the service during the Korean War.

Charley was a very energetic man that got things done. He had seen poverty in his younger days and his goal was to change things and have things. This he certainly accomplished. He was highly respected by the people of the neighborhood and community. He served on both the Board of Education for Rock School District 49 and also on the Board of Education for Morrowville Rural High School. He also served as President of the Washington County Farm Bureau and represented Washington County on the State Planning Committee as well as an "appraiser" for the Federal Land Bank. During the late forties Charley's health began to fail. He was of a nervous disposition so he tried to slow down. He and Ellen spent two winters in southern Texas as Louis was able to take over more of the 'duties' at home. Finally it was realized by the doctors that he had a heart ailment. Periods of sickness seemed to occur especially after periods of stress. In 1951 he purchased the 110-acre place near Washington, Kansas so that he could retire, but he continued to be active in management as well as do some work on the farms. It was on November 21, 1955 that he had another heart attack and died.

Louis then married in 1956 and took over the "home place". Ellen continued to live on the farm near Washington, but she bought a place (209 East 5th) in town into which she later moved. Elizabeth (Ellen's older sister) came to live with her for some time after Charley's death. With Louis' marriage the children had all been married, however, Rose who had married in 1948 passed away February 9, 1952. She had suffered from myasthenia gravis which had appeared after her marriage.

Charley Carter had eleven grandchildren at the time of his death, but he and Ellen now have 31 grandchildren living. (A granddaughter, Loeva, died from an auto accident April 9, 1973.) They also now have 13 great grandchildren. Ellen at 92 years-of-age continues to live alone at 209 East Fifth Street, Washington, Kansas. She continues to be mentally very alert. She maintains her home so that she can have frequent visits from her enlarging family. She well remembers the days of growing up on a farm near Hollenberg, Kansas, of becoming a school teacher, of teaching school in the sandhills, of living there, of moving to Steele City, to Morrowville and Washington. Yes, Dad and Mom have been an inspiration in writing up a bit of 'our' family history.

Charles Ottis Carter

Charles Ottis Carter was the youngest of eight children born to James Washington Carter and Eliza Jane Uland. He was born near Bloomfield in Green County, Indiana on January 27, 1888. His father was a "Hoosier Schoolmaster" while his mother kept the home. At the age of three years he came with his parents, brothers and sisters locating on a farm near Beatrice, Nebraska. After a few years they moved to Cheney, near Lincoln, Nebraska. When fifteen years old he and his parents went west where his father homesteaded a section of land in Thomas County, Thedford, Nebraska. While living there always ambitious and desirious of improving his education he entered "The Beatrice Business College" and took a course in business education. When twenty-oe years old, he like his father also homesteaded a section of land in his own right near by that of his father's.

Mr. Carter never shirked duty or responsibility, being the youngest of the family he cared for his aging parents and also helped care for the three motherless boys of his brother Edgar, Willard, Cecil and Homer.

A few years later he met Miss Ellen Agnes McCawley of Hollenberg, Kansas a Thomas County school teacher and they were married on December 28, 1915. They set up housekeeping and lived until November, 1921 on Mrs. Carter's 800 acre ranch near Thedford where their four older children were born. In November of that year they moved to a farm near Steele City and three years later purchased the home farm 7 miles southwest of Morrowville locating there on March 1, 1925. This was to be their home for over a quarter of a century and where their 7 children were reared and educated. In the fall of 1951 the family moved to the present home near the city of Washington.

Mr. Carter was always alert and keenly interested in all civil affairs, serving as clerk of Morrowville Rural High School, President of Washington County Farm Bureau, represented Washington County on the State Planning Committee, appraiser for the Federal Land Bank, as well as serving in other minor offices.

He had a wide variety of interests but his family and the business of farming and livestock raising were the chief ones. As a substantial and progressive man in the community his honesty and integrity were above reproach.

He with his wife and friends spent two enjoyable winters in the Southland in the valley of the Rio Grande and in old Mexico. Another pleasant vacation was a return trip to the old home town of Thedford, Nebr. taken in August of this year. He, in company with and wife and son, Louis, renewed old acquaintances.

Mr. Carter's parents were devoted members of the Primitive Baptist Church. The belief in God and Christian principles he practiced and taught to his children are priceless.

"His children shall rise up and call him blessed."

It can truly be said of Mr. Carter that he gave his all for his family and his friends of which he had many. Charlie's ready wit and jovial nature endeared him to everyone.

He departed this life early Monday morning, November 21 at the Washington County Hospital after two hours illness. His wife was by his side and everything possible was done for him.

He was brought up in the Baptist faith and was faithful in his attendance at church and attended church his last happy day here on earth.

He was preceded in death by his youngest daughter, Rose.

As a good husband and loving father he will be sadly missed by his devoted wife and constant companion, six children and eleven grandchildren as follows:

Charles O. Carter, Jr., wife, Helen and two grandchildren, Phil and Loeva of Chanute, Kansas;

Mrs. Mary Ellen Uhlrich, husband, Francis and three grandchildren, Alice, Terry and Mikie Charles of Morrowville, Kans.;

Mrs. Mildred Blaha, husband, Bill, and two grandchildren, Kathy and Clarke of Fremont, Nebr.;

Mrs. Marcella Hunt, husband, Wilmer, and three grandchildren, Dennis, Gary and Phil of Lincoln, Nebr.;

Mark W. Carter, wife, Coletta and granddaughter, Mary of Olathe, Kans; and Louis L. of the home.

He is also survived by his sister, Mrs. W. I. Stewart of Fort Collins, Colorado.

Nieces, nephews, other relatives, hosts of friends, and neighbors share with the family their deep sorrow.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. F. Russell Pitman were held in the Baptist Church at Washington on Wednesday, November 23 at 1:30 p. m.

Hymns sung were "Whispering Hope," "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" and "Nearer My God To Thee."

Honorary pallbearers were Earl Pascal, Fred Bekemeyer, Oliver Steele, Fred Shea, Cal Evans and Albert Soller and active pallbearers were Chester Synovec, Lewis Bullimore, LeRoy Wilkinson, Ray Stewart, Clarence Schumacher and Frank Gaydusek, Jr.

His body was tenderly laid to rest in Washington Cemetery.

"It is not death to die,
To leave this weary road,
And midst the brotherhood on high,
To be at home with God."

Mary Shaffner and Mabel Grammer were two students at the Dill Valley School. From their observation they wrote, "The reason Chas Carter has got the straightest corn rows in the country is because he goes so fast he jerks the kinks out of them".Notes of 1920-21.(this was one of his characteristics)

Mr. Charley Carter of Thedford, Neb. and Miss Ellen McCawley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCawley of this vicinity were married last Tuesday at Grand Island, Neb. Immediately after the ceremony they came to visit with the bride's parents until January first when they left for Omaha and Broken Bow, Neb. to visit with relatives. The bride is one of Washington county's most successful teachers having taught school about six years. The groom is a successful young farmer of Thedford, Neb. where the happy young couple will make their home. We join in wishing them a long and prosperous wedded life.

• Ellen Carter

Ellen McCawley Carter, 92, Washington, died Feb. 13, 1984, at Washington County Hospital.

She was born Aug. 6, 1891, at Hollenberg, the daughter of William and Mary Jane Cain McCawley.

As a young woman, she taught school for four years in Washington County and then taught for 1½ years in Thomas County, Neb.

On Dec. 28, 1915, she married Charles Carter Sr. at Grand Island, Neb. They farmed near Thedford, Neb., where their first four children were born.

In 1921, they moved to a farm near Steele City, where their fifth child was born. In 1925 they moved to a farm seven miles southwest of Morrowville where their last two children were born. In the fall of 1951, the family moved to a farm at the west edge of Washington. After her husband's death, Ellen moved to Washington.

In 1979, Mrs. Carter received special recognition for 50 years of participation in the Extension Home Ec program.

She was a member of St. Augustine's Catholic Altar Society, the Rock Dorcus Club and a charter member of the Triple L Extension Unit. She was a past member of the Washington County Chorus.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died Nov. 21, 1955; two daughters, Rose Schuessler and Mary Uhlrich; a granddaughter, Loeva Carter; two brothers and two sisters.

Survivors include three sons, Charles Carter Jr and his wife Joan, Chanute, Mark Carter and his wife Coletta, Winston Salem, N.C., and Louis Carter and his wife Iola, Morrowville; two daughters, Mildred Blaha, Boone, Iowa, and Marcelle Hunt and her husband Wilmer, Lincoln, Neb.; two sisters, Mayme Mulick and Irene Neenan, both of Lincoln, Neb.; 31 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were Feb. 16 at St. Augustine Catholic Church, with Father Basil Torrez and grandson Father Dennis Hunt officiating. Music was provided by the church choir, organist Josolyn Kearn and soloist Mary Carter Waren, a granddaughter. Rosaries were said Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

Casket bearers were Maurice Cumro, Donald McCawley, Al Koch, William McCawley, Gilbert Schuessler and Vernon Kolle.

Burial was in Washington City Cemetery.

Dear folks:

We are very sad over Aunt Ellen's death. She was a favorite of ours, and she will certainly be missed by everyone. The Carter picnic just won't be the same without her.

She was such a wonderful person and we will all have many beautiful memories of her. We are thankful for her long life and the fact that she did not have to suffer a long illness.

Please use the enclosed check as you see fit, in her memory. Perhaps flowers, the church, or her favorite charity.

She was dear to all of us, and may the passing of time help to ease our sorrow. She was so proud of all of you, and may God Bless each and everyone.

All our love,

Dear Charles & Family

The thought seems to be to "not look back there is no future in it." When one of the family like mother or wife passes on I am sure we all look back. That brings many beautiful memories along with some that are still part of life.

I can almost remember the day your mother, as a young girl, came to teach school. I was too young to think of the living conditions they had. Am sure though it was not the Sand Hill Hilton. The School Marms were always highly respected and looked up to. Am sure my dads family was one like she probably had never encountered. Any way as the years went along you are familiar with what happened. Working genea ology I found that Grandpa Carter was always a highly respected person. Way back to his younger days. Your father, as did most of the family lived good lives.

Bob my younger brother was at the Carter reubion last summer and he wrote about aunt Ellen. I can remember a visit to Kansas way back. Your dad was cultivating corn with the bigest horses I ever saw him drive. Am sure he made a good move when he left the sand hills although the family didnt like to see him leave. You had fine parents Charles and I am sure you realize.

I am undecided for the next months but would like to spend a few weeks in Nebraska. If so would try and make the reunion. My parents are buried at Purdum and I could visit quite a bit of the country. Also have friends in Montana and the Dakotas. Of course Idaho still seems like home but we came to Oregon 39 years back.

Hope All is well with your family

KNOW YOUR NEW VICE-PRESIDENT:

Charles Carter, Jr., Vice-President of the Council of Genealogical Socieites is a retired Biology Instructor from Neosho County Community College, having retired in 1981 after a long teaching career that began in 1934 in a rural school. Charles was born in 1916 in Thomas County, Nebraska. His grandfather an,Indiana school teacher,had moved to Nebraska in 1890 and had homesteaded a ranch in 1904 after passage of the Kincaid Act. Charles started his education in Nebraska, but his parents moved to Washington County, Kansas in 1925. It was in Washington County where his mother had been born, raised, and taught school. Her grandfather was born in Ireland, had enlisted in the Civil War from Illinois and had served under General Sherman in his march to the sea. He had come to Kansas in 1883.

Charles attended K.S.U. beginning in 1936 and graduated in agricultre in the high 15% of his graduating class of 1940. He then taught Vocational Agriculture at Randolph High School two years before entering the U.S. Army in 1942. After three and one-half years including two battle stars and after taking some graduate work at K.S.U., Charles accepted a teaching position in Chanute. At Chanute he completed his M.S. degree in Biology at Pittsburg State University, served on the County Fair Board including President, he served as director of the Southeast Kansas Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association and Vice-President and President of the State Association. He was a charter member of the Chanute Genealogical Society and has served in several capacities including President. He served as President of the Neosho County Community College Faculty Association and is now serving as Treasurer of the Chanute Area Retired Teachers Association. He has also been a charter member of the Kansas Wildflower Society. In 1952 and 1955 his Agricultural students won the Agricultural Education Club Award, the highest award open to Agriculture students in the state and in 1963 a Chanute Poultry Judging Team coached by Charles won first in the nation.

Charles had three older children all of whom became school teachers, however his oldest daughter was killed in an auto accident near Atchison, Kansas while teaching there in 1973. He has a daughter attending Baker University and a son and daughter in high school. He has two grandchildren.

Charles started his research in 1970 and is currently working on the publication of two family history books. His research has been mainly in Indiana, North Carolina and Virginia. He made the Council Trip to Salt Lake City a year ago and is looking forward to the trip to Washington D.C. Octber 28 - November 6. He feels that there is no finer group of people than those working on genealogy and there is no subject more interesting and statisfying than genealogy.

Carter to end long teaching career

By TOM HUND

The years slowly roll by, but next year won't be quite the same at Neosho County Community College as the Institution is losing one of its finest teachers. Mr. Charles Carter, whom most NCCC students know as just Mr. Carter, has announced that this year will be his last in teaching at NCCC.

Mr. Carter has been the dean in the science department at NCCC for 12 years. He has been the instructor in biology, zoology, bottany, microbiology, and anatomy-physiology.

Mr. Carter has many fond memories of the college and the college will always have fond memories of him.

"Mr. Carter is great. He is an excellent teacher," noted one of the college students. "He taught you what you wanted to know. It was always interesting to go to class."

"I thought Mr. Carter was neat. He was always joking around and made it a fun atmosphere to be around him," commented another student.

Mr. Carter, after being a teacher for 47 devoted years, will still lead a very active life. He is looking forward to many exciting years ahead as he enjoys retirement.

"I would like to spend more time with my family," said Mr. Carter, who is the father of five children. He also had one daughter who lost her life in a car wreck.

Mr. Carter has a lot of spirit to go along with future goals.

"I would like to compile a family history. I want to publish two books on this history. I plan to continue to be active in the Chanute Genealogical Society. I also plan to do much more gardening," remarked Mr. Carter.

Mr. Carter was born in Thomas County, Nebraska. He was raised in Washington County, Kansas. He began his teaching career in Washington County in 1934 during the Great Dpression. He taught eight grades and 28 students in a one room rural school.

He entered Kansas State University in 1936. In 1940, he graduated in the top 15 percent of his college class. Horticulture was his major.

During World War II, Mr. Carter taught for the army at Fort Hood, Texas. Later he was transferred overseas to purify water. He received Battle Stars in Central Europe and in the Southwest Pacific for his honorable work.

His next 23 years were spent at Chanute High School. In the meantime, he completed his biology degree. The next years were spent here at NCCC.

CHARLES CARTER strikes a familar pose as he explains a biology lesson to his class. Carter will retire from the faculty at NCCC at the end of the spring semester, ending a 47-year education career that has spanned five decades.

Mr. Carter has many more accomplishments. In 1952 and 1955 his high school students won the agricultural award for the state of Kansas. In 1963, his students were the best poultry judging team in the nation.

Mr. Carter has also served as the President of the Kansas State Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association.

"I am still excited about education, even after 47 years," Mr. Carter remarked. He wants to continue to be a big booster for our community college.

"Education requires a price in dedication, discipline, and hard work no matter how brilliant the mind," stressed Mr. Carter. "My greatest disappointment is when brilliant minds aren't challenged — when education is not important to the individual."

Mr. Carter is one person who really cares about education. His entire life has been dedicated to this means: Through this dedication, he has made the world a better place in which to live.

CHARLES O. CARTER JR., Chanute High School teacher, has been named to participate in a $77,700 fifth annual National Science Foundation summer Institute in biology, chemistry and mathematics at Pittsburg State College, June 8 to Aug. 1. Eighty teachers from 10 states will take part.

Chanute FFA Team National Champs

The Chanute Future Farmers of America poultry judging team was named national champion at an awards breakfast this morning in Kansas City.

The national judging contests were held Wednesday during the national FFA convention as part of the American Royal celebration. The Chanute team was then notified yesterday to return to Kansas City this morning for naming of winners. It was there they learned they were the new national champions.

The Chanute team won the state title last May during the state FFA convention at Manhattan, qualifying them for the national competition. Two of the team members, Phil Carter and Kenneth Swiler, now attend Chanute Junior College as freshmen. The third team member, Bill McMillen, is a Chanute High School senior.

The trio was accompanied to Kansas City this morning by their faculty advisor, Charles Carter Jr., and high school principal W. H. McMurray. They returned home with a big trophy.

National judging is held in three events—poultry, meats and livestock. Lawrence was the Kansas representative in the meats judging, with Pretty Prairie in the livestock judging. Each finished in the top gold medal groups.

This was the sixth time that a Chanute FFA judging team has competed in the national event. It was the first national title for a local team. The last national competition by a Chanute team was in the 1956 poultry judging. Chanute was the state dairy judging winner in 1954.

The Chanute team finished with 1,411 points out of a possible 1,470. The maximum number of individual points possible were 490. Chanute was the only team to break the 1,400-point mark. The three team members all placed in the gold medal division for individual placings.

In second place in poultry judging was Alabama with 1,380 points. Texas was third with 1,374, and Nebraska fourth with 1,354. Others in the top ten were Arkansas, California, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma and Utah .

The judging is based on a number of events. Team members had to judge two classes of four hens on production. They then graded ten birds in each of the dressed bird and live bird divisions. They had to judge a hatchery flock of ten hens, accepting or rejecting them for breeding flocks. They then had to candle eggs according to USDA standards. They finished with near-perfect scores.

Views of the News:

Champions

As Notre Dame once was in football, the Italians in art, and the British in sea power, so have Chanute High School ag students become somewhat indefatigable champs in farm contests.

Except that other contenders are rugged, as were the pitchers who faced Babe Ruth and hacks that boxed Joe Louis, the Chanute score often runs so heavy that it could easily discourage competition.

This week, for example, the local entry in a Southeast Kansas farm mechanics school won almost everything but the judge's hat. Four boys entered the contest from the school, and the scores of the highest-ranking two determined the team score.

Well, two of the Chanute boys won first and second, putting their team far in front of the others. The other Chanute pair ranked so high that if their teammates hadn't been there, they would have won the contest, themselves. And they were competing with boys from 17 other schools.

Winning seems to come natural to these ag students; almost as habitual as a morning cup of coffee. A good reason, of course, is that Charlie Carter has been doing a first-rate job, himself, in training his boys in vocational agriculture. It takes a champion, often, to train a champion.

NATIONAL HONOR: Phil Carter, a Chanute High School senior, has been selected as a member of the national Future Farmers of America band at the national FFA convention held in conjunction with the American Royal celebration at Kansas City. The band serves as the honor band for the American Royal, and will lead the traditional parade. Band members were selected from each of the 50 states. Carter, who plays the drums, will leave Saturday for the week-long event. (School Photo)

Chanute, KS 66720

Dear Charles:

The purpose of this letter is to indicate that the Board of Trustees in its regular January meeting accepted with regret your resignation and asked that I write a letter of commendation to you. The Board of Trustees and I appreciate your loyal and dedicated service to Neosho County Community College. It is upon the foundation of service such as yours that the college has moved forward since moving to our new campus. We all appreciate so much what you have done for the college. You will be missed!

May you have a long, productive and enjoyable retirement.

Sincerely,

J. C. Sanders

Phillip F. Carter

New principal at Washington school finding few problems

BY CHRIS RIGGS

There have been no big problems so far this year for Phillip F. Carter, the new principal of Washington School.

"It's unreal but so far there have been no major problems," Carter said, "We've been busy but the beginning of the school year has been great. It has been a really smooth transition."

Carter said the former principal, Leonard Price, who retired last year, helped out a lot.

"I came over several times last year and worked with Mr. Price. That really helped in the transition," he said.

Carter came from Pittsburg where he was principal of Lincoln Elementary School for eight years. He and his wife, Peggy, and his two children, Chris, 9, and Jennifer, 5, live at 2512 Rolling Green.

He attended Chanute High School and received his education specialist degree in general school administration from Pittsburg State University in 1974. He taught for several years at an elementary school in Parsons.

Carter said he and his wife grew up in Chanute so they were familiar with Independence before they moved here.

"We've met a lot of nice people," he said, "But we're still getting settled."

"I'd been principal in Pittsburg for eight years and my family was young enough, so I moved," he said, "If I'd waited a little longer my family would have stayed in Pittsburg."

Carter said another reason he moved was because he wanted experience in a different and bigger school.

"We had about 285 students at Lincoln School in Pittsburg and we have over 400 here," he said, "This is a bigger school and some things are different. Here we have remedial math. But a lot of the things are the same."

Carter said that he loved elementary school kids.

"The kids are young and enthusiastic. Often you're a second mother or father to them," he said, "Teaching school is so rewarding, especially at this level. I've taught elementary school all my life."

He said he had no major changes planned for Washington School.

"I do want to get actively involved in the curriculum process. A principal shouldn't just sit in his office," Carter said, " He should be a leader in instruction. It's important that the students get to know me and that they recognize me as a leader

"But I'm going to try to keep most things the same so there is a smooth transition."

A Long And Fruitful Life

CLAUDE C. MARTINDALE, who died last week at the age of 97, was a good and remarkable man, who was loved and respected by all who knew him.

The Greene County native came to Richland Township early in life with his family and lived on farms on Ratliff Road in Richland Township and Mt. Tabor Road in Bean Blossom Township all of his adult life.

Claude was truly a man who loved the land and always took time to smell the roses and enjoy every sunrise and sunset. He was always thankful for the beauties and miracles of God's universe.

He was a farmer of the old school, poultry fancier, stone mill diamond sawyer, and long-time loyal employee of Matthews Brothers Stone Company. In retirement he became a skilled craftsman of grandfather clock cabinets.

He became a Christian early in life and was a man of strong belief and faith. More than sixty years ago he became a member of the Ellettsville First Baptist Church which he faithfully served as a Sunday School Teacher, Sunday School Superintendent, and Deacon for life. At the time of his death he was not only the oldest ordained Deacon but also the oldest living member of the church. He was in church the Sunday before he was burned.

Claude's Christian commitment was part of whatever he did, including his work, and his role as a loving husband, father, grandfather, brother, uncle and as a friend and Christian brother.

Useful work was an important part of Claude's Christian commitment. He cut his own wood and he spent a great deal of time in his workshop where he suffered the severe burns that led to his death. His workshop became his chapel. Friends came for a few minutes and stayed for hours. Countless numbers, including pastors of Claude's church sought and found counsel and God's guidance in his chapel by the side of the road.

Claude had his fair share and more of the troubles of this life, but these setbacks seemed only to cause his commitment to serve God and others to grow day by day and year by year.

He demonstrated that love and dedication to the very end. Although we cannot understand why such a good man had to endure such a tragedy at the end of such a long and fruitful life, Claude knew and understood. Doctors, nurses, and his family marveled at his patience, strength, warmth, and love in spite of his pain and suffering.

Claude Martindale truly lived life to the fullest, and he will be greatly missed by his widow, family, friends, and church family, but he will live in the memories of all who knew and loved him.

Services Thurs. For Claude Martindale

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at Allen Colonial Chapel for 97 year-old Claude G. Martindale of 8407 Mt. Tabor Road, who passed away Monday night at Bloomington Hospital following an accident at his home last week where he burned over 40 per cent of his body.

The son of John and Martha Carter Martindale, he was born May 31, 1887 in Greene County.

He was a retired farmer and long-time employee of Matthew Brothers Stone Company where he was a diamond-sawyer. After his retirement he became well known for his hobby of making clock cabinets.

He was a member of the Ellettsville First Baptist Church where he formerly was a Deacon.

He is survived by his wife of 17 years, Gladys Lassiter Martindale, a step-daughter, Doris Landis of Swiss City; a step-son, Dewey Martindale of Bloomfield; two grandchildren, Denny Martindale of Montgomery and Sue Helms of Mattoon, Illinois. Also, a half-sister, Mable Scoville of Whitehall and a niece, Lois Sparks, also of Whitehall.

He was preceded in death by his parents, his first wife, Effie Allen Martindale, who died in 1963; a son, Cleon and a daughter, who died in infancy; and two brothers, Ensley and Henry Martindale.

Rev. Roy Tindal, pastor of the local Baptist Church, will officiate at the services and burial will be in the local Methodist Cemetery.

Friends may call at Allen Funeral Home from 2 to 9 o'clock today.

CLAUDE C. MARTINDALE, who will be marking his 97th birthday anniversary on May 31, is truly a remarkable man. Although he suffered a fall and contracted the shingles soon after his birthday last year, Claude is much improved and still maintains his zest for life. He has been a successful farmer, poultry fancier, stonemill plannerman, expert clockmaker (a career he developed in his 80's and has continued through his 90's), devout churchman and superb citizen. Claude possesses a quiet and warm personality that inspires and uplifts all who know and come in contact with him. He has had his share and more of the setbacks and disappointments of life, but his unshaken Christian faith has carried him through. One of the finest Christian gentlemen whom we have ever had the privilege of knowing and working with, Claude is a man of grace and faith whose life has been one of service to his Lord and his fellowman.

OBITUARY OF MARGARET CARTER McDANIEL (Handwritten)

Margaret McDaniel, daughter of Sarah and William Carter was borned Dec. 19th 1857, departed this life June 27, 1943 at the age of 85 years 6 months and 8 days. She was united in marriage to Simon McDaniel Oct. 16, 1879. To this union was borned three sons. Thomas, deceased; Everett and Harlen of New Ark. Six grandchildren and one foster grand child and nine greatgrandchildren and three great-great grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. Martha Brown of White Hall, and one brother Joe Carter of Nebraska, and a host of relatives and friends.

She joined the Primitive Baptist Church in her early life and lived a faithful life to her belief to the end, she always enjoyed going to church as long as her health permitted. She was so kind and patient in her sickness, she made her home with her grand daughter, Mrs. William Groomer the last 12 years.

Grandma, as she was always called will be greatly missed in the home as well as by her neighbors and friends.

Grandma has gone to meet her Savior
Her sufferings here are o'er
God Bless you Mom our Darling
Give you rest forever more
She's gone to us she can't return
But we to her may go,
If we but love and serve the Lord
God says it shall be so
Oh, why then do we sorrow,
Our loss is Heaven's gain.
Let's meet her there tomorrow

Lasting memory Japanese attack

Pearl Harbor recalled on the 41st anniversary of

By DAVE HANCOCK
H-T Staff Writer

Merrell Carter, 3521 Kinser Pike, remembers hearing the drone of the airplanes' engines. The Navy was on maneuvers again, he thought.

THE EXPLOSIONS heard later were dismissed as tunnel blasting. Military men, including himself, had been blasting holes in Hawaii's volcanic craters to build tunnels for defense purposes. But why were they blasting on Sunday? They had never blasted on Sunday before...

Urgent voices on the radio were the first verification of an attack. Stationed about three miles from Pearl Harbor in a small town near Honolulu, Carter was a witness to one of the worst disasters in American history.

The Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941, left 2,409 Americans killed, 1,178 wounded, 18 ships and 188 planes destroyed and 159 planes damaged.

Several Monroe County residents are veterans of the Pearl Harbor disaster, known as the day of infamy. Besides Carter there are: Ernest Howe, 3701 Oak Leaf; Raleigh Crowe, 2615 Dekist; Russell and Mildred Watson, 845 E. Winslow; and Orville Life, Heritage Drive. (If there are other local survivors of the Pearl Harbor attack, please call Crowe at 332-4053).

THE THING Carter remembers most about the attack is the confusion. A sergeant assigned to a combat engineering company, he remembers spotting Japanese fighter-bombers for a man with headphones. But he cannot recall why he was picked to perform the task. The hours and days immediately after the attack were equally chaotic.

"It wasn't safe to walk or talk," Carter said. "You could get shot if you scared somebody. There were a lot of rumors that the Japanese had landed on the island."

The question for many Americans after Pearl Harbor was why. What did the Japanese hope to accomplish?

Indiana University Professor of History Robert Ferrell said the Japanese had several reasons for attacking Pearl Harbor.

The first was that the German army was inside Moscow in late 1941. Thinking the Germans were on the verge of winning the war, the Japanese believed they could capture many Pacific Ocean island chains, including the Philippines, without American resistance. On the chance there would be a long war, America would certainly concentrate its efforts on Germany.

POSSESSING a superior navy in 1941, the Japanese theory was that America would realize it was too costly to try to retake the captured islands.

It took a while for the significance of the day's events to register with many men, Carter remembers. He said many troops thought it would not be long before America got even with the "pip squeak" Japanese.

"I doubt very much the average G.I. had any idea what the Japanese were capable of," Carter said.

PEARL HARBOR was just a beginning for Carter, as it was for so many young men in World War II. Soon he would be on islands near British New Guinea in combat.

MEMORIAL DAY will mark the 95th birthday anniversary of one of this community's most highly respected citizens, Claude C. Martindale. One of the finest Christian gentlemen whom we have ever had the privilege of knowing or working with. Claude is truly a remarkable man. At 95 he still maintains his workshop and his zest for life--for him, one of accomplishment and service to others. He has been successful as a farmer, poultry fancier, stonemill planerman, expert clockmaker (a career he developed in his 80's and has continued through his 90's), churchman, and superb citizen. Claude Martindale possesses a quiet, sincere, upright personality that inspires and uplifts all who know or come in contact with him. He is a man of dedication, faith, and grace, and this community is justly proud of him, its oldest male citizen.

OBITUARY

Nancie Emmaline Carter, the daughter of William R. and Diama Carter, was born December 17, 1872 at Bloomington, Indiana. She passed away from this life August 31st. at her home northeast of Elsie, at the age of 84 years, 8 months and 14 days

She with her family came to Beatrice, Nebraska in 1883 and lived on Freeman's Homestead, which was the first taken in the United States. Sixty-five years ago, in 1892, they came further west, to Perkins county where they took up a homestead 6 miles north of Elsie. For ten years they lived in a three room sod house, suffering all of the privations of the early pioneers.

On November 26, 1891 she was married to Andrew T. Coppersmith at Elsie, in a double wedding ceremony with her sister Annie, and J. D. Law.

To this union was born four children, William Harlan, who preceded her in death; Nellie Mae, Ollie Electic and Andrew Delbert. She was preceded in death by her husband and one son, William Harlan.

Mrs. Coppersmith was devoted to her home and family. Their needs were her first responsibility, yet she maintained an interest in community activities and churches. A hard worker all of her life, even when suffering from a fractured hip two years ago. she hurried back to her normal household duties when to others this seemed impossible. Her high spirit, courage and resourcefulness will be remembered by all who knew her.

Mrs. Coppersmith is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Matson of North Platte, Mrs. Orris Tatum of Elsie. and by one son. Andrew Delbert Coppersmith of Elsie. who shared the home with his mother. Also by 14 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends.

Relatives attending from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sparks and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Coppersmith all of North Platte, Nebr.; Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings of Littleton, Colo.: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Tatum and Keith of Denver, Colo.; Mr. Charles Coppersmith of Rupert, Idaho: Mr. and Mrs. Don Coppersmith of Ogallala; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Webster and family of Wellfleet and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rowan and family of Wallace.

Cecil Scoville

Cecil L. Scoville, 60, 1916 W. Wylie, died Monday afternoon at Bloomington Hospital.

He had lived in Bloomington for ten years and had worked in the maintenance department of Indiana University. Before coming to Bloomington he had been employed by Crane Naval depot.

He was a member of the Second St. Church of Christ.

In addition to his wife, Mabel, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Clifford (Lois) Sparks, R. 6; one granddaughter, Vicky Sparks, R. 6; three brothers, Perry, 315 W. 17th, Harold, Mitchell, and Eugene, Indianapolis; one sister, Mrs. Frank (Stella) Bigelow, Indianapolis; and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be at Second St. Church of Ch[illegible]st administered by Lowell Ban[illegible] at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Burial w[illegible] be in Methodist Cemetery in [illegible]lettsville.

Friends may call at the Day Funeral Home after 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Olive Groomer

BLOOMFIELD — Olive Groomer, 76, of R. 1, Bloomfield, died at 2:45 p.m. Sunday at the Greene County General Hospital.

She was born Feb. 12, 1900, in Greene County, the daughter of Everett and Lucindie (Hunter) McDaniels. She was a member of the Calvertsville Baptist Church.

Surviving are her husband, William Groomer; one sister, Cegnes Gott of Van Buren, Mo.; one half-sister, Edna Tarey of R. 1, Bloomfield; two half-brothers, Owen McDaniels and Raymond McDaniels, both of R. 1, Bloomfield; several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Jenkins Funeral Home in Bloomfield with the Rev. Marion Noles presiding. Burial will be at Grandview Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home anytime.

Nancy Coppersmith Rites Held Monday

Memorial services were held for Mrs. Nancy Coppersmith from the Elsie Methodist church Monday, September 2, 1957 with Rev. W. J. Willcox officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings sang "In the Garden", "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder" and "Going Down The Valley" with Mrs. Frank Scrimsher at the piano.

Casket bearers were Charles Coppersmith, Frank Tatum, Louis Coppersmith, Bernard Tatum, Clarence Longmore and Howard Webster.

Interment was made in the Elsie Cemetery under the direction of the Bullock-Long Funeral Home.

PART OF THE LIFE SKETCH OF THE DOLAN-CARTER FAMILY
From the Manuscript of James Dolan Carter. . . . Written in 1966

I do not remember my Grandparents on either side of the house. Grandfather (William V.) Carter had a family of 4 boys and 2 girls which are all dead. Two of the older boys were Wash (James W.) and Riley came to Nebraska when father was a baby. Wash took a homestead in Thomas County around Thedford. Riley took a homestead north of what is now Grainton, Nebraska. Father (Joseph J. Carter) and Mother (Eva Farnham) were born in Indiana. Father was born in 1867 and died in 1952 at the age of 85. He worked in coal mines as a blacksmith and maintenance man and kept the mules shod. He also farmed some. He came to Nebraska in 1909 with his family which included his wife, 1 adopted son, Claude, Roscoe and Ida, myself, and Julia. He farmed in Nebraska until he retired. Mother was born in 1873 and died at Scottsbluff, Nebraska in 1961 at the age of 88 years.

I came to Nebraska with my parents in 1909 at the age of eleven. We landed in Elsie in January and thought it was a wonderful place as we could go around in shirt sleeves. Next day was a typical Nebraska blizzard. We moved to a farm 1½ miles east of Elsie, where we lived 3 years. This was mostly prairie at that time. I herded cattle during summer months. I would sit out there on horse and try to play a mouth harp, and read stories. The first day I went to school in Elsie a boy about 17 or 18 years old took a new cap off my head and stomped on it, and I kicked him in the groin so that stopped that. He was very sick for awhile. One boy friend, Leonard Menking, and I would fight about every day at school as some older boys would put a chip on one of our shoulders and would dare the other to knock it off, but on Saturday and Sunday we would be together most of the time. He passed on about 2 years ago. He was the best friend I ever had. He moved to a ranch 9 miles south of town about 1912. I lived there with my parents, until I was married in 1920. Shortly after moving there we had a blizzard which lasted 3 days and nights. We had trees about 25 or 30 feet tall and next day I could walk on top of them, and once in a while there would be twigs showing. Our neighbors (Sherman Kennedy) had just moved in one and ½ miles east and had gone back after more of his possessions and we were to take care of his horses but when we could get there his horses had tramped the snow in the barn until their backs were touching the roof. One man, Ed Hiatt, to the north lost around 100 head of cattle in this storm. There were lots of rattlesnakes at that time, and we had a black shepherd dog that hated them and would dodge in quick and shake them but one day he went in, but there were two there and one bit him. We doped him up with kerosene until he got over it but he was sure swelled up. As a kid I picked up cow chips in the fall for fuel which would put out lots of heat and also lots of smell and smoke. Also we would pick up corn cobs in the hog lot as we bought very little coal in those days. We also picked up old buffalo bones and cattle bones which we sold for 8 or 10 dollars a ton as I remember.

The first horse I owned was a bay bronco, which threw me about every day, but I finally got so I could ride her. My next horses were a team of full sister blue roans which were matched so it was hard to tell them apart. I bought them from father's brother Riley. I broke them both. I could drive them to town with a load, and could sleep most of the way but get close to town, tighten up the lines, and they would start to prance into town. When I would start home I could lay down and sleep or read, and later had a buggy team that I could wrap the lines up after sparking part of the night, and sometimes wake up in the morning, and they would be standing at the haystack eating hay. At that time we bound and headed our grain. We used from 4 to 6 head of horses on the binder, and 6 head on the header, and two head on each of two header barges with two men in each barge, and one man on the stack. Then we would shock the bound grain, and turn around and start threshing which took about 8 hayracks and teams with one man on each rack and two or three men in the field to help load. Our threshing machines were powered with steam engines. It took three men to haul the grain to the bin and scoop. There were three men with the machine, engineer and separator man and man or boy to haul water. We did not hire much help but changed help with neighbors. Then we would start on the stacked grain. Sometimes we would thresh until snowfall. We would try to plant our winter wheat in between times. Then we would start picking corn by hand. After the corn was husked we would start shelling it or start hauling our wheat to town with 4 head of horses and wagon with about 75 bushels to a load. We would load up our load for the next day's trip, usually after night. This was all done with scoop shovels and pitchforks. Sometimes if the weather was bad, we would not get through picking corn until late spring.

My first car was a 1918 Model T Ford which cost less than $500. We did not have anti-freeze at that time. We would start the car if possible then put water in if cold weather and throw a blanket over the radiator until it was warm. Most of the time we would have to jack one hind wheel up and turn it, as we had no self-starters. Sometimes we would have to hitch a team on the front end and lead it around to start. One time I was courting my future wife and the car froze up. I got within three miles of home and it got so hot it would not run and I had to walk home in zero weather. I took a team next day to pull it home. I took the radiator off and took it into the house to thaw out. I met my wife at a box supper. I bought her box which was tied up with nice paper and ribbons and lots of good things to eat. If I remember right I paid about 75 cents for it. Anyway I took her home and did not kiss her at that time. After that we went steady until we were married on March 10th in 1920. The flu was bad about that time and lots of people died from it. Our neighbor west of us died from it and he had to be taken to the cemetery in a sled as snow was very deep. Loco weed was bad in those times and horses would eat it, and it acted like a drug. Most of the time they acted crazy. . . . . . . I went to Sedgwick, Colorado one winter and hauled hay. I used a team that they told me would run away at the drop of a hat, but I did not drop my hat. Lots of mornings, we would have to break the ice in the water bucket to wash. We had a bad blizzard about 1917 or 1918 the last of April. While digging cattle out of drifts in canyons, we found a rattlesnake. One year we had too much rain our wheat stacks were grown on the tops until we had to use hay knives to cut them apart. Lots of the stack bottoms were rotten. There were lots of jack rabbits and we would organize hunts. We would shoot hundreds of them and sell them or give them away to orphanages and the needy. Also we would have coyote hunts usually about 12 miles square. Some would start from one direction at a given time and all others would start and go until we had a small area surrounded, then would move in for the kill. Nothing but shotguns and hounds were allowed. One fall I was to brother Roscoe's north of Elsie and it snowed and blowed until I could not get home. I had to walk about 3 or 4 miles and borrow a saddle horse to get home.

After we were married in Grant, Nebraska, we went to a country dance that night and danced most of the night. We went to lots of dances those days and after we were married nobody told us to be home at a certain time. The dances were mostly held in homes or haymows. That spring I did not have my corn husked on account of lots of snow. We moved to a farm 4 miles south of Elsie April 1st. It was raining that day and next day there was a bad blizzard and we had nothing to burn but corn cobs, and no damper for our stove and the wind would draw the fire up the chimney, consequently, we stayed in bed most of the day. What a hardship for 'newly married' folks? That spring I shot lots of ducks as we had a lagoon close to the barn. One morning I shot a bunch of ducks and ice was about one quarter inch thick close to the shore but I waded out and got them. . . . .
Then later I had the summer flu after which we moved to Elsie in June, 1929. I then drove a truck through harvest after that I drove a road maintainer until winter, then I shucked corn. Next spring I drove an oil truck for Co-op for two years. Marion fell off a trailer and broke his arm, but it was set crooked so had to have it broken over and he had to pack a small bucket of sand in his band for weeks to straighten it out. We moved to a farm southeast of Elsie in 1931. That year my corn was hailed out in September. Shirley was born February 5, 1932. When we moved to the farm, I did not have horses enough to farm, I would break 2 or 3 mules so I would have summer use of them. In 1933 corn was worth 10 cents a bushel so we could not buy much with it. We milked several cows. I drove 2 miles and picked corn for 2½ cents a bushel. We dried completely out in 1934. In 1935 we had terrible dust storms. One day it got dark in the middle of the afternoon, I had 6 head of horses and mules on a lister, and when I got to the barn I had to go to the house after the lantern before I could unharness them. In 1936 we moved to a farm about 7 miles west and lived in a sod house. One day my wife was outside and heard Shirley screaming, and she was standing on top of the table and pointing to the wall, hollering "snake"! There was a big bull snake coming out of the sod wall. We bought our first tractor at this time which was an International F30 on steel wheels.

In 1940 we moved about 3 miles east to a larger place. One time we had sleeping sickness in horses and lots of them died. I had a saddle horse that was sick and someone said whiskey was a good remedy, so I went to town about 12 miles after some and got a neighbor to come help me to drench him, but the horse was down, so I said, "I believe it would do us more good", so we drank it, and the horse died. In 1943 we plowed corn 24 hours a day,did not stop the tractor only to grease and refuel. We averaged 100 acres a day for 4 days. One day Eveline and I were scuffling and I sat on her lap and threw her thumb out of joint and I had to take her 30 miles to the doctor to get it thrown back in place. Marion enlisted in the Navy in 1942 and took boot training at the Great Lakes and he was on a destroyer, John Paul Jones. Dean enlisted in the Navy in 1942 and took his boot training at Farragut, Idaho and was a signalman. Dean could not pass his first exam but ate bananas and malted milks until they ran out of his ears.

NOTE: James Dolan Carter was born 22 August 1898 at Dugger, Indiana and died 15 July 1967 at Wauneta, Nebraska. He is buried in the Elsie, Nebraska Cemetery. This manuscript was furnished by his younger daughter, Shirley Bell Carter Bailey. His description of life on the prairies of Nebraska as a young man and as an adult is fairly typical of many others who grew up and lived on a farm through those years. C. Carter

Elsie, Nebraska - It falls to the lot of but a few married couples to observe their golden wedding anniversary, but Mr. and Mrs. Riley Carter among Elsie's most loved and respected citizens observed their golden wedding seven years ago. Riley Carter and Diane Sparks were married in Greene County, Indiana November 11, 1869. Mr. Carter then having just past twenty-one years of age and his bride twenty started housekeeping on a farm near Harrodsburg, Indiana. (They were living with William Carter I at the time of the 1870 census.) They lived there nine years where their daughters were born, Annie Law passed away in 1913 her home being north of Wallace. Nancy Coppersmith who lives near Elise and Lily who died in infancy.

In the spring of 1879 they migrated to Nebraska and located on the first homestead ever filed upon Gage County. After staying there seven years, they took up a homestead which is now the Arthur Pelton Place. After living there fifteen years they moved to Elsie where they have since resided. They have besides their daughter, eight grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren to gladden their lives. All of them live within fifteen miles of Elsie. No observation was made of the wedding anniversary owing to the critical illness of their son-in-law Andrew Coppersmith. The entire community extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Carter and many more years of successful married life. (Andrew Coppersmith died at Elsie, Nebraska 26 November 1926.) (William Riley died 25 September 1935 and Diane Sparks Carter passed away 7 March 1945 at the age of 97.)

Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Jameson Note 66th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Jameson will have their 66th Wedding Anniversary on Jan. 29.

This winter will end their trailer living in Mesa, Ariz., where they have spent five months each winter for the past 22 years.

Bob is 88 years old and Ida is 85, so they think it is time to stay in Nebraska and enjoy the snow.

They have three daughters; Mrs Agnes Flaming, Elsie; Inez McCaffree, Sterline, Co. and Berl Leach, Mesa, Ariz. and one son Lex, of Lubbock, Texas, nine grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

The three daughters and families and some of the great grandchildren gathered at the home of Agnes Flaming on Jan. 1st to honor their parents.

Bob and Ida plan a quiet day at home on the 29th. They say Nebraska is still a better place to live the year around, and the snow is beautiful.

Death Claims Life of Early Settler

Death claimed the life of another early settler of this county last Wednesday, September 25th, when William Riley Carter of Elsie passed into another world. Mr. Riley was past eigthy-seven years of age and came to this county forty-four years ago. With his wife they passed through all the hardships known to the early settlers of the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter would have been married sixty-six years had he lived until November 11th of this year. All the relatives and friends came to help them celebrate their sixty-fifth wedding anniversery last year.

Obituary.

A baby boy was born 87 years, 3 months, and 5 days ago in Monroe county, Indiana, who was to live and help build the west into the well populated land we now find. William Riley Carter grew to strong manhood there. He was married to Diama Sparks November 11, 1869, in Green ounty, Indiana.

Three children were born to bless this union, Annie, Nancy and Lily Francis who died in infancy.

They came to Beatrice, Nebr., nearly fifty-three years ago and lived on Freeman's homestead which was the first taken in the United States. Forty-four years ago they came to Perkins county and homesteaded six miles north of Elsie. They lived ten years in a sod house of three rooms. During this time they lost both daughters by a double wedding to two of the first homesteaders, Annie to Dave Law and Nancy to Andy Coppersmith

Mr. and Mrs. Carter lived in and about Elsie for twenty-five years. Since the death of Mr. Coppersmith, nine years ago, they have made their home with their daughter, Mrs. A. T. Coppersmith.

Mr. Carter was raised as a Baptist but never joined the church. He gave freely to any christian organization. He attended whenever possible, even in his last years. Mr. Carter was a dearly loved old man and was claimed as "Uncle Riley" by all who knew him. He passed on to his reward on Wednesday, September 25, 1935, about wo o'clock, having lived a long and eful life.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a dear wife and daughter, five grandchildren seventeen great grandchildren, and one great, great grandchild, a host of relatives and friends.

Final Rites Held Monday At Elsie for Early Settler

Memorial services were held for Mrs. Nancy Coppersmith from the Elsie Methodist church Monday, Sept. 2, 1957 with Rev. W. J. Willcox officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings sang "In the Garden," "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" and "Going Down the Valley" with Mrs. Frank Scrimsher at the piano.

Casket bearers were Chas. Coppersmith, Frank Tatum, Louis Coppersmith, Bernard Tatum, Clarence Longmore and Howard Webster.

Interment was made in the Elsie cemetery nnder the direction of the Bullock-Long Funeral Home.

Obituary

Nancie Emmaline Carter, daughter of William R. and Diana Carter, was born Dec. 17, 1872 at Bloomington, Ind. She passed away from this life Aug. 31 at her home northeast of Elsie, at the age of 84 years, 8 months and 14 days.

She with her family came to Beatrice, Nebr. in 1883 and lived on Freeman's Homestead, which was the first taken in the United States. Sixty-five years ago, in 1892, they came further west, to Perkins County, where they took up a homestead 6 miles north of Elsie. For 10 years they lived in a three room sod house, suffering all of the privations of the early pioneers.

On Nov. 26, 1891, she was married to Andrew T. Coppersmith at Elsie, in a double wedding ceremony with her sister Annie, and J. D. Law. To this union was born four children: William Harlan, Nellie Mae, Ollie Electic and Andrew Delbert. She was preceded in death by her husband and one son, William Harlan.

Mrs. Coppersmith was devoted to her home and family. Their needs were her first responsibility, yet she maintained an interest in community activities and churches. A hard worker all of her life, even when suffering from a fractured hip two years ago, she hurried back to her normal household duties when to others this seemed impossible. Her high spirit, courage and resourcefulness will be remembered by all who knew her.

Mrs. Coppersmith is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Matson, North Platte; Mrs. Orrin Tatum, Elsie and by one son, Andrew Delbert Coppersmith, Elsie, who shared the home with his mother; also by 14 grandchildren, 26 great grandchildren, besides a host of relatives and friends. A kind and loving mother, a devoted and loyal wife.

Relatives attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sparks and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Coppersmith, all of North Platte; Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings of Littleton, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Tatum and Keith, Denver, Colo.; Chas. Coppersmith, Rupert, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Don Coppersmith, Ogallala; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Webster and family, Wellfleet and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rowan and family of Wallace.

DIAMA SPARKS CARTER SERVICES HELD AT ELSIE

Diama Sparks Carter was born Decmeber 7, 1849 in Green County, Indiana and departed this life March 7, 1945, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nancy Coppersmith, at the age of 95 years and 3 months.

She was united in marriage to William Riley Carter, November 11, 1869, in Green County, Indiana. Three children were born to bless this union.

They came to Beatrice, Nebr., 62 years ago and lived on Freeman's homestead, which was the first taken in the United States. Fifty-three years ago they came to Perkins County and homesteaded six miles north of Elsie. They lived ten years in a sod house of three rooms. With her husband they passed through all the hardships known to the early settlers of the west.

Mrs. Carter was a good Christian woman of outstanding character and always supported any Christian organizations. She was a dearly beloved woman and was claimed as "Aunt Damo" by all who knew her.

She passed on to her reward on Wednesday, March 7th., about six o'clock, having lived a long and useful life.

She was preceded in death by her husband and two daughters.

She leaves to mourn her passing her daughter. five grandchildren, seventeen great grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Thompson and a host of relatives and friends.

ELLSWORTH CARMICHAEL

Ellsworth (King) Carmichael, 53, a Monroe County farmer, was killed Tuesday when a tractor overturned on him.

Carmichael was a prominent farmer and active in a number of organizations.

Carmichael was sowing seed on the Dale Cazee farm on Leonard Springs Rd. about a quarter-mile east of Ind. 45. He had rented the ground on shares from Cazee for the past eight years.

His wife, Alma, and Cazee's wife, Marie, found his body pinned beneath the massive right rear wheel of the tractor about 7:30 p.m.

The accident happened on the back pasture of the farm. Mrs. Cazee said she last saw Carmichael at 4:30 p.m. while he was loading seed at the barn. Concern for him was aroused when he failed to return from the field a short time after dark.

Mrs. Cazee said Carmichael usually returned to the house before or shortly after dark.

She and Carmichael's wife walked to the back pasture, where they found the accident site.

Witnesses said the tractor fell to the right. Tire markings at the scene indicated Carmichael attempted to make a sharp turn. It also is believed a lift on the front of the tractor may have caused it to overturn.

Sheriff's deputies said Carmichael had been dead about two hours. The tractor motor was cold, indicating it had been off for some time, they said. 23 Mar 1966

From his army records Joseph CARMICHAEL joined Company "C" of the 97th Regiment of Indiana Volunteers on 13 August 1862. He was described as 5 Feet 7 inches tall, light complexion, blue eyes and tan hair. The company was commanded by John W. Carmichael(Solomon, Duncan). He was mustered in 20 September, 1862 at Terre Haute, IN. Joseph Young, whose letters have been published by the Monroe County Historical Society, had been a neighbor of Joseph Carmichael as had several others in the company. Joseph Young was First Sergeant of the company and was eventually promoted to Captain 20 March 1864 and placed in command of the company. However he was killed in the Battle of Kenesaw Mountain, Georgia 27 June 1864. His body was severed by a canon shot. Joseph Young's letters began on September 11, 1862 and were written on army payroll sheets,muster sheets, stock requisition sheets and scraps of paper. Portions of his letters referred to Joseph Carmichael (From these letters Joseph Carmichael was sick in the hospital on November 16 and very bad on February 4th, the day before he died). From the letter Joseph was the fifth death of the company.

The company had had some rigorous training at Camp Thompson and Camp Morton which were apparently near Indianapolis and then they had a long march to Louisville, Ky according to the letter of October 29th. By November 4 he reports their destination from Louisville is Columbus, Kentucky by steam boat and on November 16th he reported they had arrived at Memphis, Tennessee. At that time Joseph Carmichael was sick and in the hospital. Measles and Janders were mentioned as causes of sickness among the men. From Memphis the company moved to La Grange, Tennessee and there Joseph died 5 February 1863. He was buried in grave no 171 in a temporary cemetery near the church which was being used as a hospital. Several years later the U.S. Government transferred the remains of known soldiers to Federal Cemeteries but apparently the marker for Joseph's grave had been removed.Therefore he is one of the unkown soldiers at the Corinth National Cemetery, where the remains may or may not have been moved. Corinth, Mississippi is about 40 miles southeast of Joseph Carmichael's burial site at La Grange, Tennessee. Portions of two of Joseph W. Young's letters follows: (Speed Sexson mentioned died at La-Grange,TN 24 Feb 1863, nineteen days after Joseph died).

Dear wife-----------------
-----We are fortifying and making ready. General Grant telegraphed here that Vandorn was advancing in this direction with Fifteen Thousand Cavalry and immediately General Denver commenced preparing for him by making, fortifying and preparing the ground for defense VC. You wished to know when I thought I would be home. That is a question that I cannot answer. You have a better chance of knowing that than I have, we only get new news only what comes from the country. But let it be long or short I will do my duty to my country and if I fail I will fall in defense of my country which I had rather do than be at home a traitor to my country. As to the health of the boys it is improving. Our Boys are all on the mend except Joseph Carmichael and Speed Sexson. They are very bad, Len Sparks is nearly well at this time

Joseph W. Young

La Grange, Tenn.
February 10th 1863

Dear Father:(Jacob Young II)

I take this opportunity of informing you that I am well at present, hoping if these lines comes to hand they may find you enjoying good health. I have nothing of importance to write at this time only the health of the Reg. is very bad at this time. We have 31 privates for duty. There have been five deaths out of our company. Joseph Carmichael is the only one that you was acquainted with.---
Now Dear Father it is thought that we will have to go to Vicksburg and there face the music, which will be no terror to me altho it will be the hardest place in the South to take and one of Vast importance to us and it will give us possession of this whole Country and the State of Mississippi for the Rebbles then cannot get in behind us and cut off our supplies from the river and then we will take Jackson.--

CHARLES HOLDER AND MARIA MARGARET KRAUSE

(See Alexander Carmichael and Anna Maria Holder)

Charles HOLDER, b 22 Jan 1770, Surry co, NC, is recorded in 1830 census Monroe co, IN, but neither he nor a widow is found in 1840. He is buried in Carmichael Cem, Greene co, IN, as C. HOLDER with no dates. His widow, Maria Margarethe KRAUSE, b 10 Oct 1775, Surry co, NC, is recorded in 1850 census Indian Creek twp, Monroe co, IN, with her daughter, Margaret KIRK. The children of Charles HOLDER and Margaret KRAUSE were all baptized as infants at Shiloh Lutheran Church on Muddy Creek, now in Forsyth co, NC, and were recorded again with their birth dates in the Moravian Archives at Winston-Salem, NC, when their mother joined the Moravian church in 1810 by adult baptism. No probate record nor deeds have been found for Charles HOLDER in IN. RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA, Volume 6, pages 2753-4, in the Bethania diary, 20 Sep 1803, state: ."Br. PFOHL was called to the widow of Wendel KRAUSE, who died a few days ago. On the very day on which her husband was buried, she was taken sick with fever and was now very weak. Br. PFOHL talked with her yesterday when he visited her daughter, wife of Charles HOLDER, with whom she is staying at present." Charles HOLDER signed for his wife as an heir of Wendel KRAUSE, since married women had no property rights at that time. The original Shiloh Lutheran Church baptismal record book is deposited at Moravian Archives, Winston-Salem, NC, and is written in German; it is on microfilm at NC Archives in Raleigh.

Other references to the Charles HOLDER family in RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA are:

7:3247 Bethania 28 Jul 1814 re the death of Andreas VOLCK, s/o Andreas VOLCK and Maria Margarethe ROMIG
Br. KLUGE went again to that neighborhood, stopping at the home of Charles HOLDER, fourteen miles from here, to whose farm the remains were to be brought for burial.

> Later references to the funeral of a grandchild at his farm also confirm perhaps that there was a family burial ground on his premises, which was not recorded in the 5-volume collection of FORSYTH COUNTY, NC, CEMETERIES by Stanley, Hartmann and Sheek, which probably indicates the cemetery is long-gone.

8:3662 Bethania 10 Oct 1823
My wife and I visited the widowed Sr. SCHNEIDER, who lives six miles from Bethania, also Salomon SPONHAUER, nine miles, and Charles HOLDER, fifteen miles from here. HOLDER's wife still belongs to the Bethania congregation. These people live near the Pilot Mountain and we took advantage of the opportunity to climb this remarkable mountain. It rises, solitary and steep, from level land. The top, or crown, consists of one, single, uncut rock, with sides so perpendicular that it can be climbed at only one place and there with difficulty. On top of this mass of rock there is three-quarters of an acre of fertile soil in which trees grow. Because of its remarkable formation, this Pilot Mountain is surely one of the most notable works of nature in this state. It fills the beholder with wonder and moves him to praise Him who has wrought so royally. From the top of this mountain, one has a very wide view on all sides, and can see several hundred farms and the winding river Yadkin. On the western horizon the great Blue Ridge is plainly visible. In the soft light of the moon we walked back to the home of our guide. His wife had wished that I might hold a service at her house that evening, but it was not possible because nearly all the neighbors were busy husking corn. Her eighty-year-old mother lives with them and they take good care of her.

> Pilot Mountain is pictured in Volume 8 p 4200, and reproduced here on p

I went to Salem for Sr. Rebecca BAGGE, so that she and our family could go to the Pilot.

> Rebecca BAGGE was d/o Charles HOLDER's first cousin, Christine HOLDER BAGGE.

7 and 8 Oct 1828
We made a trip to the Pilot; lodged with the Charles HOLDERs. The weather was fine.

JOSEPH HOLDER AND JOHANNA M. VOLWEILER
(See Charles Holder and Maria Margaret Krause)

Charles HOLDER was the youngest child of Joseph HOLDER and Johanna Maria VOLLWEILER, as determined from a census by the Moravians of their neighbors, who had been allowed to buy land in the Wachovia tract, owned by the church. The census gives their names, as above, and a birth date of 1 Mar 1727 in "Allemaengel", PA, which the Berks county, PA historical society stated referred to the present-day Albany township in Berks county and Lynn township in Lehigh county, PA; only the birth date, without a place, was given for Johanna Maria VOLLWEILER. The names and birth dates of all their children were also recorded in the census. Dobbs Parish Cem in present-day Forsyth co, NC, was established by the Moravians for non-members. It is recorded in FORSYTH COUNTY, N.C., CEMETERY RECORDS by Stanley, Hartmann and Sheek and listed are Joseph HOLDER, man, died 1792 and Anna Maria HOLDER, widow, died 1799. Her birth was recorded as 8 Nov 1727 in the census. Discovery of this couple's parents gave a more specific birth place of Mahanatawny, Amity township, for Joseph HOLDER, which is within present-day Berks co, PA. Moravian Archives had more specific data on the death date of Johanna Maria FOLLWEILER, where her death is recorded as 11 Jan 1799.

Joseph HOLDER is mentioned in the published Moravian records, though he was never a member of that church.

RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA, Volume 1, page 361, Bethabara Diary, 9 Nov 1767
Yesterday Andreas VOLK, Joseph HOLDER, STAUBER and their families, arrived from Pennsylvania.

Bethania, with 37 or 38 taxables, including those living in Wachovia, north of Salem, takes the following roads ... the old Shallow Ford road to Joseph HOLDER's bridge - 2½ miles ....

2:831 Bethabara Diary 24 Jan 1774

I went to SCHAUB's farm to baptise Johannes SCHNEIDER's child, as he had requested. His neighbors were nearly all there - Joseph HOLDER, Andreas VOLK, Christel CONRAD, SCHULZ Sr. and their wives and Johannes KRAUSE's wife.

3:1198 Bethania diary 11 Dec 1777
This morning some of our neighbors passed on their way to Muster on Joseph HOLDER's farm. Several from the Upper Town also attended.

> The Moravians were pacifists and had been specifically exempted from the militia duty "muster" required of all American colonists aged 16 to 60 when they accepted the Great Tract of land and agreed to establish towns in the North Carolina piedmont. Only members were allowed to live in their congregation towns, but they did sell land to non-members, men they deemed to be of good character, and who had agreed that if they re-sold, they would give the Moravian church first option to buy.

4:1645 Bethania diary 27 Oct 1780
Joseph HOLDER and his family passed on their way to SCHEMEL's farm. The Liberty soldiers have taken everything from them and beat him and his wife.

5:2108 Bethania diary 25 Apr 1785
We made our first visits to certain members and friends living outside the town. We went by way of Joseph HOLDER's, where we turned in and his wife received us with much affection; she was so happy she hardly knew what to do, gave us some apples which seemed as fresh as though they had just been picked from the tree. Then her husband came in and was very friendly and they went with us to PFAFF's, where no one was home, so they accompanied us to Christian CONRAD's where we spent the noontime. One of the CONRAD children showed us the way to John KRAUSE's; from there we went to Andreas VOLK's and Casper STOLTZ's and from there back to SCHULTZ's. We were guided from place to place and everywhere were received heartily. One of SCHULTZ's children showed us the way to the Shallowford road and from there we could find our way home alone.

> This passage was written by a new Moravian minister.

Joseph HOLDER appeared on the 1771 tax list for Surry county, NC, with 3 taxables and in 1772 he had 2 men on whom he had to pay a poll tax. In 1782 on the personal property tax list of Surry County he had 8 horses and 1 cow in Captain HUMPHREY's District, so apparently had recouped the losses he sustained when he defended his property from confiscation by renegade troops in 1780. On the 1784-1787 State Census, Wachovia Tract, page 146, he is listed with 1 male 21-60, 5 males under 21, and 3 females. 1790 federal census of Stokes county, NC, he had 4 males over 16 and 2 females.

Surry County, NC, Deed Book B page 35, 3 Apr 1780, records a grant to Joseph HOLDER of 400 acres adjacent to Moravian land, STRUPE and FISHER. Deed Book B page 55, same date, records a 400 acre grant to Andrew FULK (VOLK) on Bethany road adjacent CONRAD, Moravian land and Joseph HOLDER. Deed Book C, pages 71, 72, 25 Jul 1784 records a deed from Andrew FULK and wife rgaret to Peter PFAFF ₤150 400 acres on a branch of Muddy Creek adjacent Bethania road, Movian land, Joseph HOLDER, crossing Bethabara road.

These deeds confirm the locations and neighbors recorded in the Moravian diaries.

The children of Joseph HOLDER and Johanna Maria VOLLWEILER were:

Heinrich, b 31 Dec 1754, PA; d Jun 1828, Stokes co, NC, his estate administered by Jacob and Joseph HOLDER was finally settled 1830, but the names of all his heirs are not on the few papers remaining in his probate file. Henry HOLDER returned to NC from a trip to Bethlehem, PA; he had made the trip on foot in thirty days. The published Moravian records document his militia activity in 1776 and his absence in the army in 1780. He was married by 1780 to Elizabeth ---. In 1790 his household had 5 males under 16; in 1800 he had 3 males b 1774-1784, 1 male b 1784-1790, 2 males and female b 1790-1800; he was listed as over 45 and his wife as 26-45. In 1810 his household included 1 male b 1784-1794, who would be Michael, and 1 male and 1 female, b 1794-1800. His wife was born before 1765. By 1820 he had 1 male b 1794-1804 and 2 females b 1775-1794 and 1 female over 45. All censuses also included him, of course. His children christened at Shiloh Lutheran Church were: Henry, b 31 Jan 1780, Surry co, NC, m ca 1805, Stokes co, NC, Magdalena ---, who may be Mary Magdalene LEINBACH, b 11 Dec 1778, d/o Benjamin LEINBACH and Catharine RIEM, and parents of 7 children baptized at Shiloh, including Benjamin HOLDER, a pioneer of Lawrence co, IN, who is buried in Greene co, IN, where he lived from 1850; John, b 5 Sep 1782, Surry co, NC, m 16 Oct 1804, Stokes co, NC, Barbara LEINBACH, b 16 Jul 1782, d/o Benjamin LEINBACH and Catharine RIEM, d 22 Mar 1843, bur Shiloh Lutheran Cem; Joseph, baptized with no birth date recorded, 17 Apr 1785, m 23 Jan 1808, Stokes co, NC, Catharine SHOUSE, who had 3 children christened and may have died by 1831, when 2 children of a Joseph and Susan HOLDER are recorded; Michael, b 26 Feb 1791, Stokes co, NC, d 12 Oct 1876, Forsyth co, NC, bur Harmony Grove Methodist Cem, m 4 Aug 1816, Stokes co, NC, Catharine DUNWAY, b 10 Jul 1796, d 4 Jul 1872; Martin, b 10 Oct 1796, Stokes co, NC, may be the Martin HOLDER, deceased in Bartholomew co, IN, that appears in 1832 Stokes co, NC, court minutes; Louisa Margaret, b 5 Feb 1799, Stokes co, NC, d 10 Jun 1799, bur Shiloh Lutheran Cem. There is also a Frederick HOLDER, b 15 Jan 1784, d 4 Jun 1862, bur Shiloh Lutheran Cem, m 15 Aug 1809, Stokes co, NC, Esther LEINBACH, b 31 Oct 1783, d/o Benjamin LEINBACH and Christine OLK, d 21 Oct 1872, bur Bethania Moravian Cem, whose parentage is undetermined. This couple ined the Moravian congregation at Bethania in 1845, when George KRAUSE, nephew of Wendel RAUSE, and his wife, Louisa HOLDER, daughter of George and granddaughter of Joseph, joined and he was still a member in 1852, but his burial and lack of a death record in the Moravian church indicate: he was no longer a member at the time of his death.

George, b 6 Jan 1757, PA; d 7 Nov 1800, Stokes co, NC, bur Shiloh Lutheran Church Cem; m by 1780, Margaret NULL, d/o Michael and Elizabeth NULL, who d 28 Apr 1821, bur Shiloh Lutheran Cem with no legible birth date or age. Their son, John, b 12 May 1780, was baptized by a Moravian minister in a home with the infants of other women, whose husbands were away in the army. He is recorded in the published records as son of Henry, but at the Moravian Archives, his father is correctly listed as George, which is further confirmed by the later christening at the Lutheran church of Henry's son, John. Further differentiation of which John HOLDER married which LEINBACH sister was determined by the sponsors of their children's christenings and the assumption that the grandparents were the sponsors. This John HOLDER's marriage, 28 Sep 1805, Stokes co, NC, to Elizabeth LEINBACH, b 17 Apr 1777, living 1830, but dead by 1839, is remarked by the Moravians in the published RECORDS, Volume 6, page 2832, the Bethania Diary 5 Oct 1805: "To our sorrow during this week one of our Society members, Elisabeth LEINBACH, Benjamin's daughter, separated herself from our communion by her marriage to a single man, John HOLDER, who does not belong to us." Their 7 children are recorded at Shiloh Lutheran Church and are named in Lawrence co, IN, Will Book I, p 55, dated 4 Mar 1839 and recorded 22 Mar 1839. Children of George HOLDER and Margaret NULL recorded at Shiloh Lutheran Church were: Louisa, b 31 Apr 1782, d 12 Sep 1875, bur Pfafftown Christian Cem, Forsyth co, NC, m 29 Mar 1803, Stokes co, NC, George KRAUSE, b Oct 1777, s/o John KRAUSE and Anna Maria VOLK, d 21 Jan 1864; Elizabeth, baptized 29 Jan 1786, birth date not recorded, may be the Elizabeth HOLDER m 24 Apr 1810, Stokes co, NC, Benjamin LEINBACH; George Jacob, b Sep 1787, called George by his mother, 13 Mar 1827, when she deeded property to him, though no George HOLDER appears on 1820 and 1830 censuses, so he may be the Jacob HOLDER that appears in censuses and m 15 Dec 1814, Stokes co, NC, Rebecca WILLIAMS, though it was a Jacob HOLDER who administered Henry HOLDER's estate; Catharine, b 28 Jan 1790; Anna Maria, b 11 Jan 1792; Henry, b 28 May 1797, may be the Henry HOLDER m 31 Aug 1818, Sarah SCHAUS and had 2 daughters baptized at Shiloh Lutheran; Susanna Margaret, b 8 Jun 1799. In 1790 census George HOLDER had 3 males under 16 and 4 females, one of whom would have been his wife. In 1800 his widow was not found, but in 0 she was born 1765-1784 and headed a household of 1 male and 2 females b 1794-1800. In 4 her deed to her son, John, was witnessed by Charles HOLDER.

Elizabeth, b 25 Mar 1761, PA; d 6 Nov 1797, bur Dobbs Parish Cem, Forsyth co, NC; m Apr 1777, John SHAMEL, b 1 Oct 1746, Oley, PA, whose widowed mother, maiden name Anna Margarethe GEIGER, m 2d, Peter BINKLEY and came to NC in 1772. John SHAMEL was a lieutenant in the American Revolution, who suffered all his life from a wounded leg that would not heal. He died 24 Feb 1813, Stokes co, NC and is buried at Bethabara Moravian Cem in present-day Forsyth co, NC. He joined the Moravian church when he married 30 May 1799 Hannah MILLER, b 13 Jul 1756, York co, PA, d/o Jacob MILLER, d 11 Jul 1828, widow of John HAUSER, whom she had married 26 Dec 1776. Her widow's pension application W-9650 is proof of both husbands' military service. John SHAMEL's children by Elizabeth HOLDER were recorded by the Moravians when he joined and are named in his will, Stokes co, NC, Will Book 2, p 142. There are no children of his second marriage. The children of John SHAMEL and Elizabeth HOLDER were: Joseph, b 17 Jan 1778, Surry co, NC, d 29 Sep 1857, Carroll co, OH, a member of the Moravian church, m 2 Apr 1805 in OH Anna Rosina DEMUTH, b 19 Oct 1783, PA, d/o Christoph DEMUTH, a Revolutionary soldier, and Susanna Maria KLEIN; John, b 31 Oct 1779, d Nov 1827, was alone in a household, 1820 census, Stokes co, NC; Anna Elisabeth, b 2 Feb 1782, living 1850 census Forsyth co, NC, m 22 Dec 1800, Surry co, NC, Friedrick KETTNER, b 10 May 1774, NC, s/o Francis KETNER and Elizabeth MILLER, sister of John SHAMEL's 2d wife, d 3 Apr 1843, bur Shiloh Lutheran Cem, named no children in his will; Maria Catharine, b and d 29 Apr 1784, bur Dobbs Parish Cem; George, b 21 Jul 1785, d 25 Oct 1850, Carroll co, OH, a Moravian, m 10 Dec 1810 in OH, Sarah Catharine DEMUTH, b 8 Sep 1790, PA, d/o Christoph, whose ancestry is traced to Czechoslovakia in THE DEMUTH FAMILY AND THE MORAVIAN CHURCH, C. Battershell, Seibert Printing Company, Dover, 1931; Jacob, b 8 Apr 1788, d 13 Aug 1868, Forsyth co, NC, m 29 Oct 1814, Stokes co, NC, Troudale HAUSER named by Heinrich HAUSER in Stokes co, NC, Will Bk 3, p 70, 17 May 1821, m 2d, 7 Jul 1827, Stokes co, NC, Anna SNYDER; Abraham, b 24 Jun 1790, Stokes co, NC, d 30 Jan 1876, Forsyth co, NC, m 2 May 1814, Stokes co, NC, Elizabeth FIDLER, who is named as d/o Peter FIDLER in Stokes co, NC, Will Bk 3 p 196; Anna Maria, b 21 Apr 1793, Stokes co, NC, m, as Mary SHAMEL, 18 May 1814, Stokes co, NC, Henry HAUSER; Peterus, b 2 Jan 1796, Stokes co, NC, d 31 May 1864, Forsyth co, NC, m 21 Sep 1816, Stokes co, NC, Susanna Elisabeth PFAFF, d/o Joseph PFAFF.

Catharina, b 31 Oct 1762, PA, d 9 Jul 1816, bur Doub's Chapel Methodist Cem, two miles southwest of Vienna in present-day Forsyth co, NC; m 1786, Joseph BINKLEY, b 9 Jul 1761, York co, PA, s/o Peter BINKLEY and Margaret GIEGER SHAMEL. His death is recorded in RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA, Volume 6, page 2518, Bethania Diary, 8 May 1794: "Br. HESSLER held the funeral on the Parish God's Acre of Joseph BINKLEY, who lived eight years with his present widow, maiden name, Jos. HOLDER, by whom he had no children. His age was 32 years and 10 months." She is indexed as "Josephine" HOLDER; the diarist's error is probably because he was told she was a daughter of Joseph HOLDER. Stokes co, NC, Will Bk 1, pp 58, 59, 12 Jul 1794, lists the inventory of Joseph BINKLEY, dec'd, with Catharine BINKLEY and Martin HOLDER as administrators. Mordecai PHILLIPS, b 20 Jun 1767, probably s/o Joseph PHILLIPS, d 10 Feb 1835, bur Doub's Chapel, signed as an heir of Joseph HOLDER in the 1800 settlement of George HOLDER's estate. There is an undated marriage bond in Stokes co, NC, for Mordecai PHILLIPS and Cathy BINKLEY, with Charles HOLDER as bondsman. Mordecai PHILLIPS had a son, Charles, as indicated in Stokes co, NC, deeds. He may also have a connection to the Joseph PHILLIPS, b 1790, NC, d 1836, Monroe co, IN, m 2 Feb 1819, Monroe co, IN, Elizabeth KING, whose only child married a daughter of Adam FULK and Elizabeth CARMICHAEL; Mordecai PHILLIPS, b 1793, "Pilot's Mountain, NC", who m 30 Mar 1822, Stokes co, NC, Jane GORDON, d/o John GORDON and Barzilla MARTIN, whose daughter Barzilla m James KING and came to Greene co, IN; this younger Mordecai PHILLIPS and Jane GORDON went to Cass co, MO, 1830; and John PHILLIPS, whose will in Greene co, IN, Bk I, dated 6 Jul 1842, recorded 25 Dec 1846, names wife, Elizabeth, daus Elizabeth and Polly and son Mordecai, with David ALLEN as executor and Amos OWENS and Benjamin PHILLIPS as witnesses. 1850 census Greene co IN Richland twp #566 has Elizabeth PHILLIPS, 77, widow, NC; Elizabeth, 56, widow, NC; Louisa, 49, widow, NC; John PENNINGTON, 23, KY; Rachael PENNINGTON, 17, KY; Ibby PENNINGTON, 21, female, KY; Elizabeth PENNINGTON, 17, IN; Adaline PENNINGTON, 13, IN; Angeline PENNINGTON, 13, IN; George BARNETT, 22, PA. JOHN HOLDER AND BARBARA VOLK
(See Joseph Holder and Johanna Maria Vollweiler)

Joseph HOLDER was the son of John HOLDER and Barbara VOLK.

Raymond Hollenbach translated in Aug 1973 MORAVIAN CHURCH RECORDS, CONGREGATION AT ALLEMENGEL, CONGREGATION AT GNADENHUTTEN at Moravian Archives, Bethlehem, PA. In family records where members give autobiographical data and list their children's names, birth dates and places, is the following:

John HOLDER, born in London in old England, March 21, 1694, and baptised soon thereafter. His father was Reu HOLDER and his mother was Sibilla GRAEFF, both members of the High Church. He came to America in 1710 and married Barbara VOLCK in the month of May 1722. In 1746 and 1747 he heard Brother George SCHNEIDER, but at first was very much adverse to his teachings. However, after attending a meeting and learning what was really going on, he changed his attitude and in February 1748 he was admitted as a member of the congregation at Bethlehem.

John HOLDER was s/o Reu HOLDER and Sibilla GRAEFF.

There is no evidence of his mother in the Kocherthäl Colony in NY 1709. HISTORY OF LEHIGH COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, Vol. 3, by Charles Roberts, 1914, p 1339, re the VOLCK family gives a birth date of 17 Apr 1703, Durnstein for Barbara, who m Mar, 1722, "John HOLDER, born in London, March 21, 1694, a son of Rem HOLDER".

Just what nationality John HOLDER's family was is unknown; his mother's surname is definitely German and many Germans had sought refuge in England. John HOLDER's sons were all bilingual.

WENDEL AND ANNA MARIA KRAUSE
(See Charles Holder and Maria Margaret Krause)

Margaret KRAUSE, b 10 Oct 1775, Surry co, NC, who married Charles HOLDER, was the d/o Wendel KRAUSE, whose tombstone in Shiloh Lutheran Church Cem, present-day Forsyth co, NC, is still legible: b Nov 1739, PA, d Sep 1803, NC. He was baptized 6 Nov 1740, Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, New Holland, Lancaster co, PA, with his birth recorded as 23 Oct 1740 and his father listed as Melchior, mother's name not given. His estate names his widow as Anna Maria, whose age was 80 in 1823. His brother, also baptized at New Holland, PA, was John KRAUSE, b 12 May 1743, d 18 Aug 1830, Stokes co, NC, m Anna Maria VOLK, d/o Andreas VOLK and Maria Margarethe ROMIG. His sister, Sabina, whose birth is not recorded at New Holland, died 1816, Stokes co, NC, and was a widow FESSLER when she m 2d, 4 Sep 1792, Jacob ROMINGER, b 30 Apr 1749, Conestoga, PA, d 30 Aug 1816, his 2d marriage. Though never a member of their congregations, Wendel KRAUSE does appear in the published RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA:

3:1965 Salem diary 6 Jun 1776
Wendel KRAUSE came with his wagon to the store and loaded it with forty bushels of corn for Cross Creek and HECKEWALDER sent the new money accumulated here to pay the debt there.

3:1066 Salem diary 15 Jun 1776
Wendel KRAUSE returned with his wagon from Cross Creek, but brought no load, for just as he reached there, General LEE arrived with his regiment, on their way toward Charlestown, and everything went to pieces. The best part of the trip was that he used the £180 Congress money there; but nearly as much has accumulated in the store here during the time.

3:1198 Bethania 11 Aug 1777
Wendel KRAUSE, who had bought a horse from a horse-thief for £30, had to return it to its former owner.

4:1699 Salem 22 Aug 1781
At our request Wendel KRAUSE and Isaac KNOLL brought militia to search the woods and if possible, to rid them of robbers, which was done.

4:1754 Bethabara 24 Jun 1781
Br. RANK's wagon was not strong enough, so the militia pressed a wagon from Wendel KRAUSE and they also pressed a horse from Cornelius SALE, who had a horse from Salem.

5:2379 Friedland 10 Sep 1792
Last Tuesday Jacob ROMINGER married the sister of Wendel KRAUSE.

There are many references in the published RECORDS to John KRAUSE, the blacksmith and brother of Wendel, who often served as a teamster for the Moravians and was captain of the local militia throughout the Revolutionary War years. He later joined the Moravian church. The RECORDS state: 5:2050 Bethabara diary 10 Feb 1784. In the morning there was the burial in the grave-yard by the mill of George KAA, step-father of Johannes KRAUSE. His widow, the mother ofJohannes KRAUSE, had been married to him for thirty-three years. He was something over sixty years old. The published translation of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, New Holland, PA, shows a birth to George KAM? and Eve Margr. of Peter, b 25 Apr 1752, bapt 24 May 1752, sponsors Peter HAFENSPERGER and Juliana. The question mark presumably indicates some difficulty with legibility of the original record. In the marriages is Joh. Georg HAEN, s/o Joh.Georg in Darmstadt territory and Eva Margreth KRAUS, daughter of the late KRAUS from Germany 24 Sep 1751, a marriage no sooner than necessary to produce Peter seven months later, _if_ the marriage record is mis-translated due to poor legibility with a reading of HAEN for KAA, since the abbreviated Joh. for Johann indicates this man went by his middle name, and a reading of daughter for widow of the late KRAUS. The Moravian record of George KAA's death indicates his marriage in 1751; he is buried Dobbs Parish Cem, present-day Forsyth co, NC, for non-Moravians with no birth date on tombstone. GERMAN, SWISS, DUTCH, FRENCH AND OTHER IMMIGRANTS TO PENNSYLVANIA FROM 1727 TO 1776, I. Daniel Rupp, 1876, 1930, 1980, p 219: _Palatines from Wirtemberg, Durlach and Zweibrucken_ lists Johannes KAU and Han Georg KAU on _Ship Leslie_ 10 Oct 1749. Countless possible variations on spelling of the name have been considered to pursue it further in NC without result, so far. Research on Melchior KRAUSE continues in PA.

Wendel KRAUSE appears on 1790 census Stokes co, NC, p 192 with 3 males over 16, 1 male under 16 and 4 females. In 1800 he is in Ashe co, NC, with 1 male 10-16, 1 m 45+, 1 f 45+. There are several deeds in Ashe co, NC, and items in his estate indicate he was a man of property when he died.

Children of Wendel and Anna Maria KRAUSE, not in order of their births, were: Andrew, b 1760-1770, MD, d 25 Jan 1835, Hope, Stokes co, NC, m Margaret ALFORD, d/o William who owed Wendel KRAUSE $280 in the estate inventory; John, b 7 Jun 1762, baptized as an adult at Shiloh Lutheran Church 1 Sep 1810, m Louisa --- and had 9 children baptized in the same church; Henry, b 1755-1774, is recorded 1790 in Stokes co, NC, with 1 m 16+, 2 f; in 1800, Ashe co, NC, he had 4 ch, and was not found 1810; Jacob, b 1755-1774 in 1800 census Ashe co, NC, was b before 1766 in 1810 census Ashe co, NC; he had 5 ch in 1800 and 7 in 1810; Adam, b 1775-1784 in 1810 census Ashe co, NC, may be the male b 1784-1790 in Wendel KRAUSE's household 1800; Adam had 7 children in 1810; George, b 1774-1784 had 1 m under 10 in 1800 census Wilkes co, NC; Maria Margarethe, b 10 Oct 1775, NC, m Charles HOLDER; Peter HAUSER, wife not named, and William WELBORN, wife not named, signed as heirs of Wendel KRAUSE. William WELBORN in 1800 census Stokes co, NC, was b 1755-1774, and had 5 children b 1790-1800. There are so many Peter HAUSERs to research. The KRAUSE/CROUSEs in Clay co, IN, history and 1850 census include a Wendel and also have some of the same names of those living in Ashe co, NC, 1850, including the name Wady for girls.

ANDREAS VOLCK AND CATHERINE MECKEL
(See John Holder and Barbara Volk)

Barbara VOLK was d/o Andreas VOLCK and Catharine MECKEL.

He was born 1678 on the Wiese, which means meadow, near Worms, reared in the Lutheran religion and was a husbandman and vine dresser. Catharine MECKEL was born in 1680 in Durnstein, near Worms. In 1709 he came to America with the Kocherthäl colony, which settled in Dutchess co, NY, and moved to Lynn twp, in what is now Lehigh co, PA about 1735, where he warranted 150 acres of land in 1738, affiliated with the Moravian church and died Sep 1747, leaving 8 children, 64 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren. Catharine MECKEL d 2 Jan 1762, survived by 9 children, 64 grandchildren, and 19 great-grandchildren, according to Moravian records at Bethlehem, PA, which state that 2 daughters and 1 son preceded Andreas VOLCK in death, so probably the history is mistaken in survivors of Andreas.

The children of Andreas VOLCK and Catharine MECKEL, whose descendants are now named FULK, FALK, or FAULK, were:

Barbara.

George Hieronymous, b Sep 1705, Durnstein; d 13 Nov 1761, Berks co, PA; he was married to his un-named first wife 9 years; he m 2d, 1739, Dorothea DEWIS/DEWEESE/DAVIS, b 18 Aug 1722, Amity twp, Philadelphia co, PA, who m 2d, 14 Mar 1764, Andreas EISENHARD. George VOLCK had no children but had adopted a child that died young in Nazareth, PA.

Anna Gertruda, b 1707, Durnstein; was with her parents in NY.

Charles, aka Carl or Carlos, b 18 Nov 1709 on the ship at sea, baptized in NY 10 Sep 1710; d 1766, Hebron, Lebanon co (now Potter co), PA; m 1730, Catharine HARZY/HARRY, b 27 Dec 1713, Plymouth twp, Philadelphia co, PA, d/o David HARRY and Catharina MARG. In 1756 Charles VOLCK was commander of Fort Allen and in 1758, commander of Fort Everett. Benjamin FRANKLIN stated in a letter 14 Jan 1756 that he raised a company under FOULK and in a letter 26 Jan 1756 states that FOULK commanded 46 men. When Charles FOULK completed building Fort Allen, he went to build another "between this and Schulykill fort", which became Fort Everett where he commanded 63 men. Children of Charles VOLCK/FOULK and Catharine HARZY/HARRY, recorded at Moravian Archives, Bethelehem, PA, were: Hannah, b 24 Dec 1731, d 7 Oct 1763, Berks co, PA, m 2 Dec 1754, Berks co, PA, Heinrich ROMIG, b 15 Feb 1729, Ittlingen, Palatinate, s/o Adam ROMIG and Agnes Margaretha BERNHARD; Jacob, b 3 Jul 1736, "now married" in 1766; George, b 12 Aug 1739, "now living Bethlehem, PA" in 1766; Catharine, b 1741, d age 4 weeks; Catharina, b 2 Apr 1743, "now living Bethlehem, PA" in 1766; Rebecca, b 18 Nov 1745, d 1769, Bethlehem, PA; Johannes, b 18 Mar 1747, d 19 Mar 1747; stillborn son 1748; stillborn twin sons 1749; Maria, b 25 Sep 1752, arrived Apr 1766, Hebron, PA, with parents; Rosina, b 24 Dec 1754, d 29 Dec 1754; Carl, b 25 Aug 1757; stillborn son 1759.

Anna Maria, b 24 Oct 1710, Newburg, NY; m --- MEYER.

Johannes, b 15 Mar 1712, Newburg, NY.

Elisabeth, b 28 Apr 1714, Hochland, NY; d 25 Sep 1769, Lynn twp, Berks co (now Lehigh co), PA; m 1739 Andreas KRAMER/CRAEMER and was a widow when she died. She had had 2 sons and 3 daughters with only 1 daughter surviving her.

Jacob, b 24 Sep 1716, Hochland, NY; m 29 Jan 1740, Mary DEWIS/DEWEES/DAVIS, b 14 Dec 1721, Amity twp, Philadelphia co, PA. Their children, baptized by the Moravians, were: Johannes, b Jan 1740, d 9 days old; William, b 17 Nov 1744, educated at Bethlehem, PA, as a mason, may be the William VOLK, b 17 Jun 1741 PA, d 11 Aug 1815, bur Dobbs Parish Cem, present Forsyth co, NC, who arrived in NC 1767 and was father of 5 sons and 4 daus by his wife, Magdalena ---; Johannes, b 1 Jul 1745; David, b 26 Nov 1746; Maria, b 6 Nov 1748; Benigna, b 13 Aug 1749; Daniel, b 22 May 1752; Dorothea, b 7 Apr 1754.

From "Pennsylvania German Pioneers" a publication of the original lists of the arrivals in the Port of Philadelphia from 1727-1808, by Ralph Beaver Strassburger, LLD President of the PA German Society.Vol.I

"JOURNEY TO PENNSYLVANIA"

"The journey to Pennsylvania fell naturally into three parts. The first part, and by no means the easiest, was the journey down the Rhine to Rotterdam or some other Port. Gottieb Middelberger in 1750 wrote:

"This journey lasts from the beginning of May to the end of October, fully half a year, amid such hardships as no one is able to describe adequately with their misery. The cause is because the Rhine boats from Heillbronn to Holland have to pass 26 custom houses, at all of which the ships are examined, which is done when it suits the convenience of the custom-house officials. In the meantime the ships with the people are detained long, so that the passengers have to spend much money. The trip down the Rhine lasts therefore four, five or even six weeks. When the ships come to Holland, they are likewise detained five to six weeks. Because things are very dear there, the poor people have to spend nearly all they have during this time"

The second stage of the journey was from Rotterdam to one of the English ports. Most of the ships called at Cowes, on the Isle of Wight.--------------------------------

In England there was another delay of one to two weeks, when the ships were waiting either to be passed through the custom house or waiting for favorable winds. When the ships had for the last time weighed their anchors at Cowes or some other English port, then, writes Mittelberger, "the real misery begins with the long voyage. For from there the ships, unless they have good wind, must often sail eight, nine, ten to twelve weeks before they reach Philadelphia. But even with the best wind the voyage lasts seven weeks."

The third stage of the journey, or the ocean voyage proper, was marked by much suffering and hardship. The passengers being packed densely, like herring, as Mittleberger describes it, without proper food and water, were soon subject to all sorts of diseases, such as dysentery, scurvy, typhoid and smallpox. Children were the first to be attacked and died in large numbers. Mittleberger reports the deaths of 32 children on his ship.----------------------

The terrors of disease, brought about to a large extent by poor food and lack of good drinking water, were much aggravated by frequent storms through which ships and passengers had to pass. "The misery reaches the climax when a gale rages for two or three nights and days, so that every one believes that the ship will go to the bottom with all human beings on board. In such visitations people cry and pray most piteously. When in such a gale the sea rages and surges, so that the waves rise often like mountains one above the other, and often tumble over the ship, so that one fears to go down with the ship; when the ship is constantly tossed from side to side by the storm and waves, so that no one can either walk, or sit, or lie, and the closely packed people in the berths are thereby tumbled over each other, both the sick and the well -- it will be readily understood that many of these people, none of whom had been prepared for hardships, suffer so terribly from them that they do not survive."

"When at last the Delaware River was reached and the city of Brotherly Love hove in sight, where all their miseries were to end, another delay occurred. A health officer visited the ship, and if any persons with infectious diseases were discovered on the ship, it was ordered to remove one mile from the city."-------------------

After many delays a hospital on Fishers Island, at the junction of the Schuylkill with the Delaware was built. But it was 1750 before this action was taken.

Most of the ships arrived in the fall of the year, when the severe winter is right at the door. "The new arrivals are led in a procession to the City Hall, and there they must render the oath of allegiance to the king of Great Britain. After that they are brought back to the ship. Then announcements are printed in the newspaper, stating how many of the new arrivals are to be sold. Those who have money are released. Whoever has a well-to-do friend seeks a loan from them to pay the passage, but there are only a few who succeed. The ship becomes the market-place. The buyers make their choice among the arrivals and bargain with them for a certain number of years and days. They then take them to the merchant, pay their passage and their other debts and receive from the government authorities a written document, which makes the newcomers their property for a definite period."

In the book there are three lists: (1) The captains' lists, marked A; (2) The signers of the oath of allegiance, marked B; (3) The signers of the oath of abjuration, marked C.

The captain of the ship was to make a list of all the people they imported, giving their occupations, and place of origin. But neither the occupations nor the places of domicile in Europe were ever recorded by them. Most of the captains thought that to give the names of the male adults was all that was required. Sometimes the captains give the total number of freights, children being counted as "Half freights". Each captain made his list about as he pleased. They were made on large loose sheets of paper, which he handed to the magistrate at Philadelphia, and many were lost. Lists B and C were made usually by two clerks, so that the same name was sometimes spelled differently. Many did not sign the captain's list as they were sick at the time, so there are many errors in the lists.

Melchior Krause (father of Wendel Krause) was on the ship "Friendship" which arrived in Philadelphia, September 3, 1739. He was one of 58 Male Palatines listed age 16 and upwards. His age was listed as 30. On the same day a similar list was presented at the Court House of Philadelphia. The list indicated that they did this day take and subscribe the "Oaths of the Government", viz.

This "Journey to Pennsylvania" is presented as an example of voyages that many other ancestors have experienced from Germany, England, Ireland, Scotland, etc. during the eighteenth century.

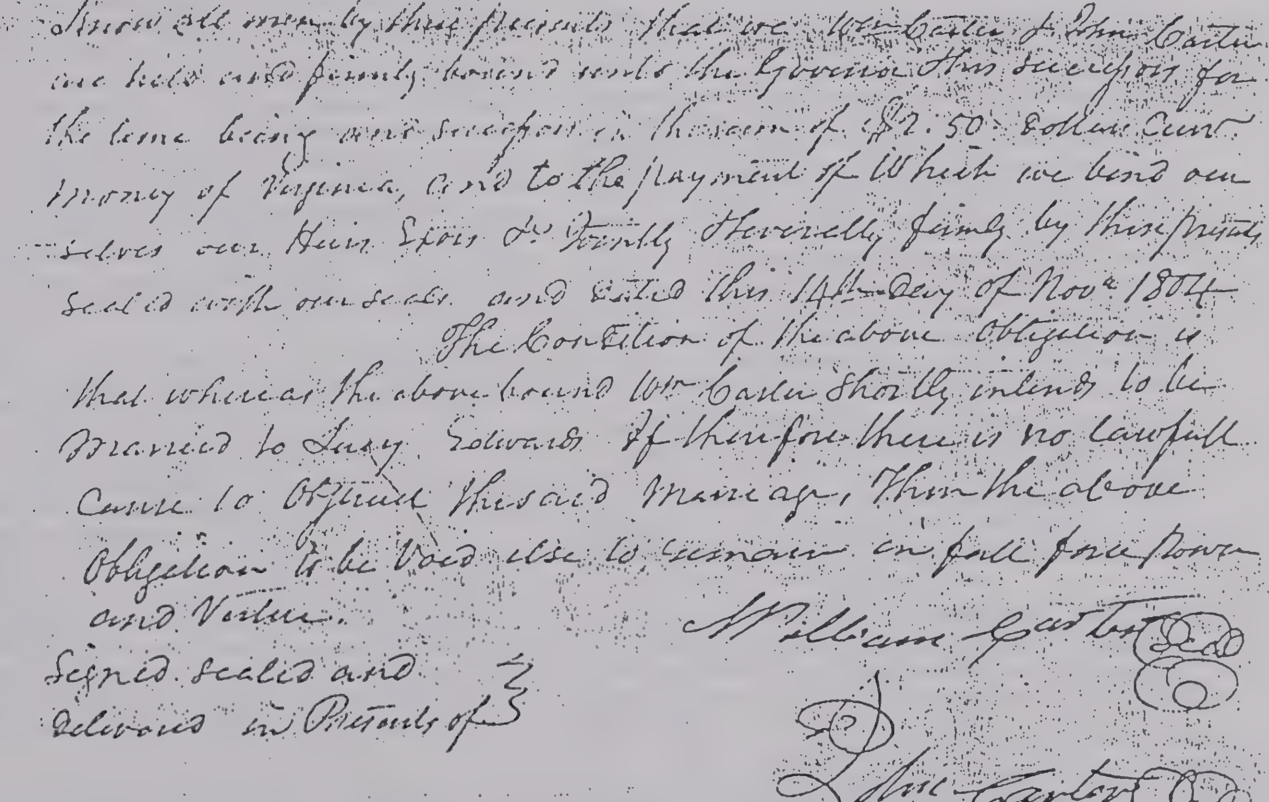
Below is the marriage bond for the marriage of William Carter and Lucy Edwards, daughter of Thomas Edwards. It is signed by William Carter and John Carter 14 Nov 1804, in Patrick County, Virginia. The relationship of John Carter to William Carter has not been proven. Jesse Jones, Baptist minister of the West Fork Church of then either Grayson or Montgomery County, performed the ceremony. The West Fork Church of the New River Association was organized in 1803 with 30 members by Jesse Jones, son of Robert Jones, of the Greasy Creek Church. There were at least two trails through the Blue Ridge Mountains both with elevations of 3000 feet through which people passed back and forth to and from Patrick County. There were several Carters who lived in the area where Wythe, Pulaski, and Carroll Counties now meet. It is most logical that William Carter's parents lived in that area but nothing has been proven. It is believed that Lucy Edwards' parents (Thomas) lived in Patrick County which had been formed from Henry County in 1790-1. It should be realized that the area of Montgomery County that adjoined Patrick County in 1804 on the northwest became Floyd County in 1831. The area of Montgomery County to the west of Patrick County became Grayson County in 1793 and Carroll County County in 1842.



Know all men by these presents that we Wm Carter & John Carter are held and firmly bound unto the Governor & his successors for the time being or his successors in the sum of $150 Dollars Current money of Virginia, and to the payment of which we bind our selves our Heirs Exors &c Jointly Severally firmly by these presents sealed with our seals and dated this 14th day of Novr 1804

The Condition of the above Obligation is that whereas the above bound Wm Carter shortly intends to be married to Lucy Edwards If therefore there is no lawfull Cause to Obstruct the said Marriage, Then the above Obligation to be Void else to remain in full force Power and Virtue.

Digging in a Cemetery

Digging is hardly an unusual activity in a cemetery. But when archaeologists start digging in a cemetery that has not been used in more than a century, chances are something is being discovered, not buried.

A team of archaeologists from Wake Forest University has spent the last several days exploring the "stranger's graveyard" that the Moravians of Bethabara established in 1759, on a site not far from modern-day Reynolda Road.

The archaeologists say their "dig" will yield important information that could help expand the scope of the Bethabara restoration greatly, and safeguard a significant chunk of the community's historical heritage for future generations.

"It's exciting to see this dig going on — they're finding evidence that could help put together the whole picture of the Moravian community system," said Bill Hinman, director of Historic Bethabara Park. "But the big decision — what to do with what is found — remains to be made."

Local historians hope the dig will help clear the way for the graveyard and the nearby site of the Bethabara mill to be donated to a community organization so the properties can be stabilized and linked with the rest of Bethabara park. The sites also could be incorporated into an extensive trail network that planners envision in the area.

The Moravians who settled Bethabara in 1753 laid out a tract of 2,000 acres, extending far beyond the limits of the town whose remains are now preserved in the 50-acre park. "You can think of the mill and the surrounding farm fields as part of a whole development that was carefully planned as a self-sustaining community," Hinman said.

When refugees from the outlying countryside poured into Bethabara during the Indian Wars, they were settled in cabins near the mill, on Mill Creek west of the town. The methodical Moravians even laid out a graveyard for the refugees, who at times actually outnumbered town residents.

Records show 85 "strangers" — outsiders, local non-Moravians or Moravians who had fallen from grace with the congregation and could not be buried in one of the other God's Acres in the area — were buried in the graveyard near the mill between 1759 and 1825. In 1769, the cemetery was declared the Dobbs Parish graveyard, to serve the officially designated unit of the Church of England in the area.

The graveyard became overgrown with trees and brush over the years and was almost forgotten, except by historians, nearby residents and occasional vandals who uprooted and scattered or stole many of the stones. The graveyard, mill site and surrounding property are owned by S&K Investments Inc., a Florida firm owned by members of a family that formerly lived in the area.

The land has been on the market for housing development for a number of years. John A. Kent Jr. of Goldenrod, Fla., a spokesman for the S&K firm, said several years ago that the family would be interested in donating the graveyard, which cannot be developed, and possibly the mill site, which is in the floodplain of Mill Creek, to a unit of local government or an institution that would be able to make good use of it.

Kent hired archaeologists from Wake Forest to explore the graveyard site after a surveyor recently discovered graves that were apparently outside the original boundaries.

"I know I can't sell dirt with graves on it," Kent said in a recent interview from his home in Florida. "I have to determine the exact location of all the graves because I have to be sure there's no graves on any of the property that I'm going to sell."

Kent said he also had asked the archaeologists to examine an area of the creek bottom where large stones can be seen, to determine if they are the remains of the mill dam or the foundation of the mill itself. He declined to discuss details of his plans for the sites.

The archaeologists staked out the graveyard tract and cut several shallow trenches beside the plot late last week. A few inches below the surface of the soil, they discovered a tombstone and traces of several graves outside the original graveyard limits, said Alan Snavely, a university archaeological research associate. The stone is dated 1845, "so it's pretty clear that there were indeed burials outside the original graveyard area, at least 20 years after the last recorded burials there," Snavely said.

The archaeologists think they know the limits of the old graveyard, from the different types of trees now growing inside and outside the former cleared area, and from the groundcover of periwinkle, a plant that Snavely said is invariably found in old graveyards. "Where the periwinkle stops is usually where the cemetery stops," he said.

Snavely stressed that the archaeologists are not actually excavating the graves themselves, but only mapping the maximum extent of the burials from such subtle signs as soil discolorations and texture differences just below the surface. Much more exploration would be needed to establish the position and orientation of all the graves and to reset the stones, Snavely said.

"We're fortunate that Mr. Kent through his good graces and sensitivity is funding this much work," Snavely said. "Now we have to find someone who cares enough to support the research that would be needed to restore the whole site."

The above article appeared in a Winston-Salem newspaper in November 1984 and I feel that all Joseph and Anna Maria Holder descendants should be informed of the situation. The cemetery is called Dobbs Parish in the Forsyth County, NC Cemetery Records. It is in Winston-Salem not far from Reynolds Road and on the west side of Midkiff Road down near the north end. Joseph and Anna Maria Vollweiler Holder, Paternal grandparents of Mary Ann Holder, are both buried there. Also buried there is George Kaa(Kah), Wendel Krause's step-father, as well as other Holder, Krause, and Volck(volk) relatives. Records of at least 80 burials have been recorded and most are numbered by order of entry. George Kaa was entry no.29 and Joseph Holder no. 37. Both are buried on the west end on the south side. Anna Maria Vollweiler Holder, widow of Joseph, was no.50 and is buried in the fourth grave from the west end and third grave from the north side. Husbands and wives were not buried to-gether as is the custom in most other cemeteries.

* Hoagy Carmichael dies at 82

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (UPI) — Composer Hoagy Carmichael, who wrote "Georgia on My Mind," "In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening" and one of Tin Pan Alley's greatest hits, "Stardust," died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 82.

Carmichael was rushed by ambulance from his home to nearby Eisenhower Medical Center, where he died in the emergency room from "cardiac problems," a hospital spokeswoman said.

ALTHOUGH HE wrote more than 50 hit songs, Carmichael's biggest seller was "Stardust," which he scribbled out in the front of a law book while waiting for business in Florida.

Nobody seemed very interested in his composition, however, until 1930 when the then-popular orchestra of Isham Jones made the first of what eventually would be scores of recordings of the tune.

Carmichael received instant fame — and a seemingly endless income in monthly royalty checks.

"Only thing wrong with that song is the name," a Hollywood music dealer remarked wryly in 1944. "It should have been tagged 'Golddust.'"

The gangling composer turned out scores of other songs during his career, including "Skylark" and "Lazy Bones." Along the way, he earned a reputation as a screen actor too, portraying piano-playing roles.

HIS ROLE in the movie "Canyon Passage" made his lean face a favorite of millions. In the film, he wore a top hat while riding a mule and singing his own song, "Old Buttermilk Sky."

Born in Bloomington, Ind., on Nov. 22, 1899, Carmichael studied to become an attorney and only tinkered with a piano in his youth as a hobby. He never received formal piano lessons.

His hobby soon turned into a career, however. After graduating from Indiana University's law school, he went to Palm Beach, Fla., in 1926 to fashion a law career in the state's boom days.

But deciding against being a lawyer, he went to New York's Tin Pan Alley and tried to make a go of writing songs. That also met with failure — temporarily.

AFTER RETURNING to Bloomington, then unsuccessfully trying his luck in Hollywood Carmichael headed directly for New York, organized another band and exploited his own songs until the big break came when Isham Jones made the first recording of "Stardust."

Carmichael went on to write such hits as "I Get Along Witout You Very Well," "Georgia on My Mind," "Rockin Chair," "Memphis in June," "The Nearness of You" and "In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening."

A swift worker, he and Johnny Mercer turned out their hit "Lazy Bones" in less than half an hour with Carmichael writing the music and Mercer the lyrics.

Carmichael soon spread out and became an actor of some note with appearances in "To Have and Have Not," "Johnny Angel," "Young Man With a Horn," "The Best Years of Our Lives" and other films as well as on radio and television.

In recent years, Carmichael divided his time between an apartment on Sunset Boulevard and his desert home, playing golf whenever possible.

Survivors included his second wife, actress Wanda McKay, and two sons, Hoaghland Jr., 43, and Randy, 41.

* Hoagland H. Carmichael (Hoagy) was born 22 November, 1899 in Bloomington, Indiana and died 27 December 1981 at Rancho Mirage, CA. He was son of Howard Clyde Carmichael (Michael, Peter, Richard, Archibald I). In other words Hoagy's second great grandfather was a brother to Alexander Carmichael. This made Hoagy a third cousin to the compiler of this book.

Hoagy was probably the most noted descendant of Archibald and Elizabeth Nix Carmichael. He was a third great-grandson. When Hoagy turned 70 he was quoted as "too busy following the melodies in my heart to feel it". Bloomington High School South's Auditorium has been renamed Carmichael Hall after perhaps Bloomington's most famous native son. Hoagy was buried in Rose Hill Cemetery, Bloomington. Guests are invited to view a selection of Carmichael memorabilia in the display cases in the North and South Lounges of Lilly Library on the campus of Indiana University.

A World of No Goodbyes

Whenever we part I die a little,
Goodbyes are so hard to say.
It may be that I'm a dreamer,
But I can't help feeling that some day
We'll find a world, just you wait and see,
A world of no goodbyes;
Where we can smile and linger awhile
No matter how time flies.
And if the stars should fail us at night,
If there's no moon to rise,
We'll be contented with kisses and talk
As we arm-around walk
In a world of no goodbyes.

Music by Hoagy Carmichael
Words by Ray Gilbert

The following poem by Peter Crerar published in the "Celtic Magazine", Vol. I, p. 143 indicates some of the feelings as the Scotch left their native Scotland for America. With heavy steps and aching hearts they made their pilgrimage to distant lands. The land of their fathers no more did they view. This applied to the Carmichaels as they left Scotland in the eighteenth century but it also applied to many others from other lands. America was the new land that opened wide her doors to the oppressed of many nations.

It is not assumed that the emigrants found the new world to be all that they had pictured. They were destined to encounter hardships and disappointments. It took much perseverence and ingenuity to tame the "American Wilderness".

"Farewell to the land of the mountain and wood,
  Farewell to the home of the brave and the good,
My bark is afloat on the blue-rolling main,
  And I ne'er shall behold thee, dear Scotland again!

Adieu to the scenes of my life's early morn,
  From the place of my birth I am cruelly torn;
The tyrant oppresses the land of the free;
  And leaves but the name of my sires unto me.

Oh! home of my fathers, I bid thee adieu,
  For soon will thy hill-tops retreat from my view,
With sad drooping heart I depart from thy shore,
  To behold thy fair valleys and mountains no more.

'Twas there that I woo'd thee, young Flora, my wife,
  When my bosom was warm in the morning of life.
I courted thy love 'mong the heather so brown,
  And heaven did I bless when it made thee my own.

The friends of my early years, where are they now?
  Each kind honest heart, and each brave manly brow;
Some sleep in the churchyard from tyranny free,
  And others are crossing the ocean with me.

Lo! now on the boundless Atlantic I stray,
  To a strange foreign realm I am wafted away,
Before me as far as my vision can glance,
  I see but the wave rolling wat'ry expanse.

So farewell my country and all that is dear,
  The hour is arrived and the bark is asteer,
I go and forever, oh! Scotland adieu!
  The land of my fathers no more I shall view."

—Peter Crerar.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

By William Allen Dromgoole

An old man, going a lone highway,
Came at the evening, cold and grey,
To a chasm, vast and deep and wide,
Through which was flowing a sullen tide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim—
That sullen stream had no fears for him;
But he turned, when he reached the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting strength in building here.
Your journey will end with the ending day;
You never again must pass this way.
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you a bridge at eventide?"

The builder lifted his old grey head.
"Good friend, in the path I have come," he said
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been naught to me
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

I hope that, I too, am a Bridge Builder with the publication of this book on our family history. I hope that this bridges some of the time and space between the Alexander Carmichael Family during the early development of Our Nation and the many descendants now and of the future. One should know the past in order to appreciate the present and plan for the future.
